A TEST OF THE ANTI-TRUST SENTIMENT.

The discovery and development of the Texas oil fields, adds to the great financial results...

This feature is whether the Texans will yield to the inducements of the Standard Oil Trust...

In other words, the question with those outside of Texas is, will the Texans throw away their anti-trust sentiment...

This oil field discovery is going to be the opportunity to prove whether the fierce anti-trust sentiment...

As a comparatively new section in its development, it was natural that Texas should be hostile to trusts...

The result of this sentiment was the strong anti-trust laws and the prohibition which states against trusts...

But with this oil discovery, comes the real and practical test, to try the people and prove how truthful and sincere their anti-trust feeling may be.

The older and richer sections of the country have had to combat with the Standard Oil Trust and have fallen.

But Texas is a young state, and with the enthusiasm of youth ought to be strong enough to sustain its principles...

If Texas can prove true in its anti-trust belief, and prove the sincerity of its convictions by preventing the Standard Oil Company from getting control...

With this state independent and producing a quantity of oil, the Standard Oil Trust would be weakened in its present monopoly of the oil business...

The test is before the State of Texas and its people. Will they prove strong enough to stand the test successfully, is the question.

FINE ARBOREAL REFUGE

Plan of Park to Hide Carnegie's New York Mansion.

MANY BIG TREES TRANSPLANTED.

Some Are Old Timers From New Era Sheds, and One Will Shade a Thirty Foot Circle of Grand-Old Sugar Maple For a "Succulent Sea."

When Andrew Carnegie was planning his new mansion on the highlands of Fifth Avenue in New York with his architect, he insisted that he wanted not a garden, but a park...

Trees that were 5 years old when planted 20 years ago are being transplanted to the Carnegie ground at Fifth Avenue and Ninetieth Street...

The grove is thickest near the east wall of the ground. There will be a row of trees along the south wall near the Ninetieth Street sidewalk...

"I'm Simply all Worn Out."

Overworked Women.

Fatigue is the natural result of hard work, but exhaustion results from weakness. Hard work for a weak woman is traffic in flesh and blood.

It makes little difference what the field of work is, whether at home or elsewhere, if there is weakness, work brings exhaustion.

Ability to stand the strain of hard work is the privilege of the healthy and robust. How our hearts ache for the sickly women that work for daily bread at some ill-paid factory employment!

How distressing also to see a woman struggling with her daily round of household duties, when her back and head are aching, and every new movement brings out a new pain!

If the mere looking on at these suffering women touches our hearts, how hopeless must life be to the women themselves!

Their devotion to duty is a heroism which a well person cannot understand. Can these ailing, weak women, who are called upon to do work which would tire a strong man, be made to see that they can easily and surely better their condition!

Will not the volumes of letters from women made strong by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, convince them of the virtues of this medicine?

How shall the FACT that it WILL HELP THEM be made plain? When a medicine has been successful in more than a million cases, is it justice to yourself to say, without trying it, "I do not believe it would help me?"

Surely you cannot wish to remain weak and sick and discouraged, exhausted with each day's work. You have some derangement of the feminine organism, and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you just as surely as it has others.

Read the letters from women in the opposite column of this paper, and when you go to your drug store to buy this starting medicine, do not let yourself be persuaded to accept the druggist's own valueless preparation because it is a few cents cheaper than

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Evidence of Mrs. Pinkham's Cures.

DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—One year ago I read a letter in a paper telling how much good one woman had derived from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I had been sick all winter...

DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—I wish to let you know that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has cured me of painful menstruation from which I suffered terribly. I really believe that I would be unable to-day if it had not been for your medicine...

DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—For eight years I have suffered with inflammation of the womb and bleeding, profuse and painful menstruation, and at times it seemed as though I should die. I dooped most of the time, but seemed to fall every year. A short time ago I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and thanks to your wonderful medicine, I am to-day a well woman. Your medicine is a woman's best friend.

DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—I write this letter for you to publish for the benefit of poor, suffering women. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done me a great deal of good. I have taken three bottles and feel like a new woman. When I began the use of your medicine I was hardly able to be up, could not do half a day's work, my head and stomach was out of order. Now all of these troubles have left me and I can work every day in the week and not feel tired.

DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—I was sick seven years without any relief, although I was treated by two of the very best doctors in this city. A few years ago I was nothing but a nervous wreck. The doctor said my heart was the cause of all my sickness and that I could never be relieved, but never got well. Sometime ago I would get so exhausted and short of breath that I would not know what to do. My heart was very weak, blood impure. Was to be sick with nervous and faint spellings also had nervousness. I have taken six bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and feel well now.
