Vance Statue Unveiled Before A Great Gathering of the People.

Ceremony Was Impressive. Line of Procession and Order of Exercises. Simple As Was the Nature of Vance

Special to Journal.
RALEIGH, Aug. 22.—This was a great day in the history of North Carolina. The bronze statue of Vance was unveiled ten minutes past two o'clock and a great cheer went up as it stood revealed. About ten thousand people witnessed the ceremonies, half of the number were visitors who had come to pay a tribute to the memory of North Carolina's greatest statesman and most loved citizen.

Early in the day all the arrangements for the unveiling were completed. They were severely simple, Chief Marshal Thomas S. Kenan saying this very sort of simplicity was what Vance liked. A platform built from the head of the portico of the Capitol extended toward the rear of the statue, and this was covered with tent files laced together. On the ground near it were seats. The State flags were displayed on the Capitol and the latter, together with the banks and various public buildings were closed at noon.

Mrs. Vance and her son Mr. Harry Martin arrived yesterday. Capt. Z. B. Vance arrived this morning, as did little Espy Vance, the Senator's grand daughter, who unveiled the statue. The weather was very fine.

The procession moved at eleven forty-five. It formed in front of Metropolitan Hall and moved to the Capitol Square in the following order:

- Platoon of Police.
- Raleigh Cornet Band.
- Confederate Veterans.
- Governor's Guard and other military organizations.
- State Officers.
- Officials of Counties and Towns.
- Citizens Generally.
- Orator and Chaplain.

There were about five hundred Confederate Veterans in line. Gen. Carr and staff were in uniform as were the Raleigh and Durham Camps of Confederate Veterans.

The military in the parade were the Raleigh Light Infantry, Capt. Bernard; Forsyth Riflemen of Winston, Capt. Bessent; Wilmington Light Infantry, Capt. White; Franklington Rifles, Capt. McGhee; Durham Light Infantry, Capt. Christian; Vance Guards of Henderson; Capt. Poythress; Warrenton Guards, Capt. Mason; Granville Grays of Oxford, Capt. Landis; Goldsboro Rifles, Capt. Griswold; Orlinton Rifles, Capt. Holmes; Kinston Naval Reserves, Lieutenant Pearson; New Bern Naval Reserves, Lieutenant Hill.

The exercises were opened by prayer by Rev. Eugene Daniel. The introduction of the Orator by Thos. S. Kenan, Chief Marshal. The Orator was by Richard H. Battle. It was an hours length and was a complete sketch of Vance's life and work. The Unveiling of Status was by Miss Espy Vance. The benediction was by Rev. Daniel.

The committees were as follows: Legislative Committee—R. H. Spelght of Edgecombe, J. D. Bushall of Wake, J. C. Curtis of Buncombe. Local Committee (of Vance Memorial Association)—Joseph G. Brown, W. N. Jones, C. M. Busbee, A. A. Thompson, Thos. S. Kenan, were present.

RALEIGH.

State Guard Equipment About Completed. Agricultural Building, Railway Talk.

RALEIGH, August 22.—The Quartermaster General has completed the equipment of all the State Guard save the Greenville company. The latter was hastily armed with carbines last month. It will be fully and properly equipped. There are now 38 companies of infantry, a section of artillery and 7 divisions of naval reserves; total strength a little over 3000. Each of the three regiments of infantry has 12 companies. The Quartermaster General says a cavalry troop is desired and that it can be quickly equipped. Seven companies of the 80 regiments were here today in the parade. The lecture room of the new annex of the agricultural department building is receiving the final touches. It is a handsome room with ceiling of polished pine, with 250 opera chairs, a stage and special arrangements for stereopticon pictures. The carpeting will be finished tomorrow, and it will be ready for its first use next week, by the agricultural commissioners of the cotton-growing states. It is lighted by six chandeliers. The entire museum is in fine shape.

Railway men in this State are much interested in the rumor that the Pennsylvania Railway has rented the Norfolk and Western. By building a line from Durham here Raleigh would have another connection, via the N & W. The Republicans say they do not believe their party will make congressional nomination in the 6th district.

WHO MAY WITH THE SHREWD HOUSERS STRIVE?

Who may with the shrewd hours strive? Too thrifty dealers they. That with the one hand blantly give, With the other take away.

And glitter there some falling dials, Some dust of gold, between The hands that give and hands that take Slipped noiseless and unseen.

Ah, comedy of bargainings! Whose gain of yours we found A little bit of golden things Forgotten on the ground. —Arthur Colton in Simler's Magazine.

TWO HORSEMEN MEET.

The Outcome of a Discussion as to the Use of a Maine Steed.

Maine's David Harum came into the village the other day. He was looking for a trade. He sat in his muddy old wagon with his back bent and his elbows on his knees. The driver that he drove had hip bones that looked like broken springs in a haircloth sofa. The good housewife could have done her week's washing on the corrugations on his sides. His eyes had the bleak look of one who has gone through everything that can by any possibility be coming that way and so has nothing to fear. The old man was driving with a knotted rope tied to the end of a stick.

