HOPE FROM LUZON.

In this holiday season of "peace on earth," while an American army is engaged in the Philippines, and affairs there are not as bright as could be wished, it will be well to seek for some grain of comfort from that distant scene.

The following letter published in The Outlook from Lt. Col. James Parker, in command in southeastern Luzon will give encourgement to those who hope for the best and believe that all things work together for good.

"In one of the schools I have estab lished here the children, taught two hours daily by a soldier, orally. (for I have no books.) have learned in six weeks over 500 English words, and can even sustain a short conversation, their accent being clear and distinct. Nowadays, as I ride about my province I am saluted at every door by little childish voices piping up, "Good morning Colonel." I stop and speak with them in English. They answer me proudly from their little store of newly acquired knowledge, and as I ride away they always cry out, "Good-bye, Colonel." The boys are all our friends. They play with the soldiers and talk to them. There is no use for Spanish here any longer Only those who received an nnusual education can talk and read Spanish. The children should be taught from English school books, and well taught. A knowledge of "Americano" will make them quickly Americans.

Things are gradually progressing here We hav Mayors and police in all the towns of the province, and schools, I detail a sol tier to teach English in each school, and the children are making great progress. On account of the con fusion of dialects, Bicol, Visayan, Holan and Tagai the textbooks have always been Spanish. I trust that the commission will not allow this system to be perpetuated. I propose that in the schools of this district the children shall learn geography, history, and arithmetic in English, as they desire to do. The difficulty is textbooks. If I only could get a lot of illustrated American primers! It is a glorious opportunity. By teaching these children to read English in five years there will be a new generation coming to the front that will read American newspapers, appreciate American manufactures, have new wants, be civiized Knowing the uses of things, they will want them. They will no longer be content with a hut without furniture and a pound of rice a day. They will want money to buy the things they need and will be willing to work for it. It is labor that will make these islands enormously productive. I wish I had the primers."

oy local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an infismed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and pniess the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous sur-

Solid Beer.

One of the recent investions tried on the British soldiers in South Africa is called "splid beer." It is a jelly made from malt and hops, from which beer can be made made anywhere and fermented. It is said to make excellent beer and to work equally well in hot or cold climates, the process being very simple. The military authorities have reported favorably upon it.

JOYS OF APPLE PIE. Other Pies Have Their Season, bu

Apple Is Standard. "But apples! You take," says Harvey Sutherland in Ainslee's, "good, sharp, juicy winter apples and pare them and quarter and core them and slice them and strew them on the well worked and well shortened under crust, made out of good winter wheat flour, and put in a little sweet butter and just enough sugar and a clove or two and nutmeg and cin-namon and maybe a little lemon peel, and then fix on the cover and take a case knife and trim off the superfluous dough around the rim, and pinch up the edge with your thumb and finger all around to make it look pretty, and gash the top something like a leaf, so as to let out the steam, and then set it in an oven that bakes just right, top and bottom, and let is stay there till it browns the right shade, and I tell you you've got a pie that is a pie. And when ma opens the oven door to see how it is getting along there is such a nice smell all through the house—wait a second till I swallow; I'm most choked-and it seems as if you just girl, do you think that it could be done ouldn't wait till dinner time con Oh, yes, I guess warm apple pie is about on little stickers in it. "Apple pie is always in style. Go into a restaurant and ask for a 'cut of stand-ard,' and the waiter will bring you a piece of apple pie. He knows what stand ard pie is. There are times in the year when other kinds make a spurt and run on ahead a little, but apple pie keeps jog-ging on, and by and by it overtakes them. In December mince pie is in the lead because it is near Christmas, and that is orthodox Christmas article of diet In November pumpkin pie has the call because it is Thanksgiving time. In the spring when pieplant comes in—some pee-ple call it rhubarb, but that always sounds stuck up and as if you were trying to show off—everybody will eat pieplant because it is good for the blood. In the summer peach pie will forge away to the front, and I'll never tell you why. But, just as I say, apple pie keeps jogging on and in the long run wins the race. I mean the right kind of an apple pie.

right. And cold apple pie can be got down, especially if there is a piece of cheese on the plate beside it, the kind of cheese that is all crumbly and has about

"Once in awhile you will meet some-ody that is always trying to be different from anybody else, and he will go on about English deep apple pie and how much superior it is to the common, vulgar thing we cat because we don't know any better. Well, English deep apple pie is good. I don't deny that. It can't help being good. You cook apples almost any way, and they're not bad cating; but, law me, when you put them in a crock and turn a little cup upside down in the middle of them and cover it all over with a lid of pastry, that isn't a pie at all. It's just stewed apples. Don't you see that you must have a bottom of pastry and that there is a just proportion of crust to filling that must not be deviated from one iota, or your pie is inartistic

Prison Breaking. The gift of prison breaking is the rarest of human gifts. Jack Sheppard, for instance, was born with the genius of escape, and it is unlikely that the best instruction would have improved his genius. The handcuffs which could inclose his wrists were never forged, no wall was ever built that he, stripling as be was, could not batter down, and the barest cell his guardians could prepare always contained whatever materials were needed for his escape. Latude, whose supposed persecution was a support to the French revolution. ssessed Jack Sheppard's talent in a less degree. It was rather coolness than in genuity which enabled him to escape the restraints imposed by a severe govern-ment, and the famous rope ladder was not all of his own making.

The worst is that, pretty as the gift is, few men of distinction have the opportunity of exercising it. The prison breaker too often blushes unseen because there are no walls for him to scale.-Spectator

Where to Be Good.

It was a Payne avenue car, rather crowded, too, on Sunday night. In one corner sat two little urchins, taking up as little room as possible. Indeed they eccupied about as much room as one adult. The boys were evidently of the class which run about the street on weekdays in bare feet. They could not, how-ever, be included in the "bad boy" class. They were evidently not used to sitting quietly and orderly and fidgeted about in real distress. Their eyes roamed from the floor to the people and back to the floor again. Finally one said to the other in a confiding whisper, "Gee, but ye have to be good in a car, don't ye?"-Cleveland Plain Dealer.
