EXPENSIVE MEMBERS OF COM-MUNITY.

With the increased legislation by State and Nation, and the additional local ordinances made by every municipality, there is ever an increase of expense upon the taxpayers, for the purpose of employing persons to see that the laws are not violated, either through ignorance, or criminal intent.

The criminal is the most expensive member of a community, because he produces nothing, but either destroys the work of others, or has to be kept alive by a public tax.

In this cost of the criminals of this country, the following from the New York Herald is full of interest.

Oriminals are very expensive members

Oriminals are very expensive members of the community. They cost the people of this country about $1,000,000,000 a year. If their increase could be prevented it would be a paying investment to give each of the 250,000 accepted criminals a monthly pension of $300, on the condition that they take a life vacation from the strenuous demands of their profession. But we accept the criminal as a part of our civilization—of barbarism—and pay the enormous cost of maintaining him.

The average annual income of professional criminals is estimated at about $1,500. This means that the community pays them a yearly salary of $400,000,000.

After this is spent for their maintenance we pay annually $300,000,000 for their detection, conviction and support, under national, state, county and city auspices. The urban population has to pay the larger share of this, or $0,000,000 people in cities have to pay $105,000,000—$3.50 per capita, and the suburban population of 45,000,000 $1 a addition to this there is a federal and state expense of $50,000,000.

Add to this the loss by mailcious de-state expense of $50,000,000.

Add to this the loss by malicious destruction of property, the money value of human life lost through crime, the ex penditure necessary in the attempt to guard against loss through law breakers, and we find that $1,000,000,000 is not a

Make No Protonnes.

Be natural. If you are not what you would like to seem, endeavor to come as hearly to your ideals as you can, but do not affect a manner or character that is not your own, that is not ncere. Affectation betrays weakness of character. It deceives no one. One may imagine he is making a great impression. People are too polite to let him know their thoughts, but they see through him. He makes himself less in their estimation. It is of no use to assume to know that of which one is imporent.

There is a certain strength in honesty that carries weight and influence Integrity will make itself felt. By making no pretenses one is on the right road to advance. There is no fool like the one who thinks he knows it all, or, worse, thinks he can make others think so. Pretenses are despised by all sensible persons. Be true, be genuine, and you retain your self respect and gain that of others.-Milwaukee Jour-

Monumental Brasses At the beginning of the thirteenth century it occurred to some one to preserve the likeness of his departed friend, as well as the symbols of his rank and station. So efficies were introduced upon the surface of the slabs and were carved flat, but ere fifty years had passed away the art of the sculptor produced magnificent monumental effigies. Knights and nobles lie clad in armor with their ladies by their sides, bishops and abbots bless the spectators with their uplifted right hands, judges lie in their official garb and merchants with the emblems of their trade. At their feet lie animals usually having some heraldic conne tion with the deceased or symbolical of his work-e. g., a dragon is trodden down beneath the feet of a bishop signifying the defeat of sin as the result of his ministry. The heads of effigies usually rest on cushions, which are sometimes supported by two an-gels.—Gentleman's Magazine.

Visiting Cards in Sweden.

An old Swedish custom is for people to indicate their business upon their yisiting cards. One will receive the card of Lawyer Jones or Banker Smith or Notary Johnson or Music Professor Brown or Grosserer (which means wholesale merchant) Ferguson or Geol ogist Thompson, and if a man ever held an office it is customary to indi-cate that fact upon his card. A burgomaster is always a bur sul is always a consul and an alderman always an alderman. The pre-fixes "Hon." and "Mr." are seldom used, and the title, whether comme cial or professional, is observed in conversation in the same way.

It is customary also for ladies to print their maiden names upon their visiting cards in smaller type under their married names, particularly if they have a pride of family and want people to know their ancestry.

FOR THE CHILDREN

Kind of a Boy the World Want Boys are always in demand becau they are the material out of which me ere made, and as first class mater is always at a premium in every line of trade so the boys who give promise of making first class men are most co-gerly sought after.

The boy the world wants today is the one who can be trusted to handle money without any of it sticking to his ngers or finding its way into his pockets. He will take as much interest in the affairs of his employer as if they were his own and will stay fifteen minutes without being asked to finish a place of work after the whistle blows and the rest of the men have quit work. He will be able to write a business letter and smell the words corletter and spell the words cor rectly and to add up a column of figures promptly and accurately. He will lift his cap as readily to his sister when he meets her on the street as he would were she the sister of some other boy, and he will not be ashamed to walk to church with his mother, show her into her own pew and sit beside her during the service. He will be careful in making a promise and just as careful about keeping it. He will have sufficient moral backbone to say "No" to those who would lead him astray, and he will have enough courage to own that he is striving to make man of himself.

This is the kind of boy so many are on the lookout for.—Belected.

Story of the Toy Cats. It was night in the nursery. Jack lay in his crib, rosy and sweet, all ready for a dream On Jack's toy table stood Mother Spot, the china cat, and her two kit-tens, Speck and Dot. They had real cat natures hidden under their hard exteriors, and no one but Jack had ever found it out.

"Speck and Dot," said Mother Spot, "Jack had an awful scare today. His uncle brought him a tin mouse. "Meow!" cried Speck and Dot, and it sounded exactly as if they were crack ing "mouse, meow!"

"I know where that mouse is!" said

"Tell us." cried the kittens.

"Under the bed. And if you have the least spark of your ancertors' spirit go for It."

Down from Jack's table leaped those three china cats and straight for the tin mouse, who was so frightened he simply stared and without a word awaited his fate. They fell upon him, those three china cats. They tore him to pieces, and then, covered with glory and brown paint, they crept back to Jack's table and waited. In the morning nurse found the rem nants of the mouse under the bed, and she said sadly: "Jack, it was naughty of you to break the mouse even if you didn't like Slang In 1832.

In 1832 Coloridge in his Table Talk poke of the word talented as follows: I regret to see that vile and barbaous vocable 'talented' stealing out of the newspapers into the leading reviews and most respectable publications of today. Why not 'shillinged,' 'farthinged,' 'tenpenced,' etc.? The formation of a participle passive from noun is a license which nothing but very peculiar felicity can excuse. It mere convenience is to justify such at tempts upon the idlom, you cannot stop until the language becomes, in the proper sense of the word, corrupt. Winning a Brute's Respect.

In an article on the training of wild animals in Frank Leslic's Popular Monthly Frank C. Bostock, the famous showman, said: "If I were to lay down a basic principle, I would say, just as my father did to me the first time he ever gave me a whip and a lion, 'First of all, warm up to him.' That does not mean to pet him or talk silly nonsense of the affectionate sort, but to treat him with a frank, common sense and a kindly hand and care.

"Once a very flerce old tiger which we had in London had nearly killed my brother, and her keepers were afraid of her. It happened that she ran a bit of bone into her paw and had a very sorry time of it. I undertook to remove it and by the use of lashings and a little patience succeeded. It took four men to help me. When we were about half way through the operation, he got the idea of what we were trynationt surgeon never had, though the pain was great, I am sure. The next day I put a poultice on that foot with one keeper standing outside the cage with a prodding iron as a precaution and ever after that till the day of her death I could enter her cage at any time without her giving any sign but that of pleasure." No one can reasonably hope for good health unless his bowels move once each day. When this is not attended to, disorders of the stomach arise, billousness, headache dyspepsia and piles soon follow. If you wish to avoid these allments keep your bowels regular by taking Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets when required. They are so easy to take and mild and gentle in effect. For sale by F. S.
