IMPORTANT ECONOMIC POINTS.

The question of local economies is a atter which should engage the particular attention of every citizen, more sepscially the tax paying citizen.

The proposed purchase of the water and sewerage systems is a matter demanding the special study of the tax payer, as it is a question which involves an important point in local economics.

If there was no precedent for municipal ownership of Water Works, and the people of New Bern were the first to make the experiment, then this election would be a far different affair. But this is no new thing, and the people of the cities who now own and control their water supply would never go back and live under private ownership of this

Chicago is a very large city to use as an illustration, but it is a notable one in this experience of municipal concerning of its water. Those who feared politics would run the water works, must have indeed been each and every case of Caranni that alarmed in Chicago, before the city became the owner, and those who may fear the same in New Bern can ask themselves the question, is New Bern more corrupt than Chicago?

But to the figures and facts in regard to the municipal ownership of the water supply in Chicago.

From the Mayor's public statement, in 1898 the receipts of the water department in Chicago were $3,489,390, and the expenditures in the same department for that year were $298,982.

And water is furnished in Ohicago at about one half the rate charged under private ownership.

It is estimated by experts, says the same report, that the present rate charged for water will in less than four years, pay the many millions of dollars which are now being put into extensive

In fact so profitable has this water ownership by the City of Chicago be laria.

For indigestion, sick and nervous headache. profits be turned into other funds, such as the fund for the Leeping up of the great boulevards, and other improvements about the city.

Here is a great wealth which is kept in the pockets of the people, at the same time the people enjoy the fullest benefits of fresh water and good sanita-

Here is the same proposition for the people of New Bern.

Do the people want chesp water and plenty of it; are the comparatively few who care nothing about paying double for their water, to enjoy this fresh water privilege, while the poor citizen must go

Like every step forward in the case of progress, this municipal ownership means everything for the poor man. The vich man has his comfort of fresh water and good sewerage; the poor man can have it, if he wants it.

In healthy seasons, the citizen without given upwater and sewerage thinks little of the raisen sharnes of these, but let there come a time of epidemic, then would be give. much for the freely water at his hand, with good sewerage throughout his Chinese Arlibmette.

The Chinese rejoice in a wonderful talent for inaccuracy in overy detail. For instance, a pound or a pint varies as it suits the merchant's fancy. In some part you get half or a quarter as much as you do in others for the same price and measure.

Then, again, their way of calculating distance does not at all tally with Euclid. For instance, you are told from A to B is four miles, but from B to A is eight miles. If you ask how this is possible, you are told it depends from which end you start; if you start from A, it is down hill, so much easier to walk; whereas, starting from B, you have to walk up hill, which is much more exerting and fatiguing—in fact. more exerting and fatiguing—in fact, it is the same as walking a longer distance on even ground.

This form of argument always amused me nearly as much as the way the Chinese have of counting a person's age by tens. "My mother," they will tell you, "is 30" (or 40). When she leaves 30, she is getting near 40. Should we all like to be told that, I wonder?-Leslie's Weekly.