"Click, click! Giddap, Ebenezer," he kept saying, and Ebenezer may have heard him, and he may have felt the slap of the knotted rope, but if he did there was no symptom to indicate it either in the cant of his ears or the acceleration of his gait. The old man suddenly pulled up. No, he didn't pull up; he said, "Whoa." The old horse always carries one ear back to hear a whoa. He stopped so suddenly that the old man was precipitated forward. But he caught the dasher with his hands and was able to save himself from falling on to his nose on the road.

"As he lunged there he said to the man standing on the sidewalk: "Most willin' hoss I ever had, Isaac. A woman can drive him anywhere. I ease there's any trouble with the riggin any time, all any one has got to do is to say 'Whoa,' and there ye are. No danger of bein' smashed up with him. What ye got in the hoss-king row, Isaac?"

"Well, I've got two—there's that gray horse that Bill Anderson used to drive that I got in the way of a trade. Then I've got a black mare, but I don't believe the wimmen folks will want to part with the black one, for they're made kind of a pet out of it." The old man took a chew of tobacco and settled himself on the seat with his legs crossed. Said he: "I don't s'pose ye're specially backward about changin' the gray one so he'll ye get the right price for her, Isaac?"

"Well, I'll s'pose I might listen awhile if any one talked trade. "Seems' it this hoss here might mate up pretty well with the black one." "I'm afraid he's a bit ga'nt, Hiram. Ye know that black one is a chunky little hoss?"

"Yes, yes, I know that, but ye'd find that the hoss here would take on s'hab like time when he got started. Ye see, he's so darn high life and I drive him so much that I keep him a-dragin' most of the time. For what ye'd want to drive, and the wimmen folks stubble him round, he'd be rounder'n a barrel in a few weeks. I don't know what I'm sellin' him for, myself, but after I have a hoss about so long, don't make any difference how good a hoss he is, I sort of get addin' round to get rid of him and make a change. It's lucky for a man when he don't have that dissatisfied way and can hang on to a good thing when he gits it. If I only knew enough to do it, I would not let this hoss of mine go for less as money."

While he was talking Isaac had come along and had rolled up the old horse's upper lip. After a careful scrutiny of his teeth Isaac shook his head and said: "How old do you call this hoss, Hiram?" "Jus' 'sactly 9 years old—jus' 'sactly 9." "Ehn, now git out, he's older'n that." "No, sir, jus' 'sactly 9."

"Don't say ye are lizin' about the thing, Hiram, but I'ds reckon ye are mistaken. The hoss is older'n 9." "Now I understand how ye came into the ground," said the old man. "I know that hoss of mine is jus' 'sactly 9 years old. Yes, sir, jus' 'sactly 9—not over 10. Seven at the outside and 12 to the next best, by Jove!" —Lewiston Journal.

Report That Chinese Are Threatening The Relief Column.

Pekin in Confusion and Divided Into Districts. American Troops First in Imperial City. Negotiate For Peace.

Special to Journal.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—The Chinese are reported to be assembling around Peking forty miles from Peking, in the rear of the allied forces, now in Peking. They may try to cut off the relief column.

Five thousand Chinese started for Sung Leo Ching for Peking. Two thousand Chinese are hurrying to Hung Cho and it is believed that a large force of Chinese troops are in the field between Tien Tsin and Peking. Active preparations are necessary to guard the line of communications of the allies.

An official dispatch from Corea says that a thousand rebels attacked Bong Ching, burning the government buildings and that the situation is critical. In Peking all except the Imperial City is cleared of Chinese troops. The American troops were the first to enter the Imperial City and they have penetrated to the gates of the palace.

An official dispatch from Tien Tsin of August 20th, says that the Japanese occupied the Imperial palace at Peking August 12th. About that date the Empress Dowager with two thousand troops supposed to leave Shan Fu for their destination.

Pekin is now in great confusion and is divided into several districts. Half the Peking city is placed under control of Japanese, Americans, British, Russian and French officers appointed to maintain order. A detachment of Japanese troops rescued missionaries and Chinese converts imprisoned in the palace. Two hundred Japanese were killed and wounded.

On the morning of August 19th, the Sixth Cavalry and four hundred English and Japanese dispersed about a thousand Boxers eight miles outside of Tien Tsin. A hundred Chinese were killed and five Americans wounded. Captain Reilly of the artillery was killed August 15th.

New York, Aug. 21.—A Washington dispatch to the Herald says; Li Hung Chang has formally assured the United States and powers that the Boxers throughout China have been dispersed and he guarantees "positively" that there will be no further disorders.

It is proposed by the President to answer the note received today, and that presented yesterday requesting the appointment of a high commissioner to negotiate peace, in a communication which will be transmitted to Minister Wu probably tomorrow. This communication will show that the United States desires peace to be brought again to China as promptly as possible, but at the same time it will question the existence of a government in China able to approve the acts of its envoy and have them accepted by the whole people.
