THE PHILANTHROPY OF CITIZENSHIP.

There is a real philanthropy in citizenship, which is not limited to the contributions for charity, nor meant by the maintenance of institutions for the unfortunate.

The rule of loving one's neighbor equally as loving one's own self, can be carried into commercial life as well as into the social life of a community.

Individual advancement, whether it be in society, or in business, need not be checked, so long as it is by honest means, for without pride, or the ambition to seek preference, be it socially or commercially, the material affairs of this world would remain undeveloped to the injury of all progress and improvement.

There is a public spirit found in the men of nearly every community, which might be termed the philanthropy of citizenship, for it is that disposition or endeavor which seeks to promote the welfare of a community, be it socially, educationally, spiritually or commercially.

There are also men in most communities, who when sought to give of their means to aid in the promotion of some local enterprise, do contribute, but in such a manner as to show that they do not believe in the enterprise or its success, and the spirit thus shown is more detrimental than their money is an aid in the promotion of the enterprise undertaken.

Not citizens of a community can live for himself alone. He or she may think they do, but something will occur which will awaken them to a realization of dependence upon their neighbors.

The philanthropy of citizenship is best realized in the exercise of public spirit, which finds display in the promotion of local enterprises, as such enterprises mean work for the laborer, and a stimulus to every kind of local trade.

The philanthropy thus displayed is not necessarily to be classed of the charity kind, for those engaged, whose money and effort go to create and maintain the enterprise, realize pecuniary benefits themselves, yet these benefits are the natural results, coming from the exercise of the philanthropy of citizenship.

It is a mistaken idea that philanthropy means miscellaneous giving, or that promiscuous charity is beneficial.

The public spirit which creates industries for the laborer, is the right kind of philanthropy, and the charity which assists the needy applicant to work, to become a self supporter, is the charity necessary to bring benefits to society.

The citizen whose money and efforts go to build up his community, is the true philanthropist, when the money and effort means the giving of a greater local stimulus to trade and the providing of work for those who need it.

It is the desire of this article to show to every one who is subject to attacks of biliousness that he can do no greater favor than to tell him of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

It is always given promptly relief. For sale by F. S. Duff & Co.

2000 REWARD. The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity.

It is a catarrh of the bladder, arising from a constitutional disease, and requiring a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and restoring nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so tested this cure in all its stages, that they offer it as a guaranty cure, that they will refund their money if it does not cure. Send for full particulars.

Crippled by Rheumatism.

Those who have Rheumatism find themselves growing steadily worse all the while. The reason of this is that the remedies prescribed by the doctors contain mercury and potash, which ultimately intensify the disease by causing the joints to swell and stiffen, producing a severe aching of the bones.

Everybody knows that Rheumatism is a disease of the blood, and only a blood remedy is the only proper treatment, but a remedy containing mercury and potash ultimately aggravates the trouble.
