NO WORK BEGUN.

Miners Afraid Of Threats Of Rioting.

Switchmen in Coal District Threaten To Strike. Workmen Protested By Soldiers. Miners Intimidated From Working.

Special to Journal.
SHEMANGO, Pa., Sept. 24.—Whistles of all the collieries blew this morning, but few miners responded.

None of the collieries could start. Everything in the valley is quiet tonight. The miners were either afraid of the threats of the Slava to resume rioting, or else disliked to be escorted to their work by soldiers.

The switchmen in the coal mining district threaten to strike, probably Wednesday.

The strikers attacked the Preston colliery, and troops were rushed there to protect it.

The Pennsylvania and Reading collieries are working under military protection.

Troops are moving in all directions. Bands of strikers marched out to intercept the miners who wanted to work.

The troops were hurried in from all directions, and broke up the plan of the strikers.

SHEMANGO, September 23.—Father H. F. O'Reilly, of the Church of the Assumption, created some excitement in his congregation by preaching a strong sermon condemning the strike and urging the miners to go back to their work.

Several miners' meetings have been held in this vicinity. Two were called by non-union men. They were promptly stamped and broken up by the strikers.

George Harris, national organizer of the United Miners, was the principal speaker at a big meeting held in the afternoon. He spoke in English and an interpreter stood by him and translated his sentences for the benefit of the audience.

He advised the men to remain away from the mines and to commit no depredations. "Victory is ours," he said "if you refrain from violence."

The leaders of the strikers will put their power to a test to-morrow morning, when strikers will picket every road leading to a mine to try to stop men from working. The instructions are to avoid violence and unruly demonstrations.

The mining operators will attempt to open several collieries that have been closed by the strikers, relying upon the presence of troops to prevent further trouble. Superintendent Boyd, of the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron Company's properties here, makes the positive announcement that he will start work in the morning, even if but one man applies to him. He says the miners who wish to work and will work will receive ample protection.

Banks Open On Sunday.

GALVESTON, Texas, September 23.—Two of the city banks were opened today, cashing scrip for city laborers employed in cleaning street wreckage.

The transportation committee has been advised that the railroad lines leading out of Houston will honor no more requests for free transportation.

The plan to erect homes for those who lost everything by the storm, so earnestly advocated by Miss Barton, of the Red Cross Society, is meeting with encouragement. A large fund is to be raised for this purpose, to be disbursed by direction of Miss Barton. Five hundred and seventy-six persons were treated at the Emergency Hospital during the day. Many serious cases are reported, and several deaths are likely to result.

Mrs. Massey, third vice-president and counselor of the American National Red Cross Society, has returned to Washington, having spent a week here with Miss Clara Barton. Mrs. Massey thinks Galveston will need at least $5,000,000, and so stated in a recent address to the people of the country. Miss Barton plans to stay here several weeks longer.
