PEACE JUBILEE.

Dewey Home Fund, Henderson For Speaker. Helms of Lincoln's Assassination. Chairmanship Secured.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—Washington's Peace Jubilee, which opens next Tuesday and continues for three days, promises to be a big success. The town is already extensively decorated and by the time the jubilee begins it will look like an inauguration day. President McKinley has promised to return in time to review the military parade, which is to be the principal event of the first day.

The Dewey Home Fund appears to have struck a popular chord. Although the idea of buying a Washington home for the hero of Manila Bay has been before the public less than a week, its success is already an assured fact. This week a national committee was formed to receive the contributions, and Assistant Secretary Vanderlip, of the Treasury chosen for chairman, and United States Treasurer Roberts for treasurer.

The treasurer has already had to get assistance to handle the contributions received by mail and acknowledge receipt. The Bureau of Engraving and Printing is now getting up an artistic engraved receipt, will be sent to each contributor as soon as they are received by the committee.

The War Department's latest advice from General Otis say, that Aguinaldo is still on the jump and making for the mountains, where he will be out of reach of the Americans for a while.

The old soldier organizations are using their influence, which is powerful in many Congressional districts, to make votes for Representative Henderson, of Iowa, for Speaker of the House.

A circular letter has been sent out from the National headquarters of the Union Veterans Union, signed by R. G. Dyrenforth, "Commander-in-chief, and member of Kit Carson Post G. A. R.," urging the veterans to rally to the support of Henderson, the only veteran who is a candidate. The following gives an idea of the nature of the letter:

"We must have a true friend in the position of Speaker in order that proper men may be appointed on the committees on pensions, and that recognition may never be refused for presentation of their reports, nor to men advocating measures in the interest of the brave boys of the war from 1861 to 1866, who made it possible for us to be a nation. It behooves every comrade, whether in a soldier organization or not, at once to take up arms and help win the fight." That will make some votes for Col. Henderson is certain, but it may also lose him some. Taken altogether it may do him more harm than good, notwithstanding the strong belief of the veterans to the contrary.

Those who are fond of such things will soon have an opportunity to examine nearly one hundred relics connected with the assassination of Lincoln and the killing of the assassin, which have been packed away in the War Department for thirty odd years. The relics are to be placed on public exhibition in the National Museum. They include the pistol with which Booth shot President Lincoln, the dagger with which he wounded Col. Hatibone, his riding boot and diary, the bullet taken from the head of Lincoln, pieces of skull driven in by the bullet, the blood stained pine bar used by Booth to fasten the door after he had entered the lobby, and numerous papers such as an official proclamation and letters connected with the running down and arrest of those who were in the conspiracy with Booth.

The first Filipino flag captured by our force has reached Washington and is now displayed in the office of Rear Admiral Crowninshield, at the Navy Department. It was captured at Iloilo, by a detachment of Marines and sailors, under Lieut. A. P. Niblock, U. S. N. The flag is made of cheap bunting and the colors have faded until it is difficult to tell their original hue. There are two broad stripes of blue and red, with a triangular shaped field of white running from the staff about one third of the length of the flag. The flag will be sent to the Naval Academy, at Annapolis, to be kept with the big collection of naval trophies already there.

If, as some gentlemen are figuring, all of the re-elected members of the House are to get the chairmanships and committee assignments, they had in the last House, the number of desirable assignments left for the new Speaker to distribute will be very small. If that rule were followed, there would be only fourteen new chairmen to be named, and only four of them would head committees that are considered as all important and there would be only 57 new members of eighteen of the really important committees. If Mr. Reed were a candidate to succeed himself, it might be natural to suppose that the same men honored by him in the last Congress might count upon him being similarly honored by him in the next, but with a new man in the Speaker's chair it will be surprising if there isn't a general shake up, of chairmanship as well as committee membership. Those who say that it would petty politics for the Speaker to give the desirable places to his supporters are doubtless right, but it is the same sort of petty politics that every Speaker has followed and will doubtless continue to follow until the millennium dawns.
