Commissioner Patterson Says The State Crop Will Be Large.

Some Campaign Speakers. The Auditorium Question Settled Monday. What Politicians Have Negroes. The Char-lotte Celebration.

Raleigh, March 17.—S. L. Patterson, the commissioner of agriculture, states that the Agricultural Department is exclusively occupied now in selling and marketing fertilizer tags. As the number of tags sold is unusually great he infers that the cotton crop in this State will be considerably larger than it was last year.

Chairman Simmons, of the State Democratic Committee, announces the following speakers for the campaign as so far appointed: R. B. Glenn, Wakeham March 19th; C. B. Aycock, Aahboro, the 20th; W. B. Brown, Jefferson, April 2d; W. B. Shaw, Nashville, April 2d; F. A. Woodard, Southport, March 19th.

As yet it is not known what astronomical observation parties will be here in May to view the total eclipse of the sun. One party will go to Wadesboro, it is said.

The question of auditorium or no auditorium is what is troubling the minds of the people of Raleigh just at present. The only seemingly available way is to sell the present market-house, City Hall and site of same and erect another market-house and build an auditorium with the balance of the sale money. There has been many "pros and cons" as to the sale, so on Monday next the citizens of Raleigh will vote on the question.

Rev. Mr. Hubbard, of Eufala, Ala., who accepted a call to the Tabernacle Church here, has had to recall his acceptance. He is not strong, and his physician has ordered a month's treatment by a specialist, so he decides not to take charge of such a large congregation.

So far this year seventeen cotton mills have been chartered in this State.

The School Board here awards a contract for the building of a City Public School, at a cost of $19,000. It will furnish room for four hundred pupils. Work is in progress on a large school for the negroes.

The Methodist church at Greensboro has taken no official action in regard to Rev. J. W. Lee, the Irish evangelist who was reported to have recently fallen from grace in Washington City. The matter will hardly be taken up until the next meeting of the Quarterly Conference, which has jurisdiction in the case. The pastor has on file a letter from Mr. Lee asking for a withdrawal from the Church and ministry. The letter was written when the story first leaked out in Washington and reached Greensboro a day ahead of the report.

At Shaw University President McEwen warned the negroes to beware of politics, saying the only things that race has gained by politics in North Carolina are the Jim Crow cars and disfranchisement, and that professional politics to the negro means ruin.

The history of the North Carolina troops in the confederate service is now in the printers' hands here. It is compiled by Justice Walter Clark. There are 300 engravings, nearly all of individuals. There will be a complete history of each organization in service.

The coming 30th of May celebration will be the greatest ever known in the history of Charlotte. In times past the festivities for the 30th of May have never exceeded three days in length. For the next 30th, however, the two committees have decided that an entire week will be devoted to the celebration of Charlotte's great day.

The amusements of the week will consist of military prize drills, baseball games, golf tournaments, bicycle races, outraces and firemen's foot races. Society will have its continued day in a variety of functions, ending in a grand military ball.

TWO ARMIES.

To Converge Upon The Boers At Pretoria.

The German Kaiser Congratulates Lord Roberts. Was Bought Off Irish Guards To Be Formed. Croajie Not Sent to St. Helena.

Special to Journal.

London, March 17.—The addition of ten thousand men under General Gatacre to the British army, which is now in the hands of the Boers at Pretoria, will march against Pretoria at the same time, one from the north and the other south.

This confirms the experts opinion that a second army of at least fifty thousand men is being organized in Natal and they are confident that two armies will march against Pretoria at the same time, one from the north and the other south.

Lord Roberts, March 17.—Special.—It is reported that the Emperor William has telegraphed Lord Roberts, congratulating him for his success in the campaign. This report is considered significant inasmuch in connection with the announcement today that Germany had acquired a port on the Persian Gulf, since it is the strong belief that a perfect understanding, if not an official alliance, exists between Germany and Great Britain.

Well informed officials are now convinced that Germany was brought over to England's side in the Boer war by promises to help her secure advantages equal to those England gains by the victory over the Boers.

