THE NEXT NEW BERN FAIR.

Will be held week beginning April 18th, 1900, and the Fair Grounds.

The Directors of the East Carolina Fair, Oyster, Game and Industrial Association met yesterday afternoon to decide on matters pertaining to the next Fair, and to decide upon the date for holding it. The meeting was largely attended.

The time set for the next Fair is the week beginning April 18th, 1900. This is at a later date than ever before. The reasons for selecting this date are good ones, the chief one of course being to secure good weather. A great risk is run in February and March on account of rain, for in those weeks storms lasting several days are not infrequent and such an occurrence would ruin the whole enterprise. How narrowly the Fair escaped the big snow blizzard last year will be recalled.

Another advantage to be derived is that a display of agricultural products, green stuff and early vegetables can be exhibited. This section will also be looking its best, the fields covered with spring crops and visitors will be charmed with its appearance. The result will be of great benefit to this section. Game, oysters, etc. can be collected and preserved at the cold storage rooms of the Ice House until Fair opens.

The Directors decided to make a special point of a great Industrial Parade, one to be worthy of our city and section. For this purpose and for other aims, a committee was appointed to confer with the Chamber of Commerce to secure united action on the part of all citizens to make a great success of the affair. The committee named were P. H. Pelletier, Ralph Gray and E. K. Bishop.

The prizes to be offered for the races were decided on and will aggregate $5,000. The date named will suit the horsemen as they have always wished for warmer weather. From all these things it is safe to predict the next Fair will surpass any previous attempt and be an industrial and financial success.

A DAY IN THE CITY.

The weather forecast is for rain, north-west winds.

There was an alarm of fire about 9 o'clock from box 53, which proved to be a false one.

The monthly meeting of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of Centenary M. E. Church will be held this afternoon at 4 o'clock, at the residence of Mrs. L. H. Hendren.

Prof. Harry P. Harding left Friday for New Bern. The New Bern Graded School opened this week and he is assistant principal. We congratulate New Bern upon securing his services.—King's Weekly, Oct. 3.

Cotton Mill Meeting, Tonight.

Subscribers to the Cotton Mill stock will please remember the meeting to be held tonight at 8 o'clock, and all attend.

Also those who have not subscribed but intend to do so, are requested to come out.

Come and be on time.

Millinery Openings.

The weather was threatening yesterday, but in the morning there was a fairly large turnout of ladies who were attracted by the millinery openings.

The O. Marks Company's store from its handsomely designed front window displays, throughout its two floors was very attractive, and its new lines of goods, especially of millinery received the full inspection of the ladies who thronged the store.

The millinery store of Mrs. S. H. Lane made a fine display of the latest styles, pleasing to the ladies who visited the store in numbers during the day.

Weeks' Southern Minstrels.

A packed house greeted the Great Southern Minstrels at the theatre last night. The musical first part was excellently mounted and the songs and comic situations were greeted with much applause and laughter by the audience.

There were a number of specialties given, dancing and topical songs. The costumes and make ups were good and judging by the applause the performance was a satisfactory one to all.

The street parade in the afternoon, although interfered with by rain, was a fine one. There were two bands and several immense grotesque figures which highly amused the crowds.

ACIDENT ON A. & N. C.

Engine and Tender of the New York and Norfolk Railway.

Between 2 and 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon there was a wreck on the A. & N. C. Railroad just north of Thurman. It was caused by running into a cow on the track.

The train of an engine, tender and four flat cars had taken a load of logs to Bladen, north of James City and had unloading and was backing down the track, the empty flat cars ahead. One mile below Thurman a full blooded Jersey cow, (some say it was an old ox), was encountered. The four flat cars and engine left the track, the tender remaining on the rails. The cow was knocked off their tracks, being the chief damage. No one was injured except the animal that caused the trouble.

COTTON TESTED BY FIRE.

Experiments at Lowell Show the Advantages of American Roundtop Bales.

The Roundtop bales of the American Cotton Co., the Lowry bales of the Planters' Cotton Company, and an ordinary square cotton bale were subjected to a thorough-going fire test in Lowell, Mass., June 5th by the Associated Factory Mutual Fire Insurance Companies of the United States, for the purpose of determining the relative fire hazards of the several methods of baling cotton.

Two small frame houses, exactly alike, and some distance apart had been erected on a vacant plot and the space beneath them filled with boards and cotton waste over which ten gallons of coal oil were poured. In one building eight American Roundtop bales and one square bale were stored. In the other, eight Lowry bales and one square bale. The torch was applied and the flames were permitted to burn one hour before being extinguished. It was as hot a blaze as cotton could well be subjected to. There was no test of the square bale owing to the fact that when the superstructure collapsed, which they did a few minutes after being fired, one of the square bales fell away from the flames and then the other was removed.

It was evident and generally conceded that the American Roundtop bale stood the test much better than the Lowry bale. Nearly all the wires on the Lowry bales were burned off and the bales elongated from their original length of 3 feet 3 inches to 6 feet and over. This exposed the cotton in the Lowry bales to the flames which were eating into the bales at many points when the fire was put out. Two of the Lowry bales broke in two and were more badly burned than the others.

