PRESIDENT GAINS

With Improvement Surprising to Physicians.

Dressing of Wound Aids the President. Stomach Grows Accustomed to Increased Nourishment. Mrs. McKinley's Visits.

SPECIAL TO JOURNAL.

BUFFALO, Sept. 11.—The President awoke this morning, having passed a comfortable night. The dressing of the wound was followed by decided benefit to the patient, his stomach accepting without any disagreeableness the beef juice given him, it being taken with a relish. The latter report in the evening, noted that the President continued to gain, the wound exhibiting more healthy signs, while the amount of nourishment was increased as the patient's stomach became better accustomed to it.

The President's pulse has varied, ranging at about 110, with his temperature about 99.

BUFFALO, Sept. 10.—No one has yet been allowed to see him except Mrs. McKinley, Secretary Cortelyou and the physicians. Even Mrs. McKinley goes to his room only once a day, and then remains but a short time. Today she did not see the President until after returning from her usual drive, and then she sat beside his bed only a few minutes.

When Mrs. McKinley visits the President little is said by either of them. Sitting beside his bed, the devoted and courageous wife holds her husband's hand, and in silence for the most part they passed the minutes allowed them to be together.

In a few days, if the President's present convalescence continues, it will be possible for a few of his most intimate friends to see him. Mrs. McKinley will be allowed to visit him at more frequent intervals, and gradually he will be brought back into touch with the world's doings.

During the visits of Mrs. McKinley to the President's bedside there has been no discussion of the attempted assassination. Mrs. McKinley is in possession of all the facts connected with it. Soon after the President was taken from the Exposition grounds to the Milburn residence Dr. Rixey told her all about the details. The news was broken as gently as possible, but no effort was made to conceal the main facts.

The strength, courage and cheerfulness of Mrs. McKinley continue to be the marvel of those who know her best, but they have feared she would by this time break down under the strain. Yet she seems stronger and never has been more self-contained and cheerful than when she visited the President this afternoon.

BETTER FOR CROPS.

Weather Helps all Cultivated Crops. Weekly Bulletin Report.

For week ending Monday, September 9, 1901.

The weather during the week was a vast improvement over that which has prevailed during the past month. To heavy rains and deficient insolation succeeded clear days, cool nights, and abundant sunshine. The favorable conditions are shown by the beneficial effect on all classes of cultivated crops. The temperature averaged about 72° daily above the normal, while the rainfall was deficient by about 6.10 inch for the same time.

Cotton improved somewhat, but it is feared that the evil effects of previous bad weather cannot be offset. The bolls are scattering and the fields are very weedy. Plants are red and shedding is still going on. Flaking has begun to a limited extent. Corn is a fair crop on uplands. Young corn has improved and altogether the outlook is more promising. The good weather has been extremely favorable for the cutting and curing of tobacco. Almost the entire crop has been housed, the weed being bright but light. The weather has been most favorable for the saving of hay and fodder and the work has been washed. Some fodder is affected with the dry rot, but reports are generally favorable. Wheat threshing is about over. Land is being prepared for sowing as rapidly as the condition of the soil will permit. Some oats have been sown during the week. Turnips are coming up to a good stand, much is being sown. The reports concerning peaches are not altogether satisfactory, the plants in places growing too tall and not spreading out enough. Field peas are growing finely and it is said that in some localities the yield will be the finest made in years. Sweet potatoes are doing well and are most promising. Late cabbage are not plentiful. The prospects for fruit have somewhat improved.

RALEIGH.

Decrease in Number of Penitentiary Convicts.

Governor and Treasurer to Address Great Gathering. Dangerous Convict at Large. To Promote Apple Culture. Deer for Pullen.

RALEIGH, Sept. 11.—Governor Aycock and Treasurer Lacy will tomorrow address an educational rally at Rogers X Roads, in Nash County, fourteen miles from a railway. It is expected that at least 8000 people will be present.

Secretary Bruner of the agricultural department is at Buffalo, attending the annual meeting of the National Pomological Society. He is working earnestly to promote apple-growing in this State and to have the splendid fruit in the mountain counties properly gathered, packed and shipped. Photographs of fruits, admirably colored, have been made for use at the Charleston Exposition and afterwards in the State Museum here. The photographs were all taken in the Museum.

The new dormitory at the Soldiers Home is to be heated with hot air. The hospital is to be steam heated. If the State does not put in the heating plant at the hospital the North Carolina division of the Daughters of the Confederacy will do it.

Julian S. Carr has lent to the park commission here a couple of deer, which have been placed in specially prepared quarters at Pullen park. The deer are full grown and particularly fine specimens.

George Allen is elected chairman of the board of directors of the blind institution here, succeeding T. B. Womack, resigned. The new mess hall at the institution is to be completed by the end of September. The institution opens Sept. 18, and will have more pupils than ever before.

Four convicts were brought to the penitentiary yesterday from Rowan county. One of them escaped 23 years ago from a gang at work at Round Knob, when the State was building the Western Carolina railway. The arrivals of convicts are now considerably fewer than the discharges. Hence the number in the penitentiary is steadily declining. There are now only 772 State convicts, but little over half the number 14 years ago. The greatest number was 1,554.

Rev. John Huske is appointed archdeacon of this Protestant Episcopal diocese and will come here in October.

The largest excursion of the year passed here today on the Southern railway, from Charlotte to Norfolk. There were 20 cars. Of these 7 started from Charlotte, 6 were added at Salisbury and 9 at Greensboro. On the train there were 1000 people.

