Legislature Takes Adjournment To That Date.

Addition of Section Five Meets Objections in Amendment Committee Reports Gross Mismanagement Agricultural and Penitentiary.

Special to Journal. RALEIGH, June 14.—It was nearly midnight last night when the two important bills, the Constitutional Amendment and the Election Law were finally signed by the presiding officers and delivered to the Secretary of State. The House immediately adjourned until 10 o'clock today but the Senate hung out for half an hour after the House and then also adjourned.

The principal change in the Amendment, outside of the term "qualified voters" is the addition of section 5 which meets the objections of the timid ones and which is put in terms that cannot be mistaken. It reads as follows:

Sec. 5. Every person presenting himself for registration shall be able to read and write any section of the Constitution in the English language; and before he shall be entitled to vote, he shall have paid on or before the first day of May of the year in which he proposes to vote his poll tax for the previous year as prescribed by article 5, section 1, of the Constitution. But no male person, who was, on January 1st, 1867, or at any time prior thereto, entitled to vote under the laws of any State in the United States wherein he then resided, and no female descendant of any such person shall be denied the right to register and vote at any election in this State by reason of his failure to possess the educational qualifications herein prescribed. Provided, he shall have registered in accordance with the terms of this section prior to December 1, 1900.

The General Assembly shall provide for the registration of all persons entitled to vote without the educational qualification herein prescribed, and shall, on or before November 1, 1900, provide for the making of a permanent record of such registration, and all persons so registered shall forever thereafter have the right to vote in all elections by the people in this State, unless disqualified under section 2 of this article. Provided, such person shall have paid his poll tax as above required.

Sec. 5. That this amendment to the Constitution is presented and adopted as one indivisible plan for the regulation of the suffrage, with the intent and purpose to so connect the different parts and to make them so dependent upon each other, that the whole shall stand or fall together.

There has been a constant fight between those who want to introduce bills and those opposed to making further legislation. It is hard on the member who has a bill in his pocket that he believes essential to his county and Democratic success, perhaps his coming back to the next Legislature depends on it. Many members notified their people that they would present no bills and are saved the embarrassment. Some members had 10 or 15 bills somewhere about their persons waiting to spring them on a long suffering Legislature.

The weather moderated during the night and it is some cooler today and today. It is a relief to everybody. The Senate and House were called to order at 10 o'clock today. The fear that many members would have renounced during the night was not realized and there was a good attendance. The speech of the chief object of the session, took the 15, longest out of the occasion and the passing of bills important to sections only on 11 or 12 things up. Discussion party measures and plans for party success continued unabated. Gov. M. B. Brannon opened the Senate with prayer and referred feelingly to the death of Senator Jackson and the attack on the party.

The journals of both Houses this morning were read in full, the usual motion to dispense with the reading not being insisted on. Members wanted to know what had been done yesterday. It might suggest that too much was done and there would be a chance for correction. The death of Senator J. Q. Jackson this morning was as unexpected as it was sad. Senator Jackson was stopping at the residence of Mr. Jesse Jones on Hillsboro street. He was at the Capitol last night and seemed to be in his usual health. He spoke on and followed with attention the convention of the Senate Journal that permitted Kingston to issue bonds which was prevented by the error in question. Senator Jackson died in the performance of his duty.

The Senate adopted resolutions of respect this morning in memory of the late Senator J. Q. Jackson. A high tribute of respect was paid to him by his colleague Senator James A. Bryan. A committee of three from the Senate and two from the House were appointed to accompany the remains of the deceased to his home in Raleigh, with the funeral.

gent of Arms of the Senate in charge of the party.

Many bills were introduced today, but they will die on the calendar. Not over half a dozen got through. Both houses met at eight o'clock tonight, and adjournment was taken to Tuesday, July 24th.

Committees reported on the Shell Fish Commission, the Agricultural Department and the Penitentiary, showing gross mismanagement and reckless extravagance under Fusion rule.

SUPREME COURT ADJOURNS.

Special to Journal. Raleigh, June 14.—The Supreme Court adjourned today.

State vs. Hill, from New Hanover, error. State vs. Medlin, from Gaston, affirmed. Crumpton vs. Ivis, from Mecklenburg, new trial. Huston vs. Webb, from Burke, petition to rehear dismissed.

Court adjourned sine die today.

PLATFORM FOR BRYAN.

Cannot Undertake to Say What is Paramount Issue. Leaves it to Convention.

CHICAGO, June 13.—Hon. William J. Bryan was in Chicago today and was the center of a great deal of political discussion, all of it bearing on what may be done at the Democratic National Convention, in Kansas City, July 4.

