Funeral Services Held at the Capitol Yesterday.

TRAIN LEAVES FOR CANTON.

Great Crush Causes Disaster and Loss of Life. Men, Women and Children Crushed Under Horses Hoofs. Assassin Pleads Not Guilty. England Mourning the St. Paul's Cathedral.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—The funeral procession of President McKinley started from the White House, this morning at twenty minutes past nine o'clock. The remains of the dead President had lain during the night in the famous East Room of the mansion. The casket rested on a pedestal and was covered by the flag of the nation. A guard of honor from the army and navy was on guard, relieved every hour of the night. Mrs. McKinley occupied her old room on the floor above the casket.

The procession started from the White House in the midst of a drizzling rain and moved slowly up Pennsylvania Avenue, guarded by soldiers. There were great crowds of people all along the line and their grief was shown by their tears. The arrival at the Capitol was made at thirty-five minutes past ten and the casket was borne up the broad steps into the rotunda amid the strains of the hymn "Nearer My God to Thee."

President Roosevelt, entered with the cabinet, and Senators and Representatives followed. The religious services began at ten fifty o'clock with the hymn "Lead Kindly Light." Dr. Henry R. Naylor, presiding Elder of the M. E. Church, Washington District, led in prayer. Then came the hymn "Some-time We'll Understand." Bishop Edward G. Andrews began the funeral oration at a quarter past eleven and reviewed and praised President McKinley's life work. He prayed for his soul amid much weeping. After the hymn "Nearer My God to Thee" the services were closed with the benediction by Rev. W. Chapman of the Metropolitan M. E. Church. At half past eleven those present were allowed to look upon the face of the late President.

Mrs. McKinley was not present at the services at the Capitol. She remained at her home in the White House under the care of the family physician, Dr. Rixey.

Thirty-five thousand people viewed the dead President under the great Capitol rotunda up to 7 o'clock to-night. The body was then escorted through weeping throngs of people to the Pennsylvania railroad station.

The funeral train left for Canton, Ohio at eight o'clock and was closely followed by another train containing Mrs. McKinley, President Roosevelt, the cabinet, Senators and Representatives, who accompanied the body to the funeral at the Ohio Statehouse.

The funeral at the Ohio Statehouse was held at ten o'clock and was attended by a large number of people. The casket was borne into the rotunda and the services were held in the presence of a large number of people.

The late President was buried in the Woodlawn cemetery in Canton, Ohio.

all of which goes to his widow. Mrs. McKinley is still bearing up well during the day. She became so composed that Dr. Rixey was able to leave her side.

The school children of Canton have presented a petition to the board of education, requesting the school children of the nation to join them in raising a fund for a monument to the memory of the late President.

It is reported tonight that President Roosevelt has requested the cabinet to accept a reappointment under his administration.

It is said that Emma Goldman is a Russian spy and has been the agent of the Russian government and has furnished that government with information concerning the movements of anarchists in this country. She received two letters to day in Chicago threatening her life.

MANDAMUS PROCEEDINGS. Governor Aycock's Views. Refusal to Pardon. Clay Pigeon Shooting Event.

RALEIGH, Sept. 17.—Governor Aycock is greatly in earnest in his language regarding the proceeding for mandamus to force the Corporation Commission to assess railroads for taxation this year. He says, "the Corporation Commission acted in exact accordance with the agreement made and with the legislative will." He added, "See my special message to the legislature on this subject." This message will be made part of the answer which the Attorney General will make to the application for mandamus. It is the opinion of able attorneys here that the answer will terminate the entire attempt to overturn a very solemn agreement in which the faith of the Governor is pledged. It may be said in passing that Governor Aycock always keeps his pledges and he says he intends to stand by them here. In his message, on which the legislature acted so promptly, that he transmitted the report of the Corporation Commission which showed that the railway tax cases, so long in the federal courts, were compromised and settled; that the State was willing that the property of railways should be assessed as other State property is assessed; and he therefore recommended that the legislature place the railways upon an equality with all other taxable property in the State as to the time of assessment, and that the railway property be not again assessed until 1902. The railways under this compromise and agreement have paid in to the State $44,561 general taxes and $20,000 into the school fund, and $101,509 to the counties and besides this have paid back to the State all the latter expended for attorneys fees. The Governor said in concluding his message that it was wise both for the State and railways to come to an agreement; "what has been done is both just and wise."

The refusal of Gov. Aycock to pardon Mallette and Mitham, the ex-business men of Tarboro, convicted of swindling was fully expected. They will have to serve their term of three years in the penitentiary.

During the State Fair here in October there will be a clay pigeon tournament under the auspices of the Raleigh Gun Club. There will be 30 events, with $3 added money in each.

Judge Thomas C. Fuller has returned here from Atlanta, where he had been for two months. His health continues very feeble.

W. K. Davis, one of the best known residents of Franklin county, is dead. He was buried here. He represented that county thrice in the legislature.

DEATH OF BISHOP WHIPPLE. Eminent Divine Passes Away at St. Paul, Minnesota. Special to Journal. ST. PAUL, Sept. 17.—Bishop Whipple of the Episcopal Diocese of Minnesota, one of the most famous Episcopals in the United States, died in this city today.

STAMP IT OUT. Anarchy Must Be Beat With, Says the Governor. Capitol Still Closed. Special to Journal. RALEIGH, Sept. 17.—Governor Aycock when asked the best way to protect the lives of Presidents said: "By stamping out anarchy and all organizations of anarchists. You can accomplish nothing by enacting laws to protect the order, for these laws now exist. The way to prevent is to provide against the atrocity of anarchical doctrine."

In the Supreme Court this morning Attorney General Gilmer made the formal announcement of the death of President McKinley. The chief justice responded and directed that the proper entry be made upon the minutes. The court as a further mark of respect adjourned without transacting any business. All the members of the Raleigh bar in the city were present.

The Capitol was again closed today. There will be public exercises here at the time of the President's funeral.

RALEIGH, Sept. 17.—This morning near Kirtrell, while engineer Thomas Eames of the Seaboard Air-Line was making rapid time, both side rods of the engine broke, and the cab was wrecked. His injuries are critical. He was brought here to a hospital. His home is in this city. He is a son of the late James H. Eames, so well known all over the State.

A Nash County Case. Special to Journal. RALEIGH, Sept. 17.—A prominent lawyer informs your correspondent that on the Supreme Court's docket, for Nash county, there is a case, a civil suit, which is made a "blind" for an outrageous attack upon an ex-judge of the superior court. A motion is made to put aside a judgment, in order to make it appear that his conduct was not what it ought to have been. My informant says that the language used in the brief is disgraceful and that it is an effort to gratify private spleen.

Cotton Growers to Meet. Special to Journal. RALEIGH, Sept. 17.—The State commissioner of agriculture gives his hearty official endorsement to the call for a State convention of cotton growers in this city this month, to take steps to maintain the price of cotton seed and thus foil the trust, which is seeking to greatly reduce prices.
