LEAVING OFF THE WORRY PART.

There are numerous occasions during the summer months and every real trouble can be more than triply remedied by worrying over it.

It is a state, and generally a worrisome condition, that of having "doubt" worry about it, yet this advice can be given without any idea except that of giving positive comfort in its acceptance.

No doubt the day's heat is somewhat too hot for you, yet no aggravation need be aroused by this situation, rather there is the humorous reply, which leaves both sides in better humor.

It is the weather grumbler who aggravates this topic of conversation, and makes it funny and bordering on the liloic.

There is a weather philosophy which can be cultivated, and as Becky Sharp said, "we never get what we want, or want what we get," so what is the use of treating our good natures harshly by worrying about something that will not please, no matter in what shape it comes, hot or cold, rain or shine.

There is no good reason why the weather as a topic of conversation should be barred. For all ages it has served its good purpose in this respect and only in its foolish stage can it be named as beyond good taste, and its mention be worthy of social ostracism.

Naturally there must be cracks on "weather bureau weather," who will pore over the daily record, and compare day with every day of the same date for years past.

And then there is the daily forecast of weather which serves its purpose with those who must have each forecast come out correctly, or else there will be an unlimited amount of worry, largely coverational and visited upon innocent persons.

But through it all the weather, per se, should not worry any person, needlessly. There must be the physical discomforts due to extremes of temperature, and yet there is no need of worrying over these, but simply exercising care, when the changes of weather may be met and not prove of any positive discomfort, or cause of worry.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dread disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Cancer. It is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Cancer being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Cancer Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and restoring nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in the curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 7c.

FOR THE CHILDREN

One of our commonest and most distressing insects is the thread waisted wasp, which builds its mud nests which are so numerous in old outbuildings. The children usually call these insects "mud daubers." It is intensely interesting to watch these light, slender bodied wasps busy with their masonry. The mud of which their nests is composed is often carried for some distance, as it is essential for them to use good, stiff clay. At the edge of some pond or stream you may see three insects crawling about, continually twitching their glossy wings, their black backs showing a fine steel blue in the strong summer sunlight. Some of them are nearly standing on their heads as they roll sticky little balls out of the mud and with their heavy jaws. With this heavy load of mud they rise aloft, and, having gained some height, they get their bearings and fly in a straight line to their nest. In this they resemble the bees. Indeed all the wasps and bees seem to have a wonderful faculty for flying directly home from any point. The expression "making a bee line" is derived from this habit of the bees and their close kindred.

When the wasp has gained the place it has selected for a building site, she puts the tiny ball of mud against the wall of the building and rubs it tight, the entering her head from side to side very rapidly. When doing this, the insect makes a low, rapid, buzzing sound. This operation is probably performed to insure the proper texture for the mud, just as we work the clay with a big wheel when making bricks. The outer surface of the nest shows a series of rings with sharply defined lines between most of them, but the interior is always extremely smooth and almost a perfect cylinder. While building her nest the insect is very careful and continually runs in and out of the tiny cylinder, examining it minutely with her "feelers." If a rough place is felt on the inner surface, she carefully fattens it out and rubs it smooth. When the cylinder is finished, the wasp goes hunting for spiders.

They Struck it Rich. It was a grand thing for this community that such an enterprising firm as O. D. Bradham secured the Agency for Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, the wonderful remedy that has startled the world by its marvellous cures. The favor of enthusiasm over it has boomed their business, and the demand for it is immense. They give free trial bottles to sufferers, and positively guarantee it to cure Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Asthma, Croup, and all Throat and Lung Troubles. A trial proves its merit. 1 Price 50c and $1.00.

Newly Discovered Bird Mystery. M. H. Coupin, a well known naturalist, tells some curious stories in regard to the ability which certain birds possess of imitating the sounds made by other animals, as recently discovered by him.

He says that one of the most remarkable instances of this kind that ever came under his observation was that of a sparrow which imitated the strident plaint of a grasshopper. The cage containing the sparrow was hung during one spring beside another cage in which were grasshoppers. At that time the bird took no notice of his neighbors, but next year, when he was again in the same society, he made several attempts to sing like the grasshoppers, and for the rest of his life, long after the grasshoppers were dead, he was wont at times to utter a sort of polyglot strain, partly made up of the notes of grasshoppers and partly of the notes of other birds.

