RALEIGH.

Gold Brick Swindlers Have No Case.

Prominent Marriage Events. Must Hang for Burglary and Murder. Moonshiner Caught. General Toon Very Ill.

RALEIGH, Dec. 24.—At the Church of the Good Shepherd at 9:30 this morning Miss Carrie Daney Furman and Mr. Harry S. Robinson were married, Rev. I. McK. Pittinger officiating. The bride was given away by her father, editor Robert M. Furman of the Morning Post. Miss Martha Phillips of Tarboro was maid of honor and Mr. W. E. Robinson, brother of the groom, was best man. Directly after the wedding Mr. and Mrs. Robinson left for Belair, the former home of the groom.

At Auburn, near here, this morning, Miss Mattie Johns, daughter of one of the most prominent residents of this county, was married to Prof. William E. Dodd of the chair of history at Randolph Macon College. Prof. Edgar A. Thiel of Tulane University, New Orleans, was best man.

A large delegation from Stanly county called on the Governor today and urged him to appoint R. L. Smith of that county solicitor of the 10th district.

The State files its answer to the petition of the three gold brick swindlers who have applied to Judge Furnell, under habeas corpus proceedings, to put their case in the federal court. The swindlers have no case. This fact is well understood here. They deserve all they get in the way of punishment, indeed much more, such is the public idea, freely expressed.

The Supreme Court decides that the four men who committed burglary at the post office at Emma, near Asheville and attacked and nearly killed the plucky young postmaster, must be hanged.

As yet few negroes have been induced by immigration agents to leave this State during the past four or five months. It is asserted that there will be a large movement northward as soon as spring opens. Some of those who go will not return, while others propose to return when cold weather sets in.

Revenue officers made a raid before daylight yesterday morning and after lying in the woods near an illicit distillery, rushed in an hour before day. Three of the moonshiners got away, but the fourth, a negro, was caught and is in jail here. He gave the old excuse—that he did not belong there, but saw a light and stopped to warm his hands.

The State superintendent of public instruction is in a very dangerous condition. There is an effusion of pus in the left lung and pleura, which he cannot lift. It is stated that his condition is even more serious than at any time during his illness.

The fourth volume of the North Carolina Regimental Histories is nearly done; Judge Clark says there is enough matter in hand for a fifth volume, which no doubt the next legislature will authorize.

TO CLEANSE THE SYSTEM

Effectually yet gently when constipated or bilious, to permanently overcome habitual constipation, to awaken the kidneys and liver to a healthy activity, without irritating or weakening them, to dispel headaches, colds, fevers, use Syrup of Figs, made by the California Fig Syrup Co.

Sad Death Near Cedar Point.

Died near his home near Cedar Point, N. C., Dec. 9th 1901 John Irvin in his 90th year.

He was almost instantly killed by falling railroad cross ties from a train truck while driving. The few minutes that he remained conscious he complained of pain in his head, uttering at the same time a prayer to God for mercy.

He was robust, strong, and in the very vigor of physical manhood, kind hearted, good humored and cheerful, he was universally beloved.

He leaves a sorrow stricken mother, three sisters and three brothers, with the entire community to mourn his sad and untimely end.

He was interred in the family grave yard at Hampton, Dec. 10th.

Brother Paul preached a most comforting sermon at the grave, where many were gathered to do respect to their companion and loved one.

To his bereft mother and family we offer the condolences of a friend and relative, and pray God to heal their lacerated hearts.

THAT COUNTERFEIT DOLLAR.

Mr. John Pearce Gives Story of the Pollockville Case of H. A. Chadwick.

Pollockville, Dec. 24.
Ed. JOURNAL.—As there seems to be some misconception concerning the counterfeit money that was offered in New Bern by Jonas Brown on the 13th day of the present month, perhaps you will kindly print a full statement of the facts as they occurred.

On Tuesday morning Dec. the 10th, Jonas Brown sold some corn to J. M. Perry. Perry gave Brown an order to H. A. Chadwick for the money Chadwick paid Brown four silver dollars. Brown then went to Mr. Bell's store and bought a pair of shoes for $1.40 using in that way two of the dollars. On Wednesday morning Jonas Brown tried to buy something at Mrs. Brinkley's with a very bright white quarter which was refused, and afterwards taken by a young man in the town. The quarter was marked on that day. I have it. On Friday Jonas Brown went to New Bern, and bought a pair of shoes with a bright white dollar. He offered another at an eating house which was refused, and pronounced counterfeit. He told the people in New Bern, in the presence of Mr. K. R. Jones, that he got the money from Mr. Bell's clerk. He then, in company of J. E. O'Hara, went to the office of the U. S. Commissioner and made affidavit that he got the dollars from Mr. H. A. Chadwick. Mr. Chadwick was arrested and gave bond for his appearance at court. Mr. Chadwick said he did not give Brown new dollars. He (Mr. C.) gave the bond at once so that he could go home, fearing his family would be in distress concerning him, he having been taken away at night.

