SOUTH-EASTERN ASSOCIATION'S NEW MOVE.

The recent announcement by the South-Eastern Tariff Association of a reduction in fire insurance rates on farm dwellings and barns, on dwellings and centents in cities and towns, also on churches, schools and public buildings and their contents, is an encouraging sign that protection against fire shall not always continue upon a practically prohibitory basis.

Naturally the 8-E Association will ap plaud its action as being done to favor insurers, but the real facts probably are that the Association thinks to demoralize home companies, also the Association finds that some insurers have secured fire insurance from a distance, hence the South-Eastern feels its monopoly threatened and it lowers its rate upon a certain class of risks.

If the South-Eastern Association i simply making the rate cut as the beginning of an insurance war, there is notgoing to be any important gains to the insured, for the reduction of course does not affect existing policies.

If the cut is to drive out competitors. then local home companies must suffer, unless their home people courageously stand by them, as they should, no matter how fieree the fight may be.

New Bern like many other places in North Carolina, is distressed by excessive fire insurance rates, and if the reduction affects all kinds of insurable prop erty, and the reduction is made in good faith and upon a permanent basis, then some good will be given to those who must insure their property, regardless of high rates.

That the South-Eastern Association should voluntary reduce rates, except for some ulterior purpose, is to be doubted, fer it loves a monopoly of high rates tee much to give insurers any bene-

Bettef to the Mours,

While lunching plonic fashion upon the Mer do Glace a party of tourists were surprised by a woman who, letter in hand, emerged from the neighboring hotel. The party consisted of husband and wife, two daughters, a young girl friend who was traveling with them and a courier and guide. The woman eyed the crowd for a minute, and, then, rushing straight up to the young girl, she asked her to mail the letter. "It will get there so much sooner if you Dyspepsia Cure

Prepared by E. C. Dewitt acc., Chicage. she asked her to mail the letter. "It will get there so much sooner if you don't mind carrying it down with you," said the woman; "otherwise I shall have to wait until tomorrow when the regular postman comes." The whole proceeding was so sudden and so characteristic of women that the girl was inclined to laugh, but she pocketed the letter and promised to mail it as requested. F. S. DUFFY!

"Your face was your fortune that time," remarked the man of the party on the way down. "That woman locked us over well before she picked upon you. I suppose she saw that you were one who could be trusted not to forget to mail letters."

Now the point of this story is not that the girl forgot to mail the letter, for she didn't, nor that it was the man of the party who had to remind her of it, for she needed no reminding, but that just before posting the missive the girl happened to glance at its super-scription. It was directed to her mother. The girl could hardly believe her eyes, yet there it was in good, plain Ameri-can writing, the name of her own dear mother, whom she hadn't seen for so many months and at her own home address. The girl sent a letter home upor her own account and learned that the woman was an old friend whom the nother had not seen for many years and whom the girl had never seen, though often heard of. When the two, woman and girl, afterward met to know each other for the first time, they agreed that the Mer de Glace had supplied them with the choicest sample of cidence in their experience. - New York

A Test For Right or Left Handedne It is noted editorially in The Medico Legal Journal, New York, that in many criminal cases it becomes necessary know whether a man is right or left handed. Quoting Dr. Hall of Denver, high authority, the writer says:

The matter has generally been settled by the production of witnesses, who have testified freely in many cases to a given condition when an equal number of witnesses have been brought forward who have testified to an opposite condition. In many cases the question could be better settled by an exam ination of the prisoner, if such an examination could be obtained, or of the corpse, in case this became desirable by a study of the cicatrices upon the hands, such as are inflicted by every man who handles tools of every kind, but especially the pecketknife. Although most left handed boys are taught to write with the right hand. I believe the knife is commonly handled with the left hand in such cases by the left handed, and many tools are used in a similar mauner in various trades. In women the study could not be expected to be of so much value, and still it has proved to be fairly conclusive in many cases."

Lovemaking In Public.

It is evident from her letter to The Ladies' Home Journal that Miss Liliau Bell finds much in Paris to interest and amuse her. Among other things that are rather novel to an American sees," she writes, "the comical sight of a French bride and bridegroom, in all the glory of their bridal arraywhite satin, veil and orange blossom driving through the streets in open cabs and hugging and kissing each other with an unctuous freedom which is apt to throw a conservative American into a spasm of laughter. Indeed the frank and candid way that lovemaking goes on in public among the lower classes is so amazing that at first you think you lever in this world will become acone tomed to it, but you get accustomed to a great many strange sights in Paris. If a kies explodes with unusual violence in a cab near mine, it sometimes scare the horse, but it no longer distorbs me in the least. My nervousness over that sort of thing has entirely worn off."

A Noble Steed. It was Sir Henry Havelock Allen's boast that he could make his Arab, like the British army, "go anywhere and do anything," and there is a well authen-ticated story of how one day, mounted upon his horse, he called upon a friend, who received him from an upper win who received him from an upper win-dow, with the remark, "I'll be down in a moment." "Oh, don't trouble to come down!" was the general's reply. "We'll come up to you," and he set his steed at the steps, and in a moment was in the hall and would undoubtedly have ascended to the drawing room.-New York Post.
