Russia And United States Wish To Preserve China

Difference Of Opinion Said To Be In The Cabinet Germany A Source Of Doubt May Mean To Declare War.

Special to Journal.
WASHINGTON, August 31.—There is said to be a serious difference of opinion in the cabinet. The President favors Russian policy in regard to China and Secretary Hay is opposed to it. Russia is the only country that is unequivocally with the United States in regard to China.

If the Russian government is not as full of deception as the average Chinese diplomat, the press and people of this country have had the wrong idea of Russian intentions in China. Following is an official statement of Russia's position, made public through the Russian embassy. "Russia occupies a very similar position now as at the beginning of the Chinese incident. Notwithstanding the fact that the foreign dispatches assert that Russia entertains selfish ideas of national aggrandizement at the expense of China, it may be authoritatively stated that Russia is opposed to the partition or dismemberment of the Chinese Empire. Russia seeks peace in China. She has been careful that her course should be shaped to achieve this desire. China will not be partitioned by Russia individually or because of councils emanating from her statesmen. The American people can be assured that this is the exact attitude of Russia."

Germany has got the other power-guessing as to what it intends doing in China. It is diplomatically delaying the reaching of an agreement by the other powers and is being followed by Italy and Austria. England is also acting queerly. Several meetings of the cabinet have been held this week to consider communications from the allied governments on the question of what shall be done with China, but the solution is not yet in sight. It is feared that the Emperor of Germany intends to make the murder of the German minister in Peking a reason for declaring war against China, and that his present tactics are only for the purpose of gaining time, so that Count Waldersee, who is to have command, and the heavy German reinforcements now on the way may get to China before his real purpose is disclosed. This government is opposed to war, believing that a satisfactory settlement can be reached without it, and if it can get the support of a sufficient number of powers will be able to prevent it.

TOM JONES HUNG.

Applicants For Admission Number 2,000 He Had Murdered Six.

RALEIGH, N. C., August 31.—The local event today was the execution of Tom Jones, the wholesale murderer of Ella Jones and five children. Thirty persons were admitted by card as witnesses of the execution, which took place in a very small enclosure in the rear of the jail. There were no less than 2,000 applicants for tickets of admission. Most of these were while, but there were many negroes. Jones was last night put in an upper cell and the death watch set. He had nothing to say. He slept very soundly. He ate no breakfast, drinking only a cup of coffee. At a very early hour people began to gather near the jail, with a morbid curiosity to see Jones as he made his death march, that is, walked the few feet between the door of the jail and the enclosure in which was the gallows. Negroes and whites were in this morbid crowd.

Jones was hung at 10:30 a. m. His neck was broken but he was not pronounced dead until 10:45. He met death unflinchingly.

Your correspondent went into the jail yesterday afternoon and saw Jones. The scene inside was a striking one. At the front of the hall-way of the cell block was a mass of black and yellow faces, those of prisoners. The sound of a voice in prayer, a woman's voice, rose above everything. Jones' cell was in the rear and there a black woman, all in black was kneeling and praying, while Jones and two other men stood in the cell. Jones, very small, with thick lips and flat nose, a true African face, with chin beard as kinky as his hair; beside him, like a giant, Tom Smith, a mulatto under sentence of death for cutting the throat of a man in Johnston county; and next to Smith a negro charged with rape brought here from Fayetteville to prevent lynching. These listened to the prayer. As the woman finished it she took up a hymn and sang it in a high quavering voice. The other prisoners said that Jones was ready to go, that he prayed with those much of the time. Jones when asked how he was getting on replied, "Tolerably well, I thank you." His thick lips murmured the words.

BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure

For the third of a century the standard for strength and purity. It makes the hot bread, hot biscuit, cake and other pastry light, sweet and excellent in every quality.

No other baking powder is "just as good as Royal," either in strength, purity or wholesomeness.

Many low priced, imitation baking powders are upon the market. These are made with alum, and care should be taken to avoid them, as alum is a poison, never to be taken in the food.

Railroad Tickets Sold To Negroes Bound For Massachusetts.

New Plover at Water Works. Commissioners to Visit at Blitmore Farm. Corporation Commission. Railway Charters.

Special to Journal.

RALEIGH, Aug. 31.—The Raleigh water company is putting in new filters, with 2,000,000 gallons capacity daily. The company has so far expended $340,000 on its plant, on which the city has an option.

During the past six months one railway here has sold 500 tickets to negroes who have gone North to live permanently. Most of them have gone to Massachusetts.

The State charters the Go'daboro Table Company, capital $12,000, Geo. C. Ray, all and others owners.

Dr. W. R. Copeland of the board of Agriculture will be in charge of the six commissioners of agriculture who will be taken from here tomorrow afternoon to Blitmore farm at Asheville. They will stop at Greensboro and see a cotton mill or two, and will spend Sunday in Asheville and Monday at Blitmore as the special guests of George Wilson, member of the board of agriculture.

The corporation commission meets Sept. 5 and will take up specially the matter of classification of freight on furniture.

The attorney general informs the secretary of State that charters of private railways must be granted under the terms of the general railway charter act.

Gen. Sickle's Shirtwaists.

CHICAGO, August 30.—Gen. Daniel E. Sickle is the possessor of more shirtwaists than any devotee of the new style of male wearing apparel. He has dreams in lace and network, in mull and muslin, in silk and chevrons. With all his wealth of the new garments he is unhappy.

The General will trade the whole lot of shirtwaists, together with a choice assortment of other female finery, for his uniform as a Major-General. Somewhere a young woman is inconsolable over the loss of her summer garments and wonders what she can do with a General's outfit and an old slovenly hat.

The trunk containing the General's of ficial and extra clothing was changed by a blundering baggage-man in New York. The trunk that the General found in Chicago is so much like his own that he left it standing in his room at the Palmer House from Saturday afternoon until this morning before opening it. Then his key would not fit and a porter broke it open. It was discovered later that the trunk belonged to Miss Alice Mills of Toronto. Another address found among the garments indicated that she could be reached in care of Y. G. Maynard, 206 West Fifty-second street, New York.

Telegrams were sent to New York and Toronto notifying Miss Mills that her trunk was in Chicago and asking that if she had Gen. Sickle's trunk to express it here at once. Gen. Sickle wore his traveling costume all day, and is wondering how he will appear in the parade if he does not recover his uniform in time.

DO NOT LOOT.

Americans and Japanese Alone Refrain From Pillage, Details of the Siege.

Special to Journal.

WASHINGTON, August 31.—The details of the defense of the Peking legations are being sent in. The officers of the relieving force to Peking say that the legations could have held out much longer, had it been necessary. They say that alarmist reports were sent out.

At the legations it is said that the allied generals exaggerated, the Chinese opposition and a much smaller army could have made a march weeks sooner.

Looting in Peking proceeds unceasingly. The Americans and Japanese are taking no part. The other allies ridicule the abstention from looting of the American and Japanese troops.

The Boxers are now fighting the Chinese troops. They have besieged Pao Ting Fu. The Chinese at one place invited the Boxers to a feast and while they were eating they were all massacred.

The situation at Amoy is serious. The natives are fleeing in a panic. The Chinese burned the Japanese temple at Formosa and Japanese troops have been sent there.
