The Hearing of Injunction Cases. Conyiet Escapes. Strike At Winston. Masonic Picnic. The Burlington Sells. A New Opera House.

RALEIGH, August 19.—The three injunction cases granted by Judge Simonon—the railroad tax valuation case, the telegraph tax valuation and the fertilizer rates—will all come up before Judge Simonon in Asheville, September 13th. The corporation commission has its arrangement about ready in the fertilizer rate question.

There are three Japanese here looking into the raising of tobacco. They will learn as far as possible all about the weed, from the first preparing of the ground to the time when it is manufactured in all its different shapes, and put on the market for sale. Two of them cannot speak a word of English, while the third is the interpreter.

Governor Russell has the appointment of two officers of the line from each of the volunteer regiments that served in the war with Spain. The fact that this State had a regiment officered by negroes will give the Governor only four appointments in his gift, as the Third Regiment was the negro regiment. As yet no appointments have been made, but many applicants seek these gifts.

About one hundred steamers in the employ of W. F. Smith & Son, exporters of leaf tobacco at Winston went out on a strike. They demanded an increase in wages, which was refused. Colonel Smith the senior member of the firm, says he was paying the steamers the same as dealers in Danville, Richmond and other large tobacco markets pay and he does not feel justified in paying more. He states also that the steamers quit work the first of this week, but returned to work after he agreed to pay them by the hundred pounds of tobacco, instead of by weight of stems.

About 600 people attended the Masonic picnic at Wilkesboro Thursday. Hon. Francis D. Winston's address was a gem. He said this was his first trip to the "State of Wilkes."
