INSECTS AS FACTORS IN DISEASE CONVEYANCE.

It has been only a comparatively short time since serious study has been made on the subject of insects as factors in conveying germs of disease, breeding pestilence and bringing ruin to towns and cities.

Today this conveyance of disease has become so well authenticated, that this government directs its health officers to give serious attention to the matter.

No longer does the doubt exist, that through the mosquito, malarial disease is carried; the infection of typhoid fever, and to a certain extent cholera, may be conveyed from the excreta by flies to persons, while a high authority claims that the plague is transmitted from the rat to man by the flea.

The recent army experiments with the mosquito as a conveyor of yellow fever germs is now well known everywhere.

And while the government health officers, and the city health board may observe with all due care this conveyance of disease by insects, it is the duty of every citizen, every house holder to give this subject careful study, and see if their premises are properly protected, by being cleanly kept and well ventilated.

It is well to know that the stagnant pool, the water barrel, the disused and even the used cistern, are all as dangerous to personal and public health, as the refuse pile or the garbage barrel.

They are each and every one breeding places of diseases, from which the insect bears the germs to fasten them upon some human being, causing sickness and death.

One ounce of petroleum, the cheapest kind of crude product, will kill all possibility of mosquitoes breeding in still water for a space of fifteen feet square, and a single application is said to last for one month.

How many ounces and how great would be the cost for this petroleum to be applied to pools, rain barrels and cisterns in this vicinity? And how great the personal benefit it is impossible to estimate.

This conveyance of disease by insects is far beyond the experimental stage, it is an assured fact, and there is no excuse for health authorities to be ignorant on the subject.

The day is past when a health officer's duty began when a nuisance became so violent as to call public attention for its abating, for in this age it is the duty of the authorities to see to it that there shall be no nuisance in the first place.

And without the first stages of the nuisances, there need be no insects bearing the germs of disease to be fastened upon human beings.

During last May an infant child of our neighbor was suffering from cholera infantum. The doctors had given up all hopes of recovery. I took a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy to the house, telling them I felt sure it would do good if used according to directions. In two days time the child had fully recovered. The child is now vigorous and healthy. I have recommended this remedy frequently and have never known it to fail.—MRS. CURTIS BAGBY, Bookwalter, Ohio. Diplomacy a Fine Art.

Diplomacy is a fine art, and in its successful practice much depends upon the observation of social conventions. Some of the most successful diplomats seem to spend most of their time at dinners and parties, apparently doing nothing but enjoying themselves, but in reality serving well their countries. In truth, the reputation of a country at a foreign court and oftttimes its welfare in important issues depend very largely upon the social abilities of its minister, for the man who is popular socially is very likely to drive a better international bargain than his unsociable brother. This is well understood at Washington, and the selection of a chief for one of our foreign embassies depends in no small part upon his social culture.—Edward Page Gaston in Woman's Home Companion.

Fire at Charlestown.

Boston, July 1—Fire was discovered in the Hoosatanic tunnel docks Charlestown this morning, and within a few minutes piers three, four and five were burning. The steamer Sachem caught fire but was towed to midstream and saved. An explosion of shallac caused the start. The loss is a quarter of a million.

Americans Caught Looting.

Pekin, July 1—Five men calling themselves Americans were captured by Chinese troops in a town fifty miles from Pekin to day and turned over to Major Robertson, Commander of the United States Legation guard. The men were caught in the act of looting, being ignorant of the presence of Chinese troops in the town. Many shots were fired before the men surrendered.

The Best Remedy for Stomach and Bowel Troubles.

"I have been in the drug business for twenty years and have sold most all of the proprietary medicines of any note. Among the entire list I have never found anything to equal Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for all stomach and bowel troubles," says O. W. Wakefield, of Columbus, Ga. "This remedy cured two severe cases of cholera morbus in my family and I have recommended and sold hundreds of bottles of it to my customers to their entire satisfaction. It affords a quick and sure cure in a pleasant form." For sale by F. S. Duffy & Co.

Fearful Heat in New York.

