The Goldsboro, Wilson and New Bern lodges are expected to join the Kinston lodge here and go with them on this train to Greenville. The Coast Line Suit.
GOLDSBORO, Jan. 24.—The time of the Superior Court today has been taken up with the case of B. E. Ralford vs The Atlantic Coast Line. Mr. Ralford is suing the company for $10,000, which he claims will indemnify him for an injury received last spring while at work in the shops of the company at Wilmington. It was devoted by the evidence introduced that Mr. Ralford was sent to do some repairing to an engine which had just been in a wreck and had been brought in for repairs. In the course of a short while a piece of loose iron fell from the engine on the track and bounced and struck Mr. Ralford on the leg. Messrs. Allen and Dortch are appearing for the plaintiff and Mr. F. A. Daniels is representing the defendant. Both sides are fighting hard, and at this time while the arguments are being made, it is impossible to forecast a decision by the jury.

THE MARINE LABORATORY.

Remarks of Congressman Thomas. An Additional $12,500 Secured by Strong Work. A Creditable Exploit.
The last Congress appropriated $12,500 for a Marine Laboratory at Beaufort, Carteret county. The buildings are now in process of construction and it was considered that an additional and equal amount was required to complete the plant.
The needed appropriation has been passed and that it was done is due to the hard work of Hon. G. R. Thomas and credit is also due to Congressman Small. They fought hard for the measure and their efforts were crowned with success. The following remarks were made by Mr. Thomas in support of the bill:
"Mr. Thomas of North Carolina. Mr. Chairman, I hope the amendment proposed by my colleague from North Carolina will pass the House. I simply rise for the purpose of speaking briefly in behalf of the proposed amendment, and do not desire to debate the matter with the distinguished gentleman from Illinois, the chairman of the Committee on Appropriations. But I am interested in this amendment, Mr. Chairman, not only in behalf of the cause of science, but also somewhat interested personally in the matter, because the county in which this marine laboratory is located is the county of Carteret, which I not only had the honor to represent in the State legislature, but which, after the next general election, will become a part of the Third Congressional district of the State of North Carolina, my district."

Now, Mr. Chairman, it is true that the act of the last Congress appropriated only $12,500, and this amount at the time was considered sufficient, but it has proven entirely inadequate. The original appropriation was for a marine laboratory to be located at some point in North Carolina, and the town of Beaufort was selected, because, as my colleague has well said, there is no point on the south Atlantic coast, south of Woods Hole, Mass., where there are so many valuable specimens of marine life or so advantageous to the cause and interest of science as this particular locality. As the distinguished gentleman from Illinois (Mr. Cannon) well knows, this marine laboratory is endorsed by all the leading scientists of this country.
The members of the House would be astonished if they could see the indorsements given to this enterprise by the scientific men at Yale, at Harvard, at Johns Hopkins, and all the leading universities and colleges of this country. The marine laboratory at Beaufort is therefore valuable to the cause of science. It is absolutely necessary that the buildings should be completed. I know personally, from a visit to the buildings, that they are exposed to the weather, and that unless the government protects its property there is some likelihood of serious damage being done to it. The site has been purchased; the buildings are partially constructed; the United States must complete them or abandon the enterprise.

Now, Mr. Chairman, the distinguished chairman of the Committee on Appropriations says we are going to put an additional appropriation in the bill at the next session; but my colleague and myself insist, on behalf of the people who are interested, and on behalf of the Government of the United States, which is interested in this matter, that these buildings need this appropriation for the purpose of speedy completion, and that the matter is urgent. The Government has appropriated for a fish hatchery at Tupelo, Miss., and for a lobster hatchery on the coast of Maine, and all these enterprises are being pushed to a completion. Let us likewise complete the marine laboratory at Beaufort. This is an urgent matter, and in my opinion this item should be carried in this bill at this session and not wait for the next session to be incorporated into some other bill.
I appeal to the members of the House to pass the amendment and give us this additional appropriation now.
Mr. Fleming. I should like to ask the gentleman a question.
The Chairman. Does the gentleman from North Carolina yield to the gentleman from Georgia?
Mr. Thomas. Certainly.
Mr. Fleming. Will the gentleman please explain to the House the reason why the officers in charge of this station exceeded their authority and apparently committed the Government to a twenty-five thousand dollar project under cover of a $12,500 appropriation?
Mr. Thomas of North Carolina. That I can not say to the gentleman from Georgia; I confess I am not posted on that subject. I can only say that this Government frequently starts upon the construction of buildings and other enterprises, and that the limit of cost is often exceeded.

The Round Table club was given a delightful reception by Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Wooten at their home last night.
Mr. and Mrs. Wooten received their guests in the reception hall and after their arrival they were highly entertained during the evening by an address and several selections read by Major Graham Daves, of New Bern.
Major Daves divided his address into three parts, viz: (1) The historical events that led to the discovery of North Carolina. (2) Colonization and settlement at Roanoke Island. (3) Sir Walter Raleigh's expeditions. He made a highly interesting and thoroughly enjoyable address, abounding in historical facts known only to a few North Carolinians.
During the address he produced a great many relics of historical interest, showing among other things a fac-simile of Sir Walter Raleigh's seal and a photograph of the monument on Roanoke Island erected in commemoration of the first landing of the English on North Carolina soil. This monument is made of Virginia and North Carolina granite. After the address Maj. Daves read several selections from his book, Virginia Dares.
After the address and readings the guests were ushered into the dining hall where a most elegant luncheon was served.

SHIPPED TO EUROPE.
Dogwood Logs From This Section For The Foreign Trade.
The river steamers Howard and Carolina have brought down from Yanceboro and from up the Trent river a considerable quantity of dogwood. Some 20 cords of the wood are at the E. C. D. wharf, awaiting shipment by steamer for Norfolk. Inquiry regarding these shipments of dogwood brought out the following fact.
The dogwood is being shipped to Norfolk and thence goes to Europe, where it will be used for making shingle blocks and other articles of a like nature. The dogwood tree is not of large growth and the logs come in four foot lengths and must square up four inches at the small end. In some cases the logs are cut in two foot lengths so as to get a sufficient size at the small end. The wood is quite heavy but when dried out becomes rather light as it holds a great deal of water. The material is paid for here and the price obtained is from eight to nine dollars a cord.
