advocacy of the building of cotton mills, as the solution of more profit to the otton grower in North Carolica. is a remedy which is not alone bearfield t) the farmer, but the spection of mill-means the better employment of capital and labor, to the advantage of every business interest.

This solution of cotton production should be equally as applicable to every other product raised in North Carolina

There are many products of this State which find a fairly good market demand cutaile, and these products are shipped away in the raw state, to be m mufactored into staples which are constantly in command in the very sections in which the raw goods are produced.

This means that while the North Carolisisn gets a fair remuncration for his product in its native condition, the conuger in North Caroline must pay for the manufactured article an extra price, that is the cost of freight, interest and profit on the manufactured article which he would not have to pay if the article produced at home was manufactured at

A local application of this can be seen in the lumber business of this section.

Ten or fifteen saw mills, planting mills, dry kilns, etc , turn out millions of feet of lumber yearly. This lumber finds a market away from here, and at a more or less remunerative figure to the mill men There are in the city of New Bern eight or ten furniture dealers, and not a single furniture factory. While the timber of this section may not be the kind which could be manufactured into every kind of furniture demanded by the consumer in New Bern, yet there is a great quantity of timber grown in Eastern Carolina which could be manufactored into furniture which local talent and money in a home enterprise which shall keep at home the youth, instead of sending them away to neck work is other places, to the less of the local labor field.

It is this kind of finding the solution at hand, and applying it which make communities thrifty, and leads to a healthy development of the people indus-trially and financially, besides building up the social and educational sides of days I will build a hotel that will ruin pour business.

It dees not require so much money to inaugurate these local industries as it does a little effort and push, and once fairly started they will soon find plenty of author.

And he did. The contract was let that day. Scores of man were put to work. The sim selected was Ninth and Harney streets, near the Missouri river. Citisen Train went to New York and engaged Colonel Connens, a noted entered of that city, as mennager for his hotel. The building alone cost $40,000. The furnishings cost $30,000 more. In the busement was a gas plant—the only one word of Bt. Louis. The work was done on tithe, and, true to his word, 60 days after he threatened the musiager of the Herndon House Georgy Francia Train, citizen of the earth, opened his hotel, which he called the Consens House. The grand bpening tall was attended by the governor of Nobraska and his staff, the mayor of Omaha and many notables from other states. The hone was a blaze of glory and a scene of almost oriental magnificence. Just when the big reception was well on there was a sadden flash, a strange noise, and then—total darkness! The gas plant had collapsed.

The Consens House did a flourishing business for a year or two and the Herndon House was hadly crippled. Finally Train fell out with his manager and the place was closed.

After the business part of Omaha moved buck from the river the Herndon House declined and finally relapsed into a state of innocuous desarcting. A few years later it became, the property of the Union Pacific railroad and is still used as the headquarters of that company in Omaha.

Dr. H. H. Hibbard, a St. Louis dentiat, was the first clurk of the Corzens House.