M. Coupin also says that young linnets will sometimes learn the song of the nightingale instead of their own and that there are several kinds of birds in Thuringia which sing much better than the members of their own species which dwell in the Harz mountains.

My baby was terribly sick with the diarrhoea," says J. H. Doak, of Willams, Oregon. "We were unable to cure him with the doctor's assistance, and as a last resort we tried Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I am happy to say it gave immediate relief and a complete cure." For sale by F. S. Duffy & Co.

The Lorrillard Estate. New York, August 5.—Mrs. Lillian B. Allen has agreed to surrender to the Lorrillard heirs her rights in the famous breeding farm known as the Pierre Lorrillard for a large money consideration.

CASTORIA. The Best Family Remedy. Just Like a Woman. The flames were raging on all sides, and we implored the woman in the twelfth story to jump for her life. "Where?" she shouted through a megaphone. "In the street," she shouted. "No," she calmly answered. "I must die by the heat. I prefer to die in my own domicile." There was some sense in this, we thought, for the reporter on our right had filled his notebook and was making notes of bad prostrations on his pink card.—Indianapolis Sun.

A Minister's Good Work. "I had a severe attack of Malaria, colic, got a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, took two doses and was entirely cured," says Rev. A. A. Towse, of Emporia, Kan. "My neighbor across the street was sick for over a week, had two or three bottles of medicine from the doctor. He used them for three or four days without relief, then called in another doctor who treated him for some days and gave him no relief, so discharged him. I went over to see him the next morning. He said his bowels were in a terrible state, that they had been running off so long that it was almost bloody. I asked him if he had tried Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and he said 'No.' I went home and brought him my bottle and gave him one dose. I told him to take another dose in three or twenty minutes if he did not feel better, but he took no more and was entirely cured." For sale by F. S. Duffy & Co.

WHIPPY OF SAVAGES.

Mr. John Lovell's Peace in Greenough. Arthur Bidder the Canadian. An evidence of the extent to which the ornamental proceeds the useful. Explorer Humboldt noted the fact that the Orinoco Indians in fair weather started about at five in the forenoon. They were able to procure their food so readily, their heads decked with feathers, their whole aim being to strike astonishment to the beholder and no regard whatever had for comfort.

When the weather was bad, Humboldt found that the same men would doff their clothing and carry it about to save it for display on future sunny days.

The same traits are seen today in the North American Indians, little modified by many years of intermingling with civilization.

That part of Pennsylvania avenue, Washington, running from Second to Sixth street, is the favorite promenade of visiting Indians. Portions of Second and Third streets, running off the avenue, are filled with boarding houses especially patronized by the redskins and especially avoided by the whites in consequence.

A number of photographers in the vicinity are the chief attractions of the neighborhood for the aborigines. Nothing so delights them as to strut gravely from their boarding houses to these art galleries to sit for solemn pictures at Uncle Sam's expense, the bill being charged in with necessary incidental to a visit to the great father.

To deprive the visiting Indian of the privilege to sit for his photograph in full paint and feathers, a grovesque mixture of cheap ready-made garments with blankets and bear claws would be the greatest hardship possible to the chieftains.

Showing the same disposition Humboldt noted, the visitors get themselves up more barbarously the closer they get to civilization.—St. Louis Republic.

ASTONISHED THE EDITOR. Editor S. A. Brown, of Bennettsville, S. C., was once immensely surprised. "Through long suffering from Dyspepsia," he writes, "my wife was greatly run down. She had no strength or vigor and suffered great distress from her stomach, but she tried Electric Bitters which helped her at once, and after using four bottles, she is entirely well, can eat anything. It's a grand tonic, and its gentle laxative qualities are splendid for torpid liver." For Indigestion, Loss of Appetite, Stomach and Liver troubles it's a positive, guaranteed cure. Only 50c at C. D. Bradham's drug store.
