A THIRD HAND

When nature gave us two hands she gave us all that was wanted at the time, but we have us all that was wanted at the time, but we have moved on, and nature has commined stationary. We have the trolley car to take us down town. We carry with us a hat swhich blows off when there is a slight breeze and is rulued by a shower of rains, as umbredia to protect the hat and a small black has containing papers. On our way back we have in addition in another hag a piece of lish which we have purchased in the market and are taking home to our realdence. Ladeu with these impediments we attempt to board a car in motion.

At first sight it would appear that one hand is necessary to cutch on to the rail, another hand to seeme the hat, another hand to seeme the hat, another hand to seeme the hat, another hand to had the lish hag. But this is not so in principe. One hand can satisfactority account for a black hag, an umbrelly and a fish basket. The trouble begins when we try to hold on the hat with the same hand with which we are gripping on to the rail. And in the case of the two handed man this happens every day. As at present constructed, we have our hand would make all secure.

Go down at midday and enter any of the popular restaurants, and you will be faced at once with the great introduct and unmater of men scated at it on high stools. The counter itself is crowded, and there are many waiting for their chance at it and wasting valuable time. Now, there is room and to apare, but only in the difficulties of the hand blots out all the difficulties of the hand blots out all the difficulties of the hand blots out all the difficulties.

and wasting valuable time. Now, there is room and to spare, but not against the counter.

The third hand blots out all the difficulties of the rush lungheon at once. The third or middle hand spread out that would hold the plate on which was the cut from the join. The right hand would hold the kalle and the left the fork, as now. The counter could be removed entirely, thus giving more space. Every man would be his own counter. When the human race first started with the original couple, there was plenty of room, and two hands sufficed, but in the crowded condition of the metropolitan luncheon the third hand, to hold the plate, has become a necessity. Having acquired the rush luncheon, we must inevitably acquire the third hand.

Pass from the business to the sock, Innecton. Let us suppose that it is a reception after a wedding. The wedding presents are ranged round the room. There is an enormous crywd of smarthy dressed people, there are two detectives carefully distinguished to look exactly like detectives, there are two detectives carefully distinguished to look exactly like detectives, there are two detectives as to the niddle of the room is a young own with a coffee ice in each hand making his way to two laddes in the corner. There is a crowd around him and no available place on which he can put down either of the ices, and at that moment it becomes an imperative necessity that he shall sneeze. Think what a third hand would mean to him at that moment it becomes an imperative necessity that he shall sneeze. Think what a third hand would mean to him at that moment.—Barry Pain in Pearson's.

GUART SPRING MEDICINE.

JOHNSTON'S SARSAPABILLA as a Blood Pool and Nerve Emerginer, is the greatest SPRING MEDICINE.

JOHNSTON'S SARSAPABILLA as a Blood Pool and Nerve Emerginer, is the greatest SPRING MEDICINE over discovered. It comes us a rich blessing from his was to the "upon out," the run down the overworked and dobibliated. That "tired feeling," these "antidag spells." The larguest and dependency which area from badly nour-taked corven, from thin, vidated blood and an underfed body, vanish as if by a magin spell. The weariness luminion and nervous prestration which accompany the apring-time and the heat of nummer, are conquered and banished at once. For every form of neutralthenia, and all attenents of the brain and nerves, knowness, bysteria and nervousness generally, it is almost a specific. It furnithes the very elements to robuild worn-out nerve timeses. It feeds brain, nerve contain and nerves, calming and equalizing their action; it makes rich, red, honest blood. Newness of life, new hope, new atrangth follow its faithful use. It makes the weak strong, and the old young again.

It was the antiquated (but now happly exploded) method in the good old times, to treat Salt Rheums, Scrofiala, Cancer and other troublescene disorders arising from BLOOD TAINT with powerful alteratives, such as mercury, areance and other mineral agents. It was expected by this treatment that the poison could be killed while the blood was left to course through its channels holding in its circulation the specific germs of the disease. But in this way, every part of the body became more or less diseased. Nothing can be more terrible than a horribly destructive blood until. It not only attacks virgiently the different structures of the body, but many times title bones are honey combed and destroyed. It often seeks out the nerves and spinal cord, and again it will bring decay and death to some vital organ, as the kidneys, liver or stomach. There is only one actionific method for the curs of blood taint. That is, PURIFICATION! E
