ONE CENT A MILE RATE DEMANDED

With the approach of the time for holding the New Bern Fair, which this year is to be held in April, a matter of vital importance to be considered and settled, is that of transportation over all the railroads of the State, and especially those entering this city.

The New Bern Fair is not a fair of mere local purpose and limited range, but one which represents the products and resources of Eastern Carolina.

It is not a fair to boom a few business houses of this city, nor to enrich its stockholders.

Its scope, as first intended by its promoters, and since each year fully shown by its exhibits, has been to present to North Carolina and other States the possibilities of Eastern Carolina, its resources in fish, oysters and game; the resources of its timber, the productiveness of its soil; the advantages of its climate for a winter resort, and the enjoyableness of its sea shore during the sum-

All these and other things, have ever been in the minds of the members of the Fair Association, and their energies have been tasked in getting together such exhibits, and then offering the freedom of New Bern to the people who attended the Fair.

But these endeavors cannot receive the success that they merit, unless the railroad companys of North Carolina extend their aid in not merely running a few extra trains, but in giving the publie a railroad fare rate of one cent a mile. In asking such a rate there is nothing extraordinary demanded. It means money for the railroad companys for everything they de, and while these companys are being enriched by the increase of business, the people are given an opportunity of an excursion rate which very many of them can accept, and be profited by the chance of traveling and given the opportunity of seeing a Fair

The Fair Association has the right to demand this rate of one cent a mile, and there is no reason for a single State railroad to refuse to give the rate, besides giving any additional railroad service that may be called for, which the traveling public may ask in order to get to and return from the New Bern Fair.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other dis put logether, and until the last few year was supposed to be incurable. For great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Ostairh Cure, manufactured by P. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doors from 10 drops to a tesepooutul. It acts directly on the blood and nucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Soud for circulars and testimonials.

In some places they are so numerous that a cut is everawed and simply will not attempt to attack them. In one store basement a few nights ago a wire compariment trap, familiarly called a French trap, corrulled 10 big rats, which made lets of fan next morbing for a terrier that lives in Avery street. This trap is supposed to be invincible, and, in fact, it is seldom a rat beats it, but recently a young dog that found several rats in one of them, when there happened to be no one about to look after him, turned the trap over in his anxiety to get at the prey. This dropped the abuter, which is the secret of the trap, and allowed all the rats to pass out. Since that not a rat has been caught in that trap, although it has been caught in that trap, although it has been caught in the trap, although it has been repeatedly relieved of its bait. The dog had given the rats the tip, and they have ever sines succeeded in holding the shutter down while they havled the halt over it, thereby escaping imprisonment themselves. Some legs of ronated chicken were strapped with wire to the lastle of the inner cage, and yet the rats got all but the bare bones and didn't get citight at all. To any one who knows the efficiency of the Freuch trap this story may seem almost incredible, but it is nevertheless true.

It has been found in several stores that the trap is most attractive to the rats when it is builted with lobator. For a night or two it is well balted and left open at both ends, so that the rate may pass through it freely. Then one end is closed and locked. That night the number of rats captured will be limited only by the capacity of the wire cell.—Boston Herald.

THE CHINESE NEW YEAR.

THE CHINESE NEW YEAR.

Some Special Observances Tant Americans Might De Well to Asopt.

"The New Year's festival of the Chinese, said to be the most complete holday season kept by any nation of the carth, is celebrated wherever a single Chinaman is found, whether in Peking or New York," writes Belle M. Brain in Woman's Home Companion. "It is a movable festival, failing on any date between Jan. 21 and Feb. 10. Preparations for the great holiday begin weeks betweehand. The necumulated dirt of many months disappears as if by magic. Even the Chinaman himself passes through the cleaning process, washing his clothes and bathing his person, the latter being a great event in the lives of a few, since if occurs but once a year!

"Buildings of svery description are elaborately decorated. Flowers are in great demand, the favorite being the Chinese narcissus. The prespect of happiness for the year is believed to be in proportion to the number of flower stalks produced from a single bulb.

"During the closing days of the old year Chinese streats present a busy and animated scene. Shops are thronged with customers easerly laying in large quantities of food, clothing and New Year's gifts. Debtors and creditors are seen hurrying to and to endeavoring to settle their accounts, for, according to a most commendable custom, all debts must be paid or settled in some satisfactory manner before the New Year dawns. To meet these liabilities shopkeepers offer their goods at unbeard of prices, and families frequently part with odd bits of bries-brac, curious relies and valuable ornaments for a sum pitifully small. No disgrace is equal to being found on New Year's morning with an unpaid debt. On the other hand, the creditor who fails to collect his Gebts at this time may not press them again for many mooths. He therefore pursues his debtor far into the night, continuing his search into the New Year's morning with an impaid debt. On the other hand, the creditor who fails to collect his Gebts at this time may not press them again for many mooths. He

How Strauss Played the Chant.

The teacher who influenced Strauss most was one Joseph Drochler, the choirmaster of St. Stephen's clourch, in Vienne, who tried to get the valtace out of the boy's head and put in their place anthems and chorals. In this undertaking he mot with indifferent success, for the worshipers in one of the Vienna churches were startled on a Bonday morning when there poured forth from the organ, filling the groomy building by its enchanting notes, a waltz instead of the solemn Gregorian chant to which they were accustomed. It was Johann Strauss, Jr., who had taken the organist's place and substituted his own favorite selection for the usual secret dusie, much to the dismay of the plous folk and the amusement of the younger people in the congregation.—Edward A. Bjelnur in Woman's Home Companion.
