Italy In London. Many Londoners have visited the Italian district, which lies in the neighborhood of Theohald's read and Hatton Garden, and some with inquiring minds have strolled up Leather lane and watched the Italian ice cream venders and fortune telling women with pretty love birds, intermingled with the dirty, noisy, street hawkers, common to all London shums. It is amazing to learn how these Italians, crowd together in the poky little houses of the courts and alleys. Generally a home is hired by an old padrono, who sublets to as many of his countrymen as he can respectably squeeze in. The cellars are utilized as sleeping spartments, and in the morn "Dead, is he?"
