STATE NEWS.

The Washington Case Of Mistaken Identity.

Loge Harris Thinks Amendment Will Carry. S. A. L. Damage Case. Big Water Power Deal. Round Bale Ginn.

RALPH, June 27.—Mrs. A. Q. Hollo day, wife of the president of the Agri cultural and Mechanical College here, was taken to Richmond Saturday night for special surgical treatment.

The Lowland Lumber Company, of Wayne county, was chartered by the State with a capital of $100,000. S. C. Rowland and others owners.

Two insurance companies domestic the Fidelity and Casualty of New York, and the Port Water of Indiana. Ex-Governor Pattison, of Pennsylvania, who came here to see Insurance Commissioner Young, says his company the President, Trust and Life of Philadelphia, will domesticate.

Loge Harris declares his firm belief that the constitutional amendment will go through flying. When asked if Governor Russell held that view also, he replied that the Governor didn't see any prospect of defeating the amendment.

Israel D. Hargett, colored, ex-postmaster at Rocky Mount, has been released from jail here upon giving bond for $1,000 for his appearance at the next term of the Federal Court. He is charged with embezzling postoffice funds. John M. Sherwood and G. L. Wimberly are his bondsmen.

The corporation commission has started on a tour of inspection over the Carolina Central Railroad, and will also have a look at the South Carolina & Georgia Railroad, and probably one of other roads in the west. The commission will be back here by Thursday morning, in order to hear the telephone cases. The survey of the roads is of course to get in line in regard to assessments, etc. It is reported that the commission will discuss the assessment of several roads.

It appears that during the year several "round bale" cotton gins will be erected in this State. There is now only one, at Walden. One will be at Smithfield. A special train with sailors bound from New York to San Francisco passed here on the Southern Railway. There were several North Carolinians, one from Concord. It is said that there are North Carolinians in all the regiments in the army and on every ship in the navy.

It is learned that there has been made quite a large deal with a Richmond, Va., company in which the Heck lands at Lockville figure. The tract is large and valuable. The water power is immense. In 1860 the government had planned to establish a gun foundry there. Later the Loblack Car Wheel Works were interested and had a steamer on the river. It was the plan in 1869 or thereabouts to have the penitentiary there, so the convicts could manufacture iron, as the latter and coal are near by.

It is contended by representatives of the Hygienic Ice Factory, which got $30,000 damages from the Seaboard Air Line for the burning of the factory, that there is nothing at all in the statement that the defence filed its appeal papers in time. The Supreme Court will have to pass upon the whole matter in October. It appears, as the railroad attorneys contend, that in none of the proceedings had any limitation of time been counted. There may be some more interesting developments about this case, which has thus far been a curious one.

The Postal Telegraph Company is rapidly building its line to Greensboro and is going to Charlotte. It has won its long fight against the Western Union for right of way.

Work in building is in progress now on 15 cotton mills in this State, while 10 mills are being enlarged. High Point is to have a $100,000 mill.

The North Carolina Electric Company which was chartered by the last legislature, will this week begin work on a large plant to be operated by the water power of the French Broad river at Marshall, in Madison county, on the line of the Western North Carolina Railway. The company which will do the work will practically duplicate the fine plant lately installed on the Yadkin river near Winston-Salem, and which supplies 30,000 horse power to that city.

The contracts for building the alumni building at the State University has been awarded to a Raleigh firm at $17,900. The foundation was completed some weeks ago at a cost of $6,000.

The telegraph has given wide currency to the news of the whipping of Mr. J. F. Woodward, a well known young business man of Warsaw, at Washington, N. C., last Thursday. It being asserted that he had insulted grossly, on the street, the afternoon before, a young lady, Miss Burgess. Woodward was ordered to leave. At Warsaw his friends rallied and he made prompt assertion of his innocence. With able counsel and strong friends he went to Washington Saturday to prove his innocence. He and his friends were given a very cordial reception. It is said that, to use a phrase, people fell over each other in order to shake hands with him, whom usually all the best people believe innocent. Law yers representing both Mr. Woodward and the persons who had and acquitted him at the railway station, arranged a meeting of the young lady in the case and Mr. Woodward, in order to show his entire innocence, and that it was a case of mistaken identity.

Weekly Crop Bulletin.

The reports of crop correspondents for the week ending Monday, June 26, 1899, attract attention especially to the drought now prevailing, which is most serious in Mecklenburg and adjoining counties extending east to Anson, north to Wilkes, and west to Henderson. In this section many gardens have been ruined, and corn, cotton, tobacco, and potatoes are beginning to suffer seriously. Throughout the remainder of the State, however, although the week was characterized by dryness, crops have not yet suffered materially, having been kept in an unusually excellent state of cultivation and free from weeds. A small amount of rain did occur on the 21st, which was insufficient. The temperature was slightly below the normal the first two days of the week, with the lowest for the month Monday morning (19th). The remainder of the week was quite warm, without excessively high temperature, though with abundant sunshine.

On the whole the dry weather at this time was favorable as it permitted uninterrupted progress in harvesting, which is nearing completion except in the extreme west, while most of the small grain has been safely housed. The week was also favorable for cultivation and crops are generally in excellent condition and ready to respond to favorable seasons.

Expecting in counties where the drought is serious corn is doing well; early planted is in silk and teardrop; laying by is well advanced. Wheat are still showing green, especially in Johnston, Lenoir, Fyler, and Johnston counties. The growth of cotton has been rapid, notwithstanding that it was checked a little by cool nights early in the week; the stand is good. Tobacco is improving; a good deal has been plowed for the first time, and topping has begun. Reports of damage by worms to tobacco continue to be numerous. Peanuts are fine. Rice and spring oats have improved. Early sown peas have come up nicely. The sowing of field peas in stubble land will be pushed as soon as it rains. Insects are damaging potatoes, cabbage, and tomatoes in the southeast portion of the State. Melons are doing well and a big crop is expected. Meadows are generally fine; clover and grass fairly good. In a word, the general outlook is encouraging, except in the west where the drought is severe.
