ad North Carolina Railroad are apated by the Board of Internal Imments. As the law now stands ist board is composed of the Governor ad two others appointed by him. The cusent members are Daziel 'L. Russell. J. C. L. Harris and Chas. A. Cook.

Yesterday, at a meeting of the com-mittee on Internal Laprovements, Chairman Walter E. Moore presiding, the committee decided to favorably report the bills introduced by Judge Allen. of Yayne, to increase the number of memors of the Board of Internal Improve its to nine, one from each district ed as thus constituted to confer upor the powers now exercised by the vernor and others in the appointat of directors and proxy of the N. C. Railroad and the A. and N. C. Rail-

For several days there has been contest waging for the control of the A. and N. C. Railroad between prominent ens of Craven and Wayne countles. The Craven people claim that as New Bern is the chief city on the line of the ad and the biggest owner of stock, the unty, and they present as their candidate State Senator James A. Bryan, one of the best and most successful business men of Eastern North Caro-lina. He has strong friends and supporters who will work to put him in harge of the road's affairs.

The Wayne county people are support Eastern North Carolina, who was a director of the road for eight years, while Mr. W. S. Chadwick was president of the road. In addition to his supsupport of ex-President Chadwick, of Carteret county. His friends will claim that Wayne is the Western terminus of Haleigh, N. C., January 20. What a change has taken place! North Carolina! Both branches of the Legislature adjourning in honor of the birthday of Robert E. Lee and a grand neeting at night in the hall of the House oad. One of Judge Allea's bills repeals of Representatives in his honor, at he legislation of 1807 with reference to which the floor and galleries were filled with members, their friends, and many adies of Raleigh, who delighted to show their love for the memory of the Grea

The motion to adjourn in the Hous was made by Mr. Overman in these words: "Mr. Speaker-The moralng hour has expired. And now, to do hono President abould be a citizen of Craven to the memory of the world's greates chieftain, the Christian soldier, the pa triot and the Statesman, the teacher of the youth of the South, the exemplar of all that is good and true and brave. General Robert Edward Lee-I move that this House do now adjourn."

The scene at night in the House was a brilliant one. The address was by Rev. ing Mr. Charles Dewey, one of the best J. B. Avliett who campaigned under and most successful business men in Lee. His review of the life of Lee was highly cologistic and was applauded. His references to Lincoln as "the blind blundering giant" were unhappy and not in accord with the spirit and feeling port in Wayne, Mr. Dowey will have the of the south. The address was also too long being nearly two houss.

Twenty-eight bills were introduced in the House, no business on them being the road and that as it has never had the done beyond their introduction. In the presidency, the time has come to elect Senate the memorial from the negroo one of its best citizens in the person of at the meeting presided over by Congressman White the day before was presented by the negro Senator from War-the House are known as follows. H. B. 387. Act to amend chapter 122, Public W. Granger, of Lonoir. Each of them Laws of 1897, as to the Atlantic and Norta Carolina Railroad. By Allen of Wayne. Committee on Internal Improvements, and H. B. 388, act to repeal chapter 150, Public Laws of 1897, as to Public Laws of 1897, by Allen of Wayne.

These bills open up the railroad ques tion and will result in the Legislatur by the Legislature of the member from the Governor. It is proposed to increase each district. As we understand it, the the number of the members of Board the plan is for the Democratic members of of Internal Improvements to nine, one each Congressional district to meet and from each district, and to give to then select a director. Of course the friends the power of naming the directors and of the different aspirants will endeavor the use of the proxy now held by the to get a member who will vote for direc. Governor. In this way the decision as tors favorable to his candidate. And it to who shall be the next President of the oad rests with the nine members of the Internal Improvement committee as they will select the directors. The Legislatur will name the members of the committe from each district. The two leading candidates are from New Bern and Goldaboro, Senator James A. Bryan and Mr. Charles Dewey The friends of Mr. Department has prepared orders for the Bryan seem to feel that the claims of New Bern in the selection of the Preddent must not be overlooked, outside of Mr Bryan's own great fitness for the position, and hence they appear confident of the issue. A number of important matters were discussed by the committees yesterday Among these was the proposed textile school for training cotton mill men Other States have provided schools and the incessant competition and low prices. The manufacture of cotton gadruples the value of the staple to the cople of the State. It is suggested that the proposed school be added to the A. & M. Cellege in Raleigh and $15,000 be granted with $5,000 a year for its further poort. This would seem little ecough for the purpose.

The libel law as applied to newspapers was also under discassion. Some such law is need by the Press of the State. A number of newspaper men presented their views on the matter.

The feeling over the introduction of the Hairston bill affecting corporations has not died down yet by any means The two Raleigh papers take strongly opposite views of the bill. The Post ty of the two bills is noted, is that th before passing a bill that embodies views and opinions of Butleriem. I believe that the Semator from Dicknew what kind of a bill he was in ducing, or in fact knew anything at the matter.