New York, July 1—Seventeen deaths are reported from heat this morning. This is the hottest first of July on record. The prostrations are growing to be frightful. The thermometer is almost one hundred at one o'clock. No relief is expected for several days. The total deaths the past four days due to heat has been fifty-three.

Heartburn.

When the quantity of food taken is too large or the quality too rich heartburn is likely to follow, and especially so if the digestion has been weakened by constipation. Eat slowly and not too freely of easily digested food. Masticate the food thoroughly. Let six hours elapse between meals and when you feel a fullness and weight in the region of the stomach after eating, indicating that you have eaten too much, take one of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets and the heartburn may be avoided. For sale by F. S. Duffy & Co.

A Newspaper Strike.

New York, July 1—The uprising of the owners of the New York Commercial against labor unions Saturday night has thus far done that paper no harm. Non-union men are now established in the office and appear able to handle the work satisfactorily.

I have found Dr. Moffett's TEETHINA a splendid remedy and aid for my teething children. When my eldest boy was a teething child, every succeeding day warned us that we would inevitably lose him. I happened upon TEETHINA, and began at once administering it to him, and his improvement was marked in 24 hours and from that day on he recuperated. I have constantly kept it and used it since with my children, and have taken great pleasure in sounding its praises to all mothers of young children. I found it invaluable even after the teething period was passed. MRS. D. H. HARDY.

THE YOUNG GAMBLER.

He Had an Even Chance, but Fate Was Against Him.

I remember one handsome young fellow whom I used to meet occasionally on the staircase who captured my youthful fancy. I met him only at midday, as he did not rise till late, and this fact, with a certain scrupulous elegance and neatness in his dress, ought to have made me suspect that he was a gambler. In my inexperience it only invested him with a certain romantic mystery.

One morning as I was going out to my very early breakfast at a cheap Italian cafe on Long wharf I was surprised to find him also descending the stairs. He was scrupulously dressed even at that early hour, but I was struck by the fact that he was all in black, and his slight figure, buttoned to the throat in a tightly fitting frock coat, gave, I fancied, a singular melancholy to his pale southern face.

Nevertheless he greeted me with more than his usual serene cordiality, and I remembered that he looked up with a half puzzled, half amused expression at the rosy morning sky as he walked a few steps with me down the deserted street. I could not help saying that I was astonished to see him up so early, and he admitted that it was a break in his usual habits, but added, with a smiling significance I afterward remembered, that it was "an even chance if he did it again."

As we neared the street corner a man in a buggy drove up impatiently. In spite of the driver's evident haste my handsome acquaintance got in leisurely and, lifting his glossy hat to me with a pleasant smile, was driven away. I have a very lasting recollection of his face and figure as the buggy disappeared down the empty street. I never saw him again. It was not until a week later that I knew that an hour after he left me that morning he was lying dead in a little hollow behind the Mission Dolores, shot through the heart in a duel for which he had arisen so early.—Bret Harte's "Under the Redwoods."

A Weekly Newspaper and an Illustrated Magazine in one. Tells the story of world-happenings every week in brief, clear-cut paragraphs. Lyman Abbott is the Editor-in-chief, and Hamilton W. Mabie the Associate Editor.

JACOB A. RIIS

The author of "How the Other Half Lives" will give in THE OUTLOOK an intensely human and vivid account of his experiences as a child in Denmark, an immigrant in America, a workman, a traveller, a reporter, and finally a student of tenement house problems, and an efficient aid to Theodore Roosevelt in reorganizing the New York police. Mr. Riis writes with simplicity, humor and vigor.

RALPH CONNOR

Under this pseudonym were written two of the most striking of recent novels, "Black Rock" and "The Sky Pilot." A new novel of Canadian and Western life by this author will appear in THE OUTLOOK during the year. In spirit, humor, pathos and strong character-drawing it is even superior to its predecessors.

LYMAN ABBOTT

will contribute a series of important papers on fundamental political principles as applied to twentieth century problems. It will be called "THE RIGHTS OF MAN," and will define industrial, educational and religious as well as political, rights and duties.
