Official Paper of New Bern and Craven County.

New Hern, N. C., August 2, 1828.

IS IT A MATTER OF SELF-PRO-

In the matter of the recent restraining orders lasted by Judge Simonton, whereby those railroads and the Western Union Telegraph Company shall secape for the time, if not shogether, the tat assessed against them by the Corporation Commission, an interesting point can be raised, namely, is this securing an injunction, by these corporations, really a matter of self-protection?

So far as the Western Union Telegraph Company is concerned, it cannot be so alleged that it is, for whereas this company's property was assessed last year at $750,000 this year by the Corporation Commission at $1.000,000, Judge Simonton's valuation makes it $500,000, or $150,000 lower than it paid hat year, which with prevaling conditions is an absurd rating.

The natural inclination to protest against increase taxation is not limited; Cored me of sick and nervous headache to individual and corporation, alike, any te individual and corporation, alike, any land been subject to line.

Ann. Spring Place, Ga. are made to get reductions.

In securing the tax valuations on the railroad property, the people of North Carolina have placed the matter in the hands of its Corporation Commission, a body composed of men of high character, free from prejudice or bias of any Menley's Lemen Elixir

The tax assessment was determined by this Corporation, but this work, for Engineer E T Va & Ga R R. which they were elected, is thwarted by Montey's Lemon Blixir and these railroads have in return given benefits to the people, but there can be Savannah, Ga. no question that the railroads are ever under obligation to the people and nothing that they have or can do is sufficient 132 to cancel this obligation.

To admit the justice of Judge Simonton's injunction on this tax assessment matter, is to admit that the Corporation Commission is unjust, incompetent, or that the people of North Carolina are but that won't make it any harder for Waring age of the railroads, the evidence favors the Duffy. former, and the latter are placed in the unenviable light of opposing the just and duly elected power of the State, and it becomes a question which shall prevail, gime age, I hear. Has he struck anything the State, or the railroad companies, and | rei? however unfortunate it may be that such an issue should arise, there is but one end to it all, which is in favor of the

Admitting this means that the railroads by seeking the injunction are sim-

A Marvel of the East.

Among other feats in the east the issuing by heart of the Koran is very widespread. Not only men, but won an and children, can be found who can spect the hely book from beginning to end without a mistake. Taking it is gound numbers, the Koran contains together with the additions, when an included, in the presintion, some $0.00 words. This is about the length of an everage up to date novel, but, unlike the novel, there are no connecting links—the whole book being a confused and much mutlinted jumble—to coable the reciter to remember. To make the least error would be a deadly sin, yet even children can go through it.

But this is not all. For a Arable child to recite the Koran is wonderful

But this is not all. For an Arable child to recite the Koran is wonderful enough, no doubt, but he understands what he is saying—it is not to him an maknown ianguage—but for a child of another aution to recite it from beginning to end, without understanding the words he is saying, is a much more wonderful feat of memory, and very few of those outside Arabia who can recite the Koran know more than a few of the simplest words, if they know those.

A lion comes at its enemy at full speed, galloping low, and dashes a man standing upright to the ground by the full impact of its body. Major Inversity states that "the claws and teeth entering the flesh do not hurt as much as you would think," but that the squeeze given by the Jawa on the bone is really painful. When knocked over, he was still keenly conscious and ever, he was still keenly conscious and felt none of the dreamy sensations experienced by Livingstone.

Major Swaine, struck down by a lioness going full gallop, was unconscious for some minutes and did not know what had happened till he found himself standing up after the accident. "I felt no pain," he writes, "not, I believe, owing to any special interposition of Providence, but simply that the shock and loss of blood made me incanable of feeling it. There was no capable of feeling it. There was no pain for a few days, till it was brought on by the swelling of my arm on the Turkey prides itself on its armories, and claims that no other country in the world can equal them. Constantino ple boasts the roomiest and handsomest of all. The armories there are like palaces, with all the comferts and conveniences polars.

These buildings are all crected on high ground, and in many cases strike the aye of the approaching tourist before the gates of Constantinopie are reached. This is true particularly of the Haidau Pashs and Pers armories, which siways arouse the admiration of newcomers to the Turkish capital. The armories are surrounded by huge gardens, with large courts and terraces, and reflect credit upon the Turkish architects.

Remenyl, the violities, was playing one night in concert in Buffalo and was extremely annoyed by two persons in the audience who were cracking and crunching pessuits. He lost patience at last, quit playing and left the stage. He was loudly received, reappeared, and, stepping to the front of the stage, and with much impressiveness, "Vennee gontlemen haf finished has peanut solo. I vill go on." The speech was heartly applianded, and no more peanut performances were given during that concert.
