General Buller upon receipt of this news moved General Clery's two brigadea forward, only to find the Boers in force in the trenches at Colenso, show ing they are strong enough to attack Ladyamith and to hold General Buller in check at the same time.

Fighting was begun by General Clery near Colenso bridge Saturday afternoon about 4.30 o'clock. The clue to the result is given in a dispatch sent today by General Buller, who says:

I sent all available troops yesterday to make a demonstration at Colenso. The trenches there were all occupied by the London, January 7—It is now known here that Russia is massing troops on the frontier of Afghanistan.

A semicificial explanation of these movements comes from St. Petersburg to the effect that they were "merely to test the capacity of the Central Asian railroads to transport troops." The experiment, it is added, regarded as highly a scoessful, and it proves that in case of necessity troops from the Caucasus can reach the Afghan frontier is eight days.

This explanation is hardly regarded as reach the Afghan frontier is eight days.

This explanation is bardly regarded as satisfactory, but official circles in London disarrells the idea that Russia present movements in any way threaten Afghanistan or India.
