AROUND AND ABOUT.

There were plenty of oysters in the market again yesterday and a big fleet of boats was at market dock.

A car load of horses has been received by Mr. J. M. Arnold at his Broad street stable. They are fine animals.

Fish were in fair supply yesterday for the retail trade, mainly mallet. Only one shad is reported to have been seen since a white shad, caught some days ago.

The Life Insurance Company of Virginia has established a branch office of the company at Kinston. Mr. E. J. Disoway will be the agent and left yesterday to take charge of the office.

The floor of the cotton exchange is being relaid. It was badly bulged up by being covered with water, which occurred during the big tide two years ago when so great damage was done on the water front.

The tug Winthrop brought in a tow of barges yesterday morning and attracted some attention. The tug was completely covered forward with a coating of ice and looked like a boat coming into some Northern port.

There was a sheet of ice fringing the river banks yesterday morning. The minimum thermometer was 21 degrees. The previous lowest record this year was 15 degrees on December 22nd. There was less ice then as the river water had not become chilled at that time.

Gates should always be swung so as to open on the inside and gates that swing across the sidewalk are especially dangerous in the absence of street lights. A citizen complained yesterday of walking into a gate that was open the night before and quite severely injuring himself.

An alarm of fire from box 56 at 10:40 o'clock last night was due to a burning chimney in the building occupied by Mrs. McSorley on Pollock street near Middle. No damage was done.

An alarm from box 47 at 11:15 o'clock was a false alarm.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Hyman were rejoiced to hear yesterday that their two year old daughter Laura was better. The child is suffering from diphtheria which developed last Friday. On account of the loss which the family lately suffered from the same disease, much sympathy is felt and hope that the danger will be safely passed.

The Cyclists' Touring Club of England has appointed Mr. A. E. Stevens their Consul for Eastern Carolina. This organization has a membership of over fifty thousand and is represented in all the countries of the world. Those contemplating a trip abroad will do well to join this club and make the grand tour on their wheels. Information will be furnished by Mr. Stevens.

Rivenbark is in the city and will begin the distribution of the books to purchasers this morning. The price is placed at the low sum of one dollar. A late map of the State is contained in the volume.

Rip Van Winkle.

The J. H. Thorne Dramatic Company presented the wellknown play of Rip Van Winkle at the Opera House, last night to a fair sized audience.

Mr. Thorne in the leading part of Rip and Miss Bonnie Meyer, as Gretchen, gave an excellent interpretation of their parts, and were liberally applauded. The same company will play again tonight, giving a farce comedy entitled Uncle Stephen's Legacy.

Civil Service Catalogue.

The U. S. Civil Service Commission will hold examinations at several places in each State during March and April, to secure young men and women for the government service. 9,889 persons secured positions last year through these examinations. Probably 10,000 appointments are for life and for most positions only a common school education is required. Salaries at appointment vary from $950 to $1200 a year with liberal promotions afterward. Politics is not considered. There is less competition in the Southern States than in other parts of the country. This affords a good opportunity for people between 18 and 45 years of age. Those desiring places of this kind can get full information about them, free, by writing to the Columbia Correspondence College, Washington, D. C., and asking for its Civil Service catalogue, number three.

Rural Delivery Petition.

A petition is being circulated asking the Post Office Department to establish an additional Rural Free Delivery route in Craven county, there being three routes now in operation. The route asked for in the petition would go by the Neuse road to Bellair, then to Lina and Jasper, and returning would pass The Oaks, making a circuit of 284 miles. The route would be especially convenient for truckers and farmers near this city.

A KINSTON FIRE.

Narrow Escape From Destruction of Much Valuable Property.

A terrible conflagration was averted in Kinston this morning by the just in nick of time interference of Providence, the hard and intelligent work of the Kinston Fire Company, the Dread Not Hook and Ladder Company and other citizens.

At one time it looked to be almost certain that the tobacco section of the town would be swept away, and no telling where the fire would eventually stop.

The alarm sounded at 10:15 o'clock. It was first given by the whistle of the American Tobacco company's plant and in a few seconds later by the fire bell.

