Wine of Cardui not only cures but it acts AT ONCE. Here is a case of ten years' standing, and yet one single dose made the sufferer feel better, and stopped the pain. The Wine goes straight to the seat of the trouble. It acts directly upon the menstrual and genital organs. Its action is not violent, and it does not force a result. It simply gives Nature that little assistance that the sufferer's system lacks. A single disorder in the feminine organs spreads many disorders all over the body, and when the Wine cures the source, all the other ills vanish as a matter of course. A woman can be her own physician and cure herself at home. Local examinations are largely things of the Wine of Cardui not only cures but it acts AT ONCE. Here is a case get married. Ask a Bavarian, and he will tell you that it is impossible for a portionless maiden to find a busband. If a girl has no money for a dowry, therefore, she sets herself at work to save one.

Marriage in Germany is nearly enties she has for getting acquainted with her husband before marriage are very meager.

The parental supervision is so inbred in the nation that even the government takes a hand in it with its servants. A German army officer is a splendid creature to the eye, but his pay is very small ranging from a matter of $5 a week for a lieutenant to $50 a week for a full fledged general. In order to prevent the possibility of seediness in appearance or style of living the government forbids an officer to marry unless he deposits a certain sum-it is $20,000 for a lieutenant and becomes gradually less for each higher gradewith the authorities, the income of which is doled out to him semiannually. This is in reality putting a price on the man, because the greater number of German officers are very poor and can get the money required only from

The money which a wife brings to her husband, unless there is an express notarial stipulation to the contrary, becomes absolutely the husband's proper ty. Woman in the eye of the law has practically no rights except such as her husband may allow her. He treats her very often as merely a piece of live stock. If the woman rebels, which she does very rarely, he displays a very short temper and an aptness for wielding a poker or a walking stick in a use for which they were never meant.

In a German newspaper one may always find a column devoted to matrimonial announcements. There is no romance in these advertisements. The man tells how much money he has and how much he wants. The woman names her dowry to the very pfenulg. Very often the man has no money at all and expresses his desire to marry into a business, but the woman knows that it is useless to advertise at all unless she has some money, if it amounts only to $100 or so, which may be regarded as the lowest sum worthy of consideration as a mitgift.

On the other hand, It is the woman's privilege to name the calling which she prefers the man should follow. She usually chooses an official clerk or porter, a policeman or a car conductor, all of whom have tenure of office and an old age pension. She has more of an eye to stability than to ambition.

It is in the so called higher classes of society that one finds the baldest and most businessilke matrimoulal transactions. There are few young men of this class who have either money or rospect of making any otherwise than by a wealthy marriage. When they inherit fortunes, it is the fashion to dissipate them, and when they don't inherit it is against the prejudices of their education and training to seek employment or to engage in any kind Therefore most of them enter the ar my while waiting for a rich bride. Daughters of rich brewers and merchants are acceptable to these gentle men, but their great and persistent dream is to capture an American beireas. They confess the matter frankly to any one and every one who will its so plentiful in Germany as in France and Italy; still, they are to be found It would seem, however, that notwithstanding the fact that German titles are at least a little more valuable than those of the Latin countries they do not possess the same glamour in feminine eyes, because the German title captures the American bag of gold comparatively rarely. Perhaps it is be cause the Teutonic woolng is more ar rogant and supercilious than insinuatmaking landings at Oriental, Roanove

Of all countries Germany is perhaps that in which romanticism flourishes most. It is instinct in its traditions, in its history and its literature. Yet in the affairs of daily life and pre-emineptly in its matrimonial affairs militarism rises to the plane of worship.-

A Blind Sale. An exchange tells of a povel plan adopted by an English bostess to secure funds for a charity in which she was interested. She gave a dance, in-treducing in the cotilion an auction figure. In this the favors were for sale. A table was spread with them, from which selections were made. After the choice the purchaser found the price affixed on the reverse side.
