Our merchants are displaying their attractive spring goods, and our farmers are pushing abead with their work, planting as fast as the condition of the weather will permit. There is thuch omplaint among the farmers, owing to WHEATthe poor come up of dorn and many think they will have to plow up and replant. Not much cotton planted yet, but if the weather keeps fair there will be an over abundance seeded during this week. What can we expect when we are trying to make 24 or 3 million of surplus bales? Is the outlook not for 5 cts. per lb? We can but hope for the best, for when the farmer is prosperous in the same proportion is every other interest in a community prosperous.