Jonas Brown is in jail awaiting court. He is guilty of false swearing if of nothing else.

When Jonas Brown was under arrest at Pollockville, he stated in the presence of Mr. Bell, Mr. Chadwick, and others, that he did not get either of the dollar pieces from Mr. Bell's clerk.

WASHINGTON LETTER

[Special Correspondence.]
Ex-Senator Chandler has had designs prepared for a handsome silver cigar box, and the valuable contents is now being manufactured. Upon the lid of the receptacle are these words: "Which we pledge ourselves to promote." And thereby hangs an interesting story.

After the St. Louis convention of 1896 Senator Chandler offered to give $100 to the man who wrote in the bimetallic plank of the national platform of that year the words just quoted. Everybody knows that Senator Chandler is a bimetallicist of the most devoted type, and he welcomed the pledge of the party to promote bimetallicism as a promise of the realization of his ideal. Well, after he had made his offer there were numerous candidates for the award. Among others Mr. D. K. Watson, then a member of congress from Ohio, claimed the honor, and Mr. Chandler entered into a long and serious correspondence with him on the subject. Finally, however, Senator Lodge of Massachusetts appeared as the author of the phrase, and his claim was substantiated by the original documents, which were produced by Senator Foraker, the chairman of the committee on resolutions. Upon a telegraph blank in Senator Lodge's own handwriting were the words upon which Mr. Chandler had laid so much stress.

Convinced as to the authorship, Senator Chandler promptly sent him a check for $100 to Senator Lodge. This was only a short while ago. Mr. Lodge at once returned the check, saying that he had not regarded the offer as serious. Mr. Chandler, however, insisted that he acted in good faith, and then Mr. Lodge, returning the check a second time, replied that if Mr. Chandler wanted to give him a souvenir of the convention and its bimetallic utterance he would be pleased to accept it. Thereupon Mr. Chandler had the silver cigar box prepared. It is composed of sixteen parts silver to one part of gold, is handsomely designed and appropriately inscribed. Its presentation is to be quite an event.

Everybody Ought to Know Him.
One of the correspondents of a New York paper had a funny experience the other night. Into his office walked a congressman and the latter's secretary.

"I want to introduce my secretary, Mr. Johnson," said the representative. The correspondent acknowledged the introduction and shook hands.
"You see," said the congressman, "I thought it would be a good idea for you to know my secretary. You may want to write some pieces about me, and he can give you all the facts. Don't hesitate to call upon him at any time. I would like you to print my name just as often as you can, so that my constituents may know that I am busy looking after them."
And after more words to the same effect the congressman and his secretary withdrew. The joke of the matter was that the correspondent had never seen the representative before, did not know his name and hasn't to this day the slightest idea who called upon him. The congressman simply took it for granted that a man who had been elected from New York must be known to all the world.

The Colonel Took Pic.
One of the campaign stories that is floating through the senate cloakroom relates to Senator Fairbanks of Indiana and Governor Shaw of Iowa. According to the story, these two Republican orators were stumping Kentucky. After a successful meeting the Kentucky colonel who had the two Republican statesmen in charge invited them into the hotel barroom for some refreshment.

"What'll you have?" he asked Senator Fairbanks.
"A little cold apollinaris," was the reply.

"And you?" said the host to Governor Shaw.
"I think I will have a glass of buttermilk."

The barkeeper turned to the Kentucky colonel. "What shall I give you, colonel?" he asked.

The Kentucky gentleman heaved a long sigh. "Under the circumstances," he said, "I think you can give me a piece of pie."

Callers Must Fix Up.
When he pushes through the old time double doors from the corridor to the committee on appropriations, there is no prouder man than these days under the white dome than "Uncle Joe" Cannon, the chairman. A scene almost painful is spread before him. There is nice clean furniture all around him and a new carpet on the floor. On either side there open swinging portals of mahogany and glass that lead to cozy consultation rooms, long needed.

"I tell you, boys," said Mr. Cannon the other day when somebody joked him about his improved quarters, "you must put bear's grease on your hair and some scent on your handkerchief before you enter."

Secretary Root Presents Cases.
When Peking was invaded by the troops of the foreign powers some months ago, an old gun carriage was taken by some of the soldiers as a relic. It was of mahogany and was found on the walls of Peking. The history of the gun carriage represented it as 500 years old. Pieces of the wood came into Secretary Root's possession, and he had the pieces turned into walking canes. He presented one to the president and one to each member of the cabinet.

The District Estimate.
The secretary of the treasury in transmitting to congress the estimates for the general government, recommends that the amount asked by the commissioners for the District of Columbia, $10,441,441.97, be reduced to $9,941,441.97. The reduction is recommended by the secretary.