The Queen has decided to consent to the formation of a regiment of Irish Life Guards.

The delay in sending Croajie to St. Helena has bred a report that the Governor has decided not to send him to the historic scene of Napoleon's exile but reserving the place for President Kruger who will be accompanied by his wife Francis.

The outbreak of anger at the announcement that Croajie would be exiled here is particularly credited with influencing the change. It is the general belief that France will not look upon the exile of the President of the Boer Republic with the resentment that was aroused by the news of the comparatively minor leader being thus exiled.

Wanted, A Revival.

In sound business.
In wholesome industries.
In youthful culture.
In generous philanthropy.
In social public-spiritedness.
In social reformation.
In righteous politics.
In mutual confidence.
In wise, energetic self-reliance.
In individual morality.
In whatever insures true prosperity.

But especially, because inclusively, in the matter of genuine religion, pure and undiluted.

It has been several years since New Bern has had a spiritual awakening that was felt throughout the entire city, felt in every department of its life. There are hundreds of Christians here who feel profoundly the need of an old-fashioned, heart-crushing, life-renewing revival. They long to experience it themselves and observe its gracious work in others. The echo of it we hear in conversation and in the public prayers offered in our churches. We want a revival that will reach three classes of persons: it will stimulate the faithful in their work; it will reclaim the wayward from their errors; and it will lead the unregenerate to a saving knowledge of the Christ. To somewhat particularize, the revival which we desire is:

Not with billed emotion.
Not of mere hand-shake.
Not without penitence.
Not for the sake of counting.
Not just to be having a meeting.
But to vitalize the spiritual life.
To rouse the sleeper.
To check the tattler.
To warn the money-loving.
To win back the pleasure-seeking.
To soften the unfeeling.
To lighten the weak.
To rebuke the disobedient.
To deepen spirituality.
To lead souls to Christ.

Fellow Christians of New Bern. Shall we not have such a revival? We can, if we will. God, who is always ready to bless, declares unto us "According to your faith be it unto you." So we need not crave or await the coming of a great evangelist upon whom we can lay the responsibility which belongs by right upon our own shoulders. If only the general do the fighting, where is the need of the rank and file of the army? It is the free-to-free work of the individual Christian which counts for most in the winning of Christian victories.

Looking to the accomplishment of this divine work, a meeting has been planned to begin today in the Middle Street Baptist Church. The preaching is to be done by the pastor. The sermon this evening will be upon "The Bible by Faith" with special emphasis on the requirements which furnished the Christian who wishes to be successful. Beginning with the evening service and continuing through the week, we will have a series of sermons.

The Christian out of the way. To be treated in the following order:

1. The Christian with an unbridled tongue.
2. The Christian with an unbridled tongue.
3. The Christian who loves the dollar.
4. The Christian under a load of hard feelings.
5. The Christian without a backbone.
6. The Christian after the battle.
7. The Christian who tramples on people.

As everyone knows, if the fires of duty are rekindled in Christian hearts, the issue of a religious meeting cannot be in doubt. It is hoped that interest will demand a continuance of the meeting next week. If so, afternoon services will be held primarily for the deepening of the spiritual life, while the evening services will be designed for the un saved.

The meeting is planned for the Middle Street Baptist Church alone, but for the spiritual good of the entire city. Therefore the entire brotherhood of believers is not only cordially invited, but also urgently requested to attend and participate in the proposed services. Let us pray for work, for and expect a true and wide-spread revival.

HUNT C. MOORE.

Off Wimble Shoals—Wreck Removed

On January 31, 1900, the remaining parts of the sunken schooner Fannie Brown lying in latitude 35° 2' N., longitude 7° 17' W., about 21 miles N.E. by N. from Cape Hatteras Beacon Light, were pulled out and towed to Hampton Roads by the revenue cutter Onondaga. Careful soundings failed to develop less than 12 fathoms over the wreck, which is therefore believed to be no longer a menace to navigation.
