August Storm Sufferers.

The great August storm of last year and the loss of life of the fishermen who were drowned is still fresh in the minds of all.

The Journal has received a letter from Wm. Carter county, signed by the widow of the lost man. It is not an appeal for aid, but thanks for assistance already given. How small and inadequate is the aid given is shown by the letter. We understand that anything given can be sent to stores in Beaufort where subscription papers are kept or can be handed to Mr. D. L. Roberts of this city. This letter is as follows:

Wm. Carter, April 27, 1900.

DEAR SIR:—We the widows of Wm. Carter county, caused by the August storm, wish to thank the people of this State and Virginia for the amount of $9000 received of T. E. White and all that we have received from any person since that time. We would be glad that you would publish it in your paper.

We will please write to suit your self, as we do not know what to say, as we never write to an editor before.

Yours truly,

DANIEL LANE,
Chief Marshal.

SEEING MANILA.

What Heights Are Like. Base Ball in the East. Attending Service. Not Enough Fighting.

CANTON OUTFITTER, P. I., Feb. 10.

I want to tell you about my visit to Manila. I went over there day before yesterday and was greatly surprised to find almost a modern city. They have street cars, an ice factory and many other things up to date, so a fellow could almost imagine he was in America.

I saw several fine buildings and many American stores, and if all of the natives and the Chinese were out, it would be a fine place, except for cleanliness, in that respect Filipinos are inferior to the Europeans—at least that is my opinion, and if I were compelled to take either for an associate I'd choose the latter. They learn to smoke almost as soon as soon as they learn to walk.

The men smoke dopy cigarettes and the women smoke cigars and chew the opium, causing their teeth to be as yellow as an ancient wharf rat. One would imagine in this climate the girls would have large, dark, dreamy eyes, but instead they have small brown eyes, almost expressionless. The look they give the city on duty, when we search their pockets, to see that forbidden goods are not carried out, is neither hatred nor fear, but something like a combination of both. Their mode of locomotion (I saw a scarcely being called walking) is a waddling, shambling gait and is caused by their shoes, which have no heel piece and would fall off unless brought forward with a drag. They hold themselves as straight as a bean pole, and just about as graceful. The men are all good riders. This I could not understand, until I saw a Filipino mother carrying her baby. The infant is caught under the arms and held on the hip, where he sits and gazes around and grows wise.

The women are generally expert wash-women and take advantage of the many muddy streams to ply their trade. It is astonishing how they manage to get them so white in such dirty water. A wash board is an unheard of luxury and is supplanted by a flat stick and a large rock on which the garment is placed and flaked.

We to change the subject I saw a dog game of base ball today between the team of the battleship Brooklyn and the gun boat Petrel. The game was played in Cavite, and the Brooklyn beat, just saved themselves in the last inning. Their left fielder knocked a "home bagger" and made the score 9 to 8 in favor of Brooklyn. It was a tight game and everyone seemed to enjoy it. A large crowd of officers and men were present.

Two Chinamen have died of Bubonic plague in Cavite, and a block is quarantined against every one. It does not seem to affect the white people like it does the natives, but the fever that nearly every one has when they first arrive here, is more fatal than it was at first. We buried one fellow Saturday and another yesterday. I was one of the "bring party" to fire the last salute, and our bugler piped taps. It was very solemn, and I was relieved when it was all over.

Sunday I attended service in the company mess hall, and although the congregation was small, we had what you would call a "good meeting." I enjoyed it, and I tell you it made a fellow feel as he was home. It was the first time I've had an opportunity of attending service in four months. Sunday evening there was a concert by the 25th Infantry Band from Manila. Most of them are Southern volunteers, and they wound up by playing a piece consisting of Yankee Doodle and Down in Dixie, and called with The Star Spangled Banner. I fell as though I could cheer until I was hoarse when they played Dixie; for though I am wearing the blue, I am by instinct a Red and I wish I was in a regiment composed of Southern boys and in the firing line, "we would astonish the natives!"

We have been ordered into town Monday Company C, to relieve us, and we will take their quarters in Ft. St. Phillip. Their quarters are the best in the city. There are all kinds of sweet smelling strawberry and beautiful flowers and tropical plants. The officers quarters are just opposite, and that is why everything is tended so carefully. Everything is quiet around us, and I am afraid I won't get in a fight after all. Well I'll have to close as it is nearly taps, and with that the lights go out.

Very truly yours,
GUY MARSHALL,
Co. D, 1st Bat., Naval Station, Cavite.

The Strawberry Bud Weevil.

Complaisant has reached the North Carolina Department of Agriculture through very serious damage is being done by a pest in the strawberry fields of the trucking section. The insect proves to be a very small, reddish, snout beetle of the curculionid family. Its scientific name is Anthonomus signatus. In Maryland and Delaware where this insect has been troublesome for years, it is commonly called the strawberry bud weevil. The beetle cuts off the buds when these are about two-thirds or three-fourths grown. The damage varies from 10% to 75% of the crop, being worst where staminate varieties are largely grown. The strawberry bud weevil feeds chiefly upon pollen both in the larval and beetle stages. When the buds of staminate strawberries are about two-thirds grown the parent beetle with her long snout goes one to five holes in the center of the bud. Into each hole she thrusts an egg. The eggs hatch in about a week, and the young grub begins to feed upon the pollen of the unopened buds. To prevent the buds from opening and scattering their pollen the parent beetle after depositing her eggs, cuts the stem nearly through, but leaves it hanging by a thread of hard, which serves for a while to prevent the bud from drying up.