The platform to be adopted at Kansas City and also the Vice-Presidential question were considered at length. On the question of a platform, the trend of discussion forecasted to some extent the differences of opinion which may arise at Kansas City, even among loyal Bryan men. The question is whether the money plank and other troublesome legacies from 1896 shall be handled by reaffirmation of the Chicago platform in a lump, or whether some planks of the 1896 platform, especially those on money, shall be rewritten.

"I say, as I have before many times," Mr. Bryan replied, when asked what he thought of the platform and issues this year, "that I think the three big questions before us are money, trusts and imperialism. The money question, of course, includes the question of silver and of paper money; the question of imperialism includes militarism and the policy of which our National Administration's work in the Philippines and its attitude on the Boer question are examples.

"I believe the principles adopted in the platform of 1896 were adopted as a part of the party creed, never to be departed from. I do not think those should be or can be departed from this year. That platform, however, must be added to as new issues arise. As I do not expect to be a delegate to the National Convention, I cannot presume to discuss the form in which those principles shall be stated in the platform to be adopted there.

"I cannot undertake to say what will be the paramount issue. No man can. One thinks one question is the biggest and another man thinks another is."

"What do I think should be done in the Philippines? I think this country should fill those people that we are there only for the purpose of establishing a stable government and that when we have done so we should turn the islands over to the people and protect them against foreign aggression, as we have protected the South American republics.

"The conditions ahead and the plan of campaign? Why, conditions are much more favorable to us than they were at this time in 1896. The Republican party is on the defensive. It will talk prosperity, of course, but we'll be willing to take the votes of all the people who have not had their share of prosperity and leave to the Republicans the votes of the people who have had their share.

"I should say our plan of campaign will be to carry every State in the Union. Cannot carry all of them? I would not speak so harshly of the people of any State as to say that I thought the people there intended to support the Republican party."

J. Q. JACKSON DEAD.

Senator From Eighth Senatorial Dies Suddenly.

Important Decision in Insurance Case. Base Ball Association. Railway Tax Assessment Case to be at Wilmington.

Special to Journal.

RALEIGH, June 14.—Senator John Quincy Jackson of Lenoir county, died here this morning of heart disease. He was 68 years old, a lawyer, a Mason, and leaves a wife. He was at the Senate session until midnight and then went to his boarding house. At 4 o'clock this morning he went out on a porch and was there found a little before 6 o'clock, sitting upright in a chair, one arm hanging over a railing, the other in his lap, a handkerchief in the hand. His legs were crossed and his head held up. It seemed difficult so, believe he was dead. His body was embalmed and was sent to Kingston this afternoon. Lt. Gov. Reynolds, president of the Senate said to the "Senator Jackson was in my opinion the best man in the Senate. His death caused great sorrow."

The fact that the hearing of the railway tax assessment cases is to be resumed at Wilmington, or rather begun, for the railways, is of much public interest, as ten million dollars is involved. The news, given out for the first time, that the corporation commission had proposed a compromise, also excites interest.

Four negro members were present at the session of the legislature, Senator Fuller and Representatives Smith, Wright and Yarbrough.

Judge Moore today filed his decision in the important case of F. M. Simmons and F. G. Simmons, against the Mutual Reserve Fund Life Association. This is a test case. There are many others. The judge finds that the company wrongfully broke its contract and violated the agreement made with policy holder, F. G. Simmons. His judgment for the plaintiffs for $2,700, with interest.

The State base ball association today made up its schedule for the season. Games begin June 23. George Stevens of Charlotte is elected President, N. K. Davis of Wilmington, Vice-President, and Battle of Durham secretary and treasurer. The Raleigh club has secured its battery. Person and Bassare the pitchers and Maruar and Royster the catchers.

The Democratic caucus last night decided that the Legislature should adjourn at night tonight, until the last week in July, that is just as near the August election as possible.

BULLER MARCHES AHEAD.

Boer Rear Guard Seen As He Moves Into Transvaal

LONDON, June 13.—The Daily Telegraph has received the following dispatch, dated today, from the Natal border, near Volksrust:

"General Buller's column, after defeating the Boers thoroughly, resumed its march on Volksrust yesterday and early today reached the border without encountering any opposition. The Boer rear guard was retreating rapidly in a northerly direction.

"Clery's troops are now in position of Laingsnek. The Boers have deserted all their other positions in the vicinity and Natal is now completely cleared of them."

LONDON, June 13.—Further advice received here show that the Laingsnek signal has not been much damaged. Both ends have been blown up, but the engineers think that repairs can be effected in about four days. The advance troops of General Buller saw the Boer rear guard four miles distant. It was estimated that 2,000 Boers were withdrawing, but this is doubtless greatly overdrawn. The townspeople at Ermelo it is said, counted 13 guns being carried away.