To the people who rushed from their residences and places of business to learn the cause, it was reported that the Kinston Carolina Warehouse was on fire. They realized the seriousness of the situation if this was so, and a great state of excitement prevailed. As the people hurried to the scene, on the northern outskirts of the town, the black smoke could be seen rising and whirling with the fierce wind which was blowing.

Upon arriving at the scene the worst fears were slightly relieved to see that it was not the Carolina Warehouse on fire, but a group of small wooden buildings on the corner of Heritage street and Ver non avenue, a short distance from the warehouse, consisting of a small confectionary store run by Mr. Norman B. White, and two tobacco hoghead factories, one of them owned and run by Capt. J. M. White and the other run under the firm name of the Kinston Hoghead Co. owned by Messrs. Fleming, Bobbit and Goodson.

A strong northeast wind was blowing, which at first took the burning cinders towards the Carolina Warehouse. The tobacco store there was removed, and by close watch, putting the flames out as the warehouse caught, the fire was prevented from spreading there.

The greatest danger of all now loomed up. The three story brick house and stemmy occupied by Messrs. Bobbit and Moseley and Mr. J. A. Long, situated directly across the narrow street from the flames, caught fire. The wind seemed to dip down and, taking the flames, burning cinders and thick black smoke, hurried it against the west side of the three story building. This, of necessity, drove the crowd and all who were fighting the flames back, and it seemed beyond human skill to prevent a fire that would consume thousands and thousands of dollars worth of property. But history repeated itself (as to Kinston fires) and once again Providence came to the rescue. The wind changed to northwest, and then some of the prettiest work ever done by the Kinston fire department was put into execution, and with the two streams of water and the ladders of the Dread-Not Hook and Ladder company, the fire was gotten under control.

The fire was first discovered on top of an old discarded building, which was used as a store house by Mr. A. Mitchell.

The stock in the store and all the hogheads in the two factories were saved.

The loss on these buildings was small, several hundred dollars covering the entire loss. Messrs. White and Son had their loss covered by insurance. The others had no insurance. The prize house and stemmy was damaged to the extent of several hundred dollars. It is owned by Messrs. S. H. Abbott and J. W. Grainger and the loss is covered by insurance.—Free Press, 13th.

Strong in Musical Attractions.

Barlow and Wilson's Minstrels made their annual appearance at Powers' Opera House to an excellent house. It is a fact worthy of notice, that at each successive trip of this famous organization vacant down stairs seats have been few and far between. It follows that an attraction able to fill that portion of the theatre is one of intrinsic merit. The musical portion was particularly strong. The ballads of James Barard, James Leonard and Joseph McGrath were pretty renditions. The monologue work of Barlow and Wilson was very funny, while the popular Conroy and Murry met with an ovation that must have been exceedingly pleasant to those favorite comedians. Taken altogether the Barlow and Wilson show far surpasses the usual minstrel attraction.—Grand Rapids Daily Democrat.

FISH DEALERS MEET.

Resolutions Regarding Rates Given to Competing Points.

The fish dealers of New Bern, Morehead City and Beaufort met in New Bern N. C., January 13th, 1902, to consider matters pertaining to the successful prospective extension of their business. Many matters were discussed but all agreed that their efforts were handicapped by the discrimination in freights, via, the Southern Express Company. Rates from competing points by this company being lower than those given the points represented by dealers present.

The following resolution was unanimously adopted:

"Whereas, the rates of freight given the fish dealers of other points on fish and oysters are lower than those given to us, thereby necessitating the purchase of fish and oysters by us, or necessitating the sale at less price in order to meet competition from other points, there fore be it

"RESOLVED, That the matter of freights be brought to the notice of the Southern Express Company, and a demand made that the same rate be given to us as are given other points in the Southern Express Company's territory, thus enabling us to meet competition on an equitable basis. That if after thirty days this request is not granted, then an effort be made to obtain these rates through the Railroad Commission. That a copy of these resolutions be given the New Bern JOURNAL, the News & Observer and the Coaster of Morehead