The negro female convict who made her escape from the penitentiary in men's clothing has not been heard from. She is from Lenoir county and will probably make her way there. She is a dangerous criminal and is used to man's clothing, which she has worn during much of her life.

When you want a pleasant physic try the new remedy, Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. They are easy to take and pleasant in effect. Price, 25 cents. Samples free at F. S. Duffy & Co's drug store.

BAYBORO.

Fall Weather. Farmers Saving Crops. Deaths. Blind Staggers Prevail. Not Running a Blockade.

September 10.—Weather cloudy, easterly winds, stormy appearance, cool nights, heavy dews, but no rains is about the only changes your reporter has to note since last report.

News is scarce. Everybody is working preparing to save what they have been fortunate enough to make. All crops will be short but possibly not so short as they seemed to be at one time, but sufficiently short to be carefully considered by all. There will be no surplus crops or money to be foolishly wasted.

The little child, son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Miller, died quite suddenly Sunday about 3 o'clock, p. m. The little fellow was several months old, and had been troubled with his bowels some little time, but nothing serious had been anticipated by the parents. A sudden change took place about 11 o'clock Sunday morning and he died about 3 p. m. We extend our sympathies to the bereaved parents and remind them that the Lord is the one to whom they must turn and look for consolation. He can and will give permanent relief, and he alone can do it.

Death entered another home here Monday morning about 7 o'clock, a. m., and claimed as his victim Mr. Johnnie Jewell, the son of Mrs. J. H. Smith, in his 20th year. Johnnie's death was not a surprise. It had been looked for hourly, and daily for months, year, for years. He had been a patient sufferer from consumption all his life. We can only say in the way of consolation to his mother, that he has gone to join his father, brother, and sister, who have gone before, victims of the same dread malady, whose sickness, sorrow, pain and death are felt and feared no more.

Johnnie was prepared to answer the summons when it came. He bore his sufferings with Christian fortitude, trusting in the power of Judah's Lion. He has gone to receive his reward—the reward of the faithful who die in Christ.

Horses continue to die with staggers or by what ever name the veterinary craft may feel disposed to call the disease, we do not know the technical name, but we know it means death in 90 cases out of a hundred, and that is not technical.

The whole people are in sorrow over the shooting of President McKinley, and the universal expression of opinion is that our legislators should pass severe and drastic laws to put down anarchism which they say is increasing at a fearful rate in this country, all of which we think is true, and right here by way of parenthesis would add, that the people themselves are responsible to no small degree for this condition of affairs. All classes of people, for while some are guilty of commissions, others are guilty of omissions. Public sentiment must be more subservient to the laws of the land must treat law with all respect and reverence, as jurors must act justly, and do justice, must convict the guilty and acquit the innocent, in both cases acting without fear, favor or partisanship; reward or hope of reward, and those entrusted with the execution of the laws should with stern justice execute them in the same manner, and lastly not by any means the least however, the people who alone have the power, should select as law makers, those who are respecters of law themselves, and not violators of law. One of the reasons that has caused the law to be violated with so much impunity, they make a law and then don't respect it, setting the example the multitude follows, and the sole power to remedy this evil is in the hands of the people and probable three-fourths of them are in some way or other violators of the law. Now what's the remedy—"Birds of a feather will flock together," there is a remedy, a plain and simple remedy.

The Kinston Free Press, brother, seems to have gone in the ring stripped to the belt, over the base ball game, and doesn't mind who gives the lie to, male or female, old or young, good, bad or indifferent. We know nothing of the matter, but from the wholesale manner in which the Free Press gives the lie, we would imagine that there were no ladies or gentlemen among the crowd that went from New Bern to witness the game, and we hardly think this can be true. Surely there must have been some people of character that went from New Bern on that occasion. If there was, then the only apology that the Free Press man could offer, would be, to insert at the head of his paper, the following in big letters, "We Are A Crank, We Don't Know What Decent Journalism Means, We Are Not Running A Decent Journal, We Are Publishing A Paper For The Roughs and Tongs Of The Country Only to Read." With this announcement no lady or gentleman could or would take offence at anything that appeared in its columns; they would consider its source.

The Board of School Directors of this county met here yesterday to consider the consolidating of two school districts the Bayboro and Stonehall districts in order that the free school might be taught at the Pamlico, Male and Female Academy in connection with that school. A petition signed by a large majority of the tax payers, and patrons of the free schools in both districts was presented to the Board asking for this, stating that by so doing the people could get a longer term of school, taught about 10 months and a better service than if taught separate, that the farther child from the academy in the consolidated district was less than one and a half miles. For some reason the school Directors refused to grant the request of petitioners. We presume they did it in the best interest of public education.

Mr. C. M. Babbitt, Deputy-Collector of Internal Revenue is down this way again. This time he is looking after the work on his new dwelling that he is having built in the town, which, when completed will add to the appearance of the city considerably. Apropos, John F. Cowell is also having him an office built which will also add to the improvement of our city.

Mr. J. F. Sawyer on whose premises a still was seized a few days ago, says it is untrue that he was running a blockade still, that he began putting up a still with the view of registering it to distill fruit, that after he began work on the still Mr. C. H. Blackman of Oriental, saw him and wanted to buy a still, that he agreed to sell it to him, and stopped work on it and it was in that condition when seized. He says that the still was within 100 yards of his house and in open view of his house, that the still had never been run by him, and that there was no mash or beer at the still and that he had no intention of running a blockade or registering still. All of which he says, and will be prepared to prove, if necessary requires or demands it. That he has not violated any Internal Revenue law, that he is aware of and if so he has not done it intentionally, and that he does not want public sentiment misled by false statements.
