SAME OLD POLITICAL BATTLE.

The Democratic political convention in Kentucky which was recently held for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Governor, has provoked the usual amount of criticism and a number of wild predictions.

In summing up the convention the Louisville Courier-Journal says:

"As far as intelligent people know, or have seen, there was little choice between the various rival candidates beyond that of personal favor or disfavor. Each of them started out to declare himself first and foremost a radical, dyed-in-the-wool, Chicago-platform and Bryan, free-silver Democrat at the ratio of 16 to 1 without qualification or discussion. Having sworn this, and, if possible, proved it, each proceeded in his own way to press his claims and to push his fortune, in no case allowing any question about regularity to put the slightest limitation upon his right to knock down and drag out as many votes as his money would buy, or, in default of money, as he might be able to lay his hands upon."

And of the Convention's nominee, Goebel, a western newspaper says:

"He is a young man with a genius for political manipulation. He is cold and calculating, and in a party crisis or emergency he is just the man to find a way out. Any other man going to Louisville with only 200 votes would have recognized the fact that the people would have none of him, and would have thrown up the sponge. But the author of the Kentucky force bill is not that sort. It is a matter of indifference to him whether the people want him or not provided he attains his end. When he was a member of the Kentucky Senate, he gained some distinction as a manipulator, but there was nothing in his career to his personal credit. His force bill, fully as indefensible in its way as the Lodge bill, is a chicken that will yet come home to roost. It has done more to pave the way for a national force bill than all the scheming of Lodge and Reed and Davenport could accomplish."

And from various other newspapers in the country there have gone forth a choice lot of expressions regarding Goebel, his record, and the workings of the Democratic convention which nominated him.

Now what does all this force explosive writing amount to, any way?

Or who really cares outside of the defeated candidate in Kentucky, whether Goebel is a "political Iago," a wire puller, or that he secured the gubernatorial nomination through questionable methods?

The fact is that the Kentucky convention was very like all Conventions, perhaps it showed more fighting than usual, but it should not be forgotten that the Goebel outfit represents a new political faction which has secured control of the "machine," and proposes to run it for themselves.

Naturally the advent of a new leader will create a "hot political convention," but what there was in the Kentucky convention, specially, to mark it so peculiarly different from all others, the dispassionate and unemotional person will not be able to decide, and any disinterested party will readily declare that except in degree, the Kentucky convention only showed the same old political razzle dazzle that previous conventions exhibited, and future political conventions will probably act in the same way.

The people of this country read this Sunday's issue to the editor: business all over were. Some few are making money; the rest are making debts. Over 2000 out 4000 voters were recently advertised for taxes. Such conditions as these can not always last. There is no real general prosperity. That which is reported is the prosperity of trusts only. But that is not prosperity, but is only a shadowy light to lead the people deeper into the web of the trusts. Real prosperity must begin at the bottom by giving everybody an equal chance to make an honest living and not assist the few to amass and centralize all the wealth and make mortgaged sorts of the great mass of the people—Wilkesboro Chronicle.

Lemons as Medicine.

They regulate the Liver, Stomach, Bowels, Kidneys and Blood as prepared by Dr. H. Morris, in his Lemon Elixir, a pleasant lemon drink; it cures biliousness, constipation, Indigestion, headache, malacia, kidney disease, fevers, chills, heart failure, nervous prostration, and all other diseases caused by a torpid or diseased liver and kidneys. It is an established fact that lemons, when combined properly with other liver tonics, produce the most desirable results upon the stomach, liver, bowels, kidneys and blood. North Carolina is not the poorest State, nor are her people paupers; yet if the calamity howlers and demagogues of the press were to be believed we are all this and more.

For one purpose or another, all bad, as often growing out of personal malice is assistance disengagement, the people have been told they were impoverished, down trodden, robbed until only only paupers and its attendant evils constituted their daily life, and this is the face of a constantly increasing production in every line of human endeavor, and along a great many more lines than but few other States or people can boast.—Raleigh Post.

BE IT RIGHT

For an Editor to recommend Patent Medicines?

From Sylvan Valley News, Brevard, N. C.

It may be a question whether the editor of a newspaper has the right to publicly recommend any of the various proprietary medicines which flood the market, yet as a preventive of suffering we feel it a duty to say a good work for Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. We have known and used this medicine in our family for twenty years and have always found it reliable. In many cases a dose of the remedy would save hours of suffering while a physician is awaited. We do not believe in depending implicitly on any medicine for a cure, but we do believe that if a bottle of Chamberlain's Diarrhoea Remedy were kept on hand and administered at the inception of an attack much suffering might be avoided and in very many cases the presence of a physician would not be required. At least this has been our experience during the past twenty years. For sale by F. S. Duffy & Co.
