A BANNER FOR EDUCATIONAL PROGRESS.

Now that the political awards have been made to the township, county and district giving the greatest majority for the Amendment, or for the State ticket, it is to be hoped that the offering of awards will take some other subject, besides the political, for which flags or gifts shall be given.

A recent local notice appearing in the Kinston Free Press, said in effect, that it was thought that Lenoir county would be the banner county of the State this year in regard to having the largest number of young ladies, with one exception, in attendance at the State Normal College, at Greensboro.

Here is a matter well demanding a banner, that of the county showing the greatest educational progress.

It is not necessary to specify any particular college or school to be attended, the Lenoir county notice is only an illustration, but take the illiteracy percentage as it now stands in each county of North Carolina, and take it again one year hence

And let the county showing the greatest decrease in illiteracy be known, and awarded the prize for its educational progress.

This is something to strive for, and every county trying for the educational banner will be a gainer, whether it comes out first or not.

$100 Reward, $100. The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treat ment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken in ternally, acting directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. Cooling Walter in Niesragen. "They have," said a militoni man, "a primitive method of cooling water in Mexico and Central America. The principal is perfectly simple, but there is a certain knack about the thing that I have never known a white man to fully sequire. "When a native in one of the brolling that I th hot little villages of interior Nicaragus wants to cool some water, she fills a half gullon earthenware jar about two thirds full. Parenthetically I say 'she,' because this is a task that requires more energy than any male Nicararunn was ever known to possess. The far is made of baked clay, and, not being glazed, is partially porous and soon becomes moist on the outside. Two leather straps are firmly attached to the neck, and, selzing these in her lands, she begins to rotate the jar swiftly in the air. The mouth is wide open, but centrifugal action keeps the liquid from flying out. The average native woman is frail and listless in appearance, but the endurance which they exhibit at this sort of calisthenics is marvelous. It is about the same as swinging Indian clubs, and I am afraid to say how long

I have seen them keep it up, lest you might set me down as a prize llar. Generally the lord and master lies in one corner of their 'jacal,' or hut, smoking a cigarette and watching the operation languidly. When the wom an thinks the water is sufficiently cool she stops with a dexterous twist of the wrist and hands him the jar.

"Usually he takes a gulp, growls out, 'Moocha calora!' which is native pa tois for 'blamed hot,' and she begins again, patiently describing pinwheels have never made a test with a ther mometer, but I assure you they can reduce tepid water to the temperature of a very cool mountain spring."-New Orleans Times-Democrat.

An Ocean Hotel, Some idea of what a big hotel a transatlantic liner is may be gained from the following from Ainslie's Magazine: "Everything about the kitchet of a great steamship is on a most elaborate scale. The range weighs many tons; the various soup caldrons are constructed to hold 20 gallons; loaves are baked by the hundred, joints roasted by the dozen, each in a separate and specially constructed compartment. To serve the meals thousands of plates, pleces of sliver, cops and saucers and napkins are required, and the average breakage in the galley of a big ship mounts to a barrel of china every day. BROKEN SUSPENDERS.

Who Would Rather Tie Them Up Than Buy New Ones.

Up Than Buy New Ones. "It's funny," said a Park row haber-dasher, "but it's true that 50 per cent of the men of New York are going about with broken suspenders. I've known men worth millions of dollars who neg-lected to purchase suspenders until their attention was called to the fact that they needed them. The other day a man came in here to buy some neckwear. While he was waiting to be served he kept tugging at a suspender button on his trousers. As the perspiration kept rolling down his neck he bit his lips and mumbled some thing that sounded like cuss words. He finally asked me if I could give him a piece of twine. When I got it for him uttoned his wnistcoat and proceeded to tie together the parts of an old uspender. "I'll sell you a new pair for a quarter."

I remarked, pointing to a bunch of new suspenders. Continuing, I told him we had some beauties for half a doilar and better ones for a dollar. He said noth-ing, but continued the work of tying up his broken suspender. Finally 1 thrust a box of suspenders in front of him, and he reached for a pair. "Thank you,' he said, and he pro-ceeded to take off his cont and waistcont.

Then he threw his old suspenders on the floor, and as he fastened on the new ones he said they felt fine. He told me that he had been feeling uncomfortable for a reek and didn't really know the cause of t until he discarded the old suspenders.

'Unless my wife buys a pair for me at Christmas time.' he said. 'I never think about it and wear those I have on until they actually fall off. I know thou sands of wealthy men who are like me it that respect. The other day when I calla friend at the Waldorf-Astoria ie was engaged repairing his suspender with a piece of wire. Strange to say, he never thought of sending his valet for a new pair, although he was paying $30 m day for a suit of rooms on the fourth "That fellow," continued the haberdasher. "is a sample of New York's busi-ness men. They'll invest thousands of dollars in stocks and bonds, but forget about investing a quarter in suspenders Most New Yorkers wait until they get a pair as a Christmas or birthday pro German-Americans living in New as a rule, get suspenders for Easter Monday; Irish-Americans get presents of sus penders on Easter Sunday morning; Ital ian-Americana who have made New York their home get new suspenders at Christ mas time. "And what about native New York

When Pour Writing Is Best. A popular author whose handwriting was none of the best used to maintain that it was a matter of principle with him not to write too well. He declared that for the use of printers, good handwriting was only a snare and a deluslon, tending to encourage carelessnes and mistakes on their part. The com positors, he asserted, were compelled to devote their very best care and attention to bad handwriting, with the result that, when it was deciphered, it was so fixed in their minds that it was impossible for them to set it up incorrectly. He therefore declared that the worst bandwriting was the best for the printers .- Truth.