The American bales stood up splendidly under the severe ordeal. They neither unrolled nor extended in length, and only the outer surfaces exposed to the intense flame were burned. This latest test, was only another triumph for the American Cotton Company's Roundtop bale.

The cotton saved from the fire will be carefully picked over and the salvage reclaimed will be weighed.

It was stated by underwriters present at the Lowell fire test that, at a recent test recently made as to the ability of the two different styles of round bales to withstand the action of water, after being submerged for some time the wires on the Lowry bales had burst and none of the Lowry cotton was recovered from the test. The American Company's bales came out intact and wet only on the exterior, which soon dried, leaving the cotton as good as ever.

Wonders of Hypnotism.

Next Monday night, Sylvain A. Lee and his great company of hypnotists open a week's engagement at the theatre here, giving a series of most interesting and laughable exhibitions of the wonderful science of Hypnotism. Mr. Lee, who is the son of a Jewish Rabbi, is from Memphis, Tenn., and has made hypnotism a life study.

His entertainments are unique in every feature and are attended by the Ministers, Doctors, Lawyers and best people of every city where he appears. In Wilmington and Raleigh where he has just been for the third engagement the theatres have been crowded nightly by large enthusiastic audiences.

The following amusing incident occurred at one of the Lee's entertainments. "A number of gentlemen were hypnotized and made to indulge in a crap game while they were all excited over it, Mr. Lee suggested that the police were breaking in and that they would all be arrested, great consternation ensued among the players and one of them was so frightened that he rushed off the stage and down the street, Mr. Lee, bareheaded and with his coat-tails streaming in the wind ran after him and after chasing him several blocks to the great amusement of the people on the street, caught him woke him up and returned to the theatre with him, the house at their entrance fairly shook with the rounds of laughter and applause that greeted them.

COURTY ROAD.

The Question Discussed. Wants New Bern to Build up as to Make a Better Market.

Chas. S. C., Esq.

The Journal.—For some time the question has been agitated in regard to the commissioners of the county appropriating money for the building and repairing the roads leading to the Neuse river bridge on the north side of river. Several articles have appeared in the Journal on this question. From a legal stand there is no question of the rights of the commissioners to do this thing, but is it right, is it expedient to use the county's fund for this purpose. We can use some of the money of the county except from the general fund and you know that this fund is always short. Parties working for the county and paid out this fund have to take their vouchers on the street and sell them at a discount! Is this right? Don't you think that the commissioners would deserve the just criticism of the people of this county if they inaugurated a system of extravagance in the use of the people's money that will cause another heavy floating debt? This would be a precedent and where would it end.

Now let us take up the other approach to the city and see if they don't need some help from the county. Neuse road from Enoch Wadsworth's place to New Bern (in winter) there is no worse road to be found in the county. Who uses this road, Townships 8, 9, 3 and 1, over half the people in the county outside the city have to travel this road. Shall the commissioners make an appropriation for this road? Then look to the south side of Neuse and Trent rivers and see to the approaches to Trent river bridges. Who travels this road, townships 8, 7 and 7. Shall the commissioners make an appropriation for this road. I don't think any fair minded man would say use the county's money for the roads in one of the small townships of the county and give the other seven nothing.

I think, Mr. Editor, you can see that it is not expedient to use the county's money for any such purpose. That it would be a bad precedent.

Mr. Editor they say I am narrow because I am fighting this extravagance. Well, I can't help it, I was built that way to do what I conceive to be right. It has been only a few years since this question of working the road by taxation was submitted to the people and they repudiated it. Now let them work the roads until they get ready to be taxed for it.

Mr. Editor I want to tell the people of New Bern and the county how to have good roads. Listen: Let New Bern give us, we people that guide the plow, a market. Yes, give us a market and we will build good roads, we will macadamize them, we will make the country a pleasant place. Ah, give us a market and the country shall blossom like a rose.

Let New Bern double her population, you triple it, by introducing factories a cotton factory, a shoe factory, tobacco factory. New Bern's geographical situation is such that it makes it an opening for a great many enterprises. Build it up make us a market so that a few coops of chickens, a wagon load of fresh pork, a few beef cattle won't break the market and we will build the roads and good ones too.

Yours truly,
 W. C. BREWER.

HABEAS CORPUS PROCEEDINGS.

Warrant Arrested On a Warrant From New Bern and Let out Was Released.

Sherriff Kallias yesterday morning arrested a young white man, who gave his name as Patrick Howard, and who is travelling with the Wallace show, on a warrant from New Bern, N. C., which alleges a malicious assault on one W. F. Bell, of Newport, N. C., on September 27th, the date of the circus performance in New Bern.

The warrant was for G. H. Hines as the man who committed the assault, and R. A. Nunn, Esq., counsel for Bell, came over yesterday from New Bern to look after the case. He identified Howard as the man who assaulted his client and had him arrested, though Howard stoutly denied that he was Hines and employed Hon. Jao. D. Bellamy and Col. A. M. Washell to defend him, which they did by instituting habeas corpus proceedings before Judge Bryan, and having the prisoner released, having proved that he was not the man wanted.

Another warrant was issued for Howard in legal form for the offence, but after his release he could not be found by the officers on the circus grounds.—Wilmington Star, 5th.