This beetle is a native and originally attacked the wild blackberry. It now attacks the strawberry because that plant blooms first. As soon as the strawberry crop is out of bloom, the insects attack the blackberry which they injure in exactly the same way, and to a considerable amount. Besides the wild and cultivated blackberries, this beetle infests the woods known as Horse-mint, Mountain Stulons and the yellow flower Five-inger, Potentilla canadensis.

Remedies: As this insect feeds chiefly upon pollen, the most practicable remedy is to grow only pistillate strawberries for the main crop. Grow only as many staminate plants as are absolutely necessary for pollen plants. Spray the staminate plants when the buds are half grown with following liquids:

Crude creosote or crude carbolic acid 1 gallon.
Water 1 barrel or 50 gallons.

Repeat once a week until the buds open.

These chemicals have a very strong, disagreeable and persistent odor which may injure the fruit grown on the sprayed plants. This must be determined for each locality by actual trial at the pestiferous of the odor depends largely upon the local climate. The pistillate plants need not be sprayed and there is no danger of injuring their fruit.

The wild blackberries and the woods above named should be exterminated from around a strawberry field. The horse-mint may be given a top-saw along the borders and grown a 3-4 ft. The insects can be easily killed from them tall growing plants from contact with water and kerosene.

The only way to prevent the cultivated blackberries from this beetle is to watch for the beetle first appearance on the plants and then try to knock them off into the penic penic mentioned. The danger is great as soon as the plant has set fruit.

Mail Collection Hours.

The hours at which mail will be collected from the street boxes by the carriers are as follows: 7 to 8 a. m., 9 to 10 a. m. and 4 to 5 p. m.

All the down town boxes the collections are made near the limit of the hours named. As soon as the system becomes well established the time of collection at each box will be posted on the box itself.

Today and each Sunday the carriers' windows at the Post office will be open one hour after the arrival of the mail, from 10 to 11 a. m. and 3 to 4 p. m.

Two Slight Accidents.

Yesterday morning as the north-bound mail was about to leave, the train was backed up because of a wreck. It was caused by the truck which was on the side track, but the way to allow the other train to pass. The rear of the first train struck the freight car and both were thrown out of the track and were badly damaged.

Needle assistance it may be best to tender it promptly, but one should remember to use even the most perfect remedy only when needed. The best and most simple and gentle remedy is the Syrup of Figs, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

For County Treasurer.

EDITOR JOURNAL:—I suggest the name of Thomas Daniels, Esq., for County Treasurer, he is the present Treasurer, and has made a most efficient one. His Democracy is unimpeachable. He has never in any manner helped the Republican party to obtain place or power in the county, but has always been straight forward.

For County Sheriff.

EDITOR JOURNAL:—The Amendment Democrats desire to present the name of Joseph Kinney, for Sheriff. It is made the debt for the party devoting his time when there was no hope of reward, when others who are willing now to be candidates would not then serve. He has served faithfully and well, filling the place without the protest of the opposition, and does not pay expenses. He has been a hard worker in every campaign, without the expectation of office, but for the sake of Democracy and we believe he will be the unanimous choice of the party.

DEMOCRAT.

GOVERNOR McCORD.

Recommendation For Catarrh.

Hon. M. H. McCord.

Hon. Myron H. McCord, Ex-Governor of New Mexico, in a letter to Dr. Hartman from Washington, D. C., says:

Dear Sir—At the suggestion of a friend I was advised to use Pe-ru-na for catarrh, and after using one bottle I began to feel better in every way. It helped me in many respects. I was troubled with colds, coughs, sore throat, etc., but as soon as I had taken your medicine I began to improve and soon got well. I take pleasure in recommending your great remedy to all who are afflicted with catarrh.—M. H. McCord.

The spring presents a much more favorable opportunity for the permanent cure of chronic catarrh, especially old, stubborn cases. Now is the time to begin treatment. Insist upon having Pe-ru-na. There are no successful substitutes for this remedy. Send to Dr. Hartman, Columbus, Ohio, for a free catarrh book.

Trinity College Notes.

DURHAM, N. C., May 4.

The Historical Society held its regular meeting last Saturday evening. The following papers were presented: "Red-shirt Campaign," Jonathan Pelee; "Ad Valorem Taxation," W. K. Boyd.

There have recently been presented to the museum some interesting relics, among which were: "A knife taken from the grave of Col. Ferguson at King's Mountain, a pipe carried by Capt. Freeman, a Corran pouch and Corran money, all presented by Hon. B. F. Dixon, Shelby, N. C.; Mr. James Southgate, Durham, N. C., has presented a valuable collection of Confederate bills. All the different denominations are in the collection, arranged in a large frame.

President Kilgo is in Nashville attending the annual meeting of the Board of Education of the Southern Methodist Church.

It is probable that a party will go from the College to some point near Raleigh to observe the total eclipse of the sun May 28. Arrangements are being made with a view to this.

The final examinations will begin May 21.

The first of next week the track team will have a contest at the Athletic grounds. The contest will be for the college championship. It has also been arranged to have an indoor contest for the championship. Monday evening, June 4 an exhibition will be held in the Angier Duke Gymnasium.

Mr. C. L. Raper, class '02, has been elected instructor in History in Columbia University, New York City and given charge of the History work in Bardard College, which is now a part of Columbia University.

J. C. Kennedy, Roanoke, Tenn., says, "I cannot say too much for DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. One box of it cured what the doctors called an incurable ulcer on my jaw." Cures piles and all skin diseases. Look out for worthless imitations. P. S. Duffy.
