SILENCE ON THE CHIEF JUSTICESHIP.

Henry A. Page's article on Judge Walter Clark, as the only and unopposed candidate for the Chief Justiceship of North Carolina, which was published in the Charlotte Observer on the 26th and in the Raleigh Post on the 28th, might be termed a "feeler," as to the situation on this most important office, one which vitally concerns every interest, private and public, in this State.

The Charlotte Observer on this article said, editorially,—

"His very able paper, distinguished for the force of its argument and its incisiveness of style, deserves to be read by every voter in the State. The situation with which it deals is the most extraordinary ever known in our political history. Thousands of people recognize Judge Clark as the most dangerous man in the State. Lawyers do not hesitate to say that as attorneys going before him in a certain class of cases they know their clients to be already prejudged. It is charged and believed that he has worked up litigation knowing that it would come before him for judgment. A large part of the bar and of the thoughtful, conservative element of the people, lack confidence in his ability or purpose to do justice when the prospect of popularity weighs against it, and yet he is marching on to the chief justiceship without an obstacle being put in his path. The selections for the positions on the Supreme Court bench are regarded as in some sort the prerogative of the lawyers, and yet the lawyer does not chirp. Do they fear that if they will he will remember them in his decisions?"

And the Raleigh Post in its editorial comment on the same article said:

As Mr. Page suggests the certainty of a verdict against corruption and its iniquitous pervasions by construction of the statutes, has reached the stage that even the public no less than the contingent fee lawyer smiles in confidence, regardless of the merits or the honesty or preposterous dishonesty we may say of the claim.

For the present, this corrupt and shameless robbery is visited upon the railroads, but before long, when those guilty of thus debauching the public and prostituting the powers of the law may feel safely enclosed in power all other corporations and successful enterprises will be brought under the same nefarious scheme of plunder. It is a shameful exhibition of the public morals of the day. It only remains to be seen whether the people have been utterly demoralized and lost to all sense of that honor which they once demanded should sit in high places and characterize the enactment as well as the administration of law in this State.

And the Raleigh New-Observer, the official organ of the machine says, editorially, on the same subject:

"Judge Clark has three or four times been the nominee of his party for high positions. He has filled three judicial positions with great ability and with devotion to the true interests of the Commonwealth. He will probably be the nominee of the Democratic party, according to Mr. Page, for Chief Justice. If there is even a probability that the party will name him to lead the ticket this year, ought any except Republicans to be engaged in trying to injure the chance of electing the Democracy's nominee?"

Even to him who runs it is easy to see the end, and that is that Judge Walter Clark is already the accepted candidate of the Raleigh machine, for the Chief Justiceship.

And this being the situation, of what profit is it for Democrats to protest? For such a protest will place the person so protesting beyond the political pale, for thus the organ has said.

It could have been a pleasant party discussion to have taken up the individual merits of Messrs. Clark, Connor, Shepherd and others who might have been candidates for this great office.

But the alliance is fixed. The organ has pealed once, "Fall in! Fall in!" and we to him who falls to join and take up the political look step.

A Snowstorm in Sweden. On a very clear, cold night an evening party was given in a saloon in Stockholm, Sweden. Many people were gathered together in a single room, and it became so warm in the course of the evening that several ladies complained of feeling ill.

An attempt was made to raise a window, but the sashes had been frozen in their place, and it was impossible to move them. In this situation, as it was absolutely necessary that air should be admitted, a pane of glass was smashed out. A cold current at once rushed in, and at the same instant flakes of snow were seen to fall to the floor in all parts of the room.

The entrance of a frosty current into an atmosphere which was saturated with moisture had produced a snow-fall indoors.—Nature.

Easy to Settle. A famous lawyer once had a singular case to settle. A physician came to him in great distress. Two sisters, living in the same house, had babies of equal age, who so resembled each other that their own mothers were unable to distinguish them when they were together. Now, it happened that by the carelessness of the nurses the children had become mixed, and how were the mothers to make sure that they received back their own infants?

"But, perhaps," said the lawyer, "the children weren't changed at all."

"Oh, but there's no doubt they were changed," said the physician.

"Are you sure of it?" "Perfectly." "Well, if that's the case, why don't you change them back again? I don't see any difficulty in the case."

Deafness Cannot be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Limit of Microscopic Power. Professor McKendrick in his presidential address to the physiology section of the British association remarked that the smallest particle of matter that can be seen with our present microscopes is between one four-hundredths and one five-hundredths of an inch in diameter. The diffraction of light in the microscope forbids the possibility of seeing still smaller objects. Yet the living spaces studied by physiologists are sometimes probably even smaller in size than the most minute particles that the most perfect microscope can show.

