MRS. CAROLINE BYANS.

It is a mistake to take any and every kind of medicine when you are sick. There is danger in it. Most of the so-called cures for "female weakness" do nothing more than deaden the pain temporarily, and when the effect wears away the patient is weaker and sicker than before. It is never wise to take chances. You have only one life, and that is dear and precious. If you have any pain, ache, disorder or weakness in the feminine organs, nothing will help you like Wine of Cardui. It helps do away with morning sickness during the early stages of pregnancy, and modifies the pains of childbirth; recovery is rapid and future health is assured. The Wine is purely vegetable, being made of herbs whose medicinal properties act directly upon the organs of womanhood. It is a long-tried remedy, and has a language of changes one.

dition is it in for the coming spring, and summer? With the riding season or 1901 but a few weeks away the question is an opportune one. To many riders possessed of long pocket-books the condition of their 1800 mounts or the attention they may or may not have received alnce the holl-days of the old year pressinged the com-log of 1801 makes no material difference. The old mount was only intended for one year's service in any event

MECHANISM OF A CHAINLESS BY other hands and afford unfold enjoyment for another year or more, Its owner has selected if indeed he has not already given an order for a new year's model, just as he has been in the habit of taking it for granted that his tallor will supply him with a new wardrobe as the old goes out of style

To the rider of slender purse, however, the question is a timely one. If he has stowed his wheel away in the cellar to fill up with furnace dust, mayhap to receive the drippings from sweating waste or water pipes, he will find just about now a fit subject for the scrap heap and will without question need a brand new mount for the present year.

The percentage of riders who take even ordinary care of their wheels during the winter months is small Garelessness is certainly a predominating characteristic in the human family, and the fact that nine times out of ten they are compelled to pay dearly for their fault seems to leave no salutary effects. How many riders are there who, when the air becomes chill and the roads frozen, give their blcycles a thorough coating of vaseline, shelter them with a canvas cover and store them carefully in some dry wholesome corner, there to remain until the ensuing season shall call them forth again. In this respect there are few Solomons and equally few wise virgins in the ranks of cyclists. -Neglect, dust and dampness work destruction oftener than not, and the life of many a high grade wheel has been shortened by neglect and misuse rather than by judicious use and actual wear and tear.

Bicycles, like men and horses, suffer from neglect and abuse, only they suffer to a greater extent because their nickeled and enameled parts possess po recuperative powers and are dependent for their life and condition upon the care and attention they receive from others.

Favorite For the Berby.

Volodyovski, favorite for the English Derby, holds the center of the turf world at present. He is the most talked about and sought after horse on both continents. Recently he was the bone of contention between Lady William Beresford and Lady Meux. To settle the question to whom the colt would race for this season the case was taken into the English courts. Happily the trouble was adjusted satisfacto rily, and he will go back again to Lady Meux, who leased him to Lord William

T. Weldon was Lord Bereaford's jockey for the high weights. He lost on Volodyovski three times and then won. It was common report at the time that the stable was dissatisfied with the way he rode the colt. Soon after Weldon was discharged. The Belff brothers, Lester and Johany, then had the leg up, and they won four times out of five efforts. Lester Reiff while here this winter expressed the opinion that Yolodyovski was the best colt in England.

Marlowe's Betrousse Noss, "When I was a little girl," said Julia Marlowe, "my greatest regret and anxlety was my retrousse nose. I was in the habit of stating to my family that I should some day become a great tragedlenne. This amused them not a little, for neither they nor I knew anything of the stage or of actresses. The idea was plainly my own, but the family laughed at me and assured me that such a thing as a tragedienne with a pug nose had never been heard of. I was impressed with the statement, and it occurred to me that the nose might be remedied. So I sought our family physician and confided my troubles to bim and begged him to operate on the offending member. He was vastly amused, but reassured me on the subject of noses. For years I was troubled with the idea, but I have lived to discover that even a nose is not a barrier to success."

Turkey Droves In Athens The turkey merchant is the most wonderful of street venders. He areives with 200 or 300 birds, which he drives about town for a week or two elling them one by one. He is armed with a long pole, with which he touches up lazy or quarrelsome birds. They gobble continuously, and he shouts above the din, "Gallous, gallapoula, gallopules!" ("Turkey cocks, little tur keys. little hen turkeys!") When one drove meets another face to face or at right angles, they pass through with out confusion, and no bird changes masters.-Scribner's Magazine.

CANCER

Sufferers from this herrible malady nearly always inlierit it—not necessarily from the parents, but may be from some remote ancestor, for Cancer often runs through several generations. This deadly poison may lay dormant in the blood for years, or until you reach middle life, then the first little sore or ulcer makes its appearance—or a swollen gland in the breast, or some other part of the body, gives the first warning.

To cure Cancer thoroughly and permanently all the poisonous virus must be sliminated from the blood—every vestage of it driven out. This 8, 8, 8, does, and a the only medicine that can reach deep-seated, obstinate blood troubles like this. When all the poison has been forced out