Grounds For Divorce. A north side woman set up till 1 o'clock the other morning waiting for her husband to come home. At last, weary and worn out with her lonely vigil, she went up stairs to retire only to discover the missing husband there fast asleep. Stately the Home of Sulphur. The beautiful island of St. Helens, with its huge volcano, Mount St. Helens, and its most interesting remains of classic Greek architecture, is the world's great source of supply for sulphur. The rocks and soil are largely of volcanic origin, and the sulphur mines in some places penetrate deep into the earth. A common sight is a train of freight cars loaded with bars of sulphur as yellow as gold. Some of the greatest mines are close by Gigantia, the celebrated Argimantum of the Roman historians. About 90 per cent of all the sulphur produced comes from St. Helens.

Mark Twain's Moving. A story is told of the days when Mark Twain was a hack writer in San Francisco on a weekly salary represented by one figure, Bret Harjo and Joaquin Miller sitting on the same staff with like pay. A woman of means who patronized Bohemia and gave the impetuous strugglers many a good dinner saw Mark Twain, thinly clad and imperfectly shod, standing with a cigar box under his arm and looking hungrily in at a confectioner's window. The patroness of letters asked what was in the box. "Oh," drawled the humorist, "I'm moving again."

FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

Josiah Bead's Invention. The inventor of the cooking range died the other day, says a writer in the New York Mail and Express. He was ninety-two years old, and he lived at Everett, Mass., a suburb of Boston. His name was Josiah M. Bead. The name is not in "Who's Who," and the old man was unknown to fame, although his invention effected a more profound and momentous change in American domestic life, perhaps, than Morse's electric telegraph did, or Whitney's cotton gin, or even Howe's sewing machine. There had been stoves before Bead. Franklin made a stove which still goes by his name. It is simply an open grate on legs, with a pipe. The feet can be warmed at it, and the room can be filled with smoke. There were rude cooking contrivances before Bead made his ranges, away back in the thirties, but they were crude affairs. Men who are now not old can remember when women baked in a Dutch oven—a movable tin box, which was shoved up in front of a hot open fire. The cooking range made possible an elaborate and careful arrangement of the humblest cuisine. It was economical in the sense that it gave a great deal more heat from the same amount of fuel. It saved heat and time. It enlarged the American bill of fare. It increased the complexity of the domestic organization and abolished old fashioned rustic simplicity.

For the Sickroom. Accessories for the sickroom cannot be too dainty in appearance, but above all it is important that they shall be washable. A pretty medicine glass cover made of a piece of circular white linen may be embroidered in some delicate design and the edge buttonhole stitched. Near the center two small eyelets should be worked. Then a piece of glass corresponding in size and shape should be obtained from the glazier's, and this, too, should have two small holes similar in location to those in the linen. When the work is finished, the linen is tied with baby ribbon to the glass, and a most serviceable and at the same time attractive article for an invalid is ready for use.

Forewarned, Forewarned.

The ability to disease is greatly lessened when the blood is in good condition, and the circulation healthy and vigorous. For then all refuse matter is promptly carried out of the system; otherwise it would rapidly accumulate—fermentation would take place, the blood become polluted and the constitution so weakened that a simple malady might result seriously.

A healthy, active circulation means good digestion and strong, healthy nerves.

As a blood purifier and tonic S. S. S. has no equal. It is the safest and best remedy for old people and children because it contains no minerals, but is made exclusively of roots and herbs.

No other remedy so thoroughly and effectually cleanses the blood of impurities. At the same time it builds up the weak and debilitated, and renovates the entire system. It cures permanently all manner of blood and skin troubles.

Mr. E. E. Kelly, of Urbana, O., writes: "I had Eczema on my hands and face for five years. It would break out in little white pustules, crusts would form and drop off, leaving the skin red and inflamed. The doctors did me no good. I used all the medicated soaps and salves without benefit. S. S. S. cured me, and my skin is as clear and smooth as any one's."

Mrs. Henry Bradford, of Cape May, N. J., says that twenty-one bottles of S. S. S. cured her of Cancer of the breast. Doctors and friends thought her case hopeless.

Richard T. Gardner, Florence, S. C., suffered for years with Eczema. Two bottles of S. S. S. put his blood in good condition and the Boils disappeared.
