SECTIONAL PROBLEM WORKING.

Since the early days of the United States, there has been a continual bickering between the several sections of the country, in regard to the problems affecting each section.

The South has ever had the negro question, and the amount of criticism and free advice given this section by the rest of the country has been unlimited.

And yet through it all, there has been a gradual evolution in the status of the negro, as to his social and political existence, which has not been confined to any one section, and today the color line and its determination upon the country has practically become a local issue, North as well as South.

The South has been solving, perhaps too slowly, yet really working out and definitely settling the position of the colored race, socially and politically, and in this solution, the party of the negro, is not per se raising any serious objection to having its status settled.

The central west and the west has had its years of strife in fixing its immigrants, in getting the various Europeans into settlements and work, where there would be no clashings, where development not strife would take place, and through it all there has come the appeal for advice from other sections.

The fixing of the European in our government, has been no easy problem, yet the west has met the new comer, and given him his position, and one generally according to his merits.

And yet there has come good out of the over much criticism, especially when the criticism has been without bitterness.

The mistakes in judging one section of the country by another, in tendering advice in the solution of a local problem, have been many.

But today, the different sections recognize more clearly that certain great questions can only be settled by the section itself and its people, and very wisely it is becoming a more generous practice to have a just confidence, that the people can and will each conduct the settlement of its own special local problems, decently, honestly, fairly, and in a manner which means for the best interests of every other section.

WOMAN AND FASHION

A Stylish Hat. There is wide variety in the hats of this spring and summer. High and stylish turbans of straw, trimmed with quills and ribbon bows, are favorites for present wear—between seasons, as it were. A very pretty model pictured here is in this style. Two shades of brown straw compose the hat. The brim is rolled up on both sides, making a point in the brim front and back. At the left side, as shown in the picture, is a handsome kid quill daintily painted to imitate the real quill. This is very chic and novel. A flat rosette composed of the straw fastens on the quill.—New York Mail and Express.

The Taffeta Gown. The taffeta gown is the gown of the hour. Again we see this soft, lustrous and extremely satisfactory silk made up into the smartest frocks imaginable, and there isn't a woman living who will have any complaint to make against this one exhibition of faithful-ness on the part of Dame Fashion.

It is really difficult to get on without at least one taffeta gown in one's wardrobe, and there's nothing that could quite fill the place of this very chic model. Of course for street wear only black taffeta is used, and the quality leaves nothing to be desired. Wide, of a lustrous black and perhaps softer in texture than those of last season, the plain skirts and beautifully designed coats cannot be surpassed for genuine loveliness. There are some endearing qualities about black taffeta aside from its serviceable and dust-shedding ones which make it a thoroughly satisfactory investment. Perhaps these are its perennial appearance of freshness and newness, two characteristics which women are not slow to appreciate, as you may know, so predictions are most favorable for a long reign of this truly delightful fabric.

Princess Style Popular. There is this spring an unusual variety in the styles of wedding gowns. It has not been thought necessary for some time to adhere strictly to white satin or silk with point lace, but there have always been certain limitations as to extremely severe lines, and other materials than silk or satin have been considered scarcely advisable. At the moment, so long as the gown is white, any kind of material may be used, and for fashionable weddings the dress-makers are busy fashioning the most enchanting lace, chiffon, crepe de chine and lustrous gowns. The white silk or satin wedding gown is still considered the handsomest and point lace in the trimming thereof the most in keeping.

The princess style is always a popular one and is seen to the best possible advantage in the more expensive qualities of silk or satin.

RELIEF IN SIX HOURS.

Distressing Kidney and Bladder Disease relieved in six hours by "NEW GREAT SOUTH AMERICAN KIDNEY CURE."

It is a great surprise on account of its exceeding promptness in relieving pain in bladder, kidneys and back, in male or female. Relieves retention of water almost immediately. If you want quick relief and cure this is the remedy. Sold by C. D. Bradham, Druggist.

A Lincoln Joke.

President Lincoln, Secretary Chase and Attorney General Bates were one day going out from Washington to Tennyallyn to see General McClellan review the Pennsylvania reserves, when some one commented on the fact that Bates' hair had retained its original dark color in perfect freshness while his beard was almost white.

When asked, Mr. Bates said he knew no special reason for it. But Lincoln exclaimed laughingly: "Why, don't you know? It's because he uses his chin more than he does his head."

What Thin Folks Need.

Is a greater power of digesting and assimilating food. For them Dr. King's New Life Pills work wonders. They tone and regulate the digestive organs, gently expel all poisons from the system, enrich the blood, improve appetite, make healthy flesh. Only 25c at C. D. Bradham's.

American Crowds.

While he was still in this country Prince Henry was reported to have said handsome things about the American crowds. Now that he has arrived home they still fill his theme. "No where else in the world are the crowds so well behaved as in America, and they themselves are their own controllers." The prince of the compliment to the German mind will be found in the last sentence. No crowd in Germany on an occasion similar to the demonstration which attended Prince Henry here would be suffered to be its own controller. Soldiers by the thousands would crowd it. It would not be safe to let a crowd be uncontrolled, not safe for the guests the people gathered to see, not safe for the people themselves. There are many other things besides German crowds that have to be controlled by show of force. A people which governs itself, choosing the administrators of the laws from highest to lowest, gives a training in self control that serves upon all occasions of ordinary excitement.—Boston Herald.

"It is with a good deal of pleasure and satisfaction that I recommend Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy," says Druggist A. W. Sawtelle, of Hartford, Conn. "A lady customer, seeing the remedy exposed for sale on my show case, said to me: 'I really believe that medicine saved my life the past summer while at the shore,' and she became so enthusiastic over its merits that I at once made up my mind to recommend it in the future. Recently a gentleman came into my store so overcome with colic pains that he sank at once to the floor. I gave him a dose of this remedy which helped him. I repeated the dose and in fifteen minutes he left my store smilingly informing me that he felt as well as ever." Sold by F. S. Duffy & Co.

Head and Pocket Camera.

Public men differ strangely when the printing of their portraits is proposed. Chanucy M. Dewey never objects to sitting for a new picture. James J. Hill hasn't had a photograph taken since early in the nineties, but the one from which the newspapers make their reproductions is an excellent likeness.

Ex-Speaker Reed doesn't object to the publication of his picture, but he protests vigorously against the snapshot. Once an interviewer who had an appointment with him ventured to take a pocket camera into the then car's presence. Reed was immediately indignant.

"Take that devil's box away," he cried, "or else call the appointment off!"

A GENTLE HINT.

In our style of climate, with its sudden changes of temperature, rain, wind and sunshine often intermingled in a single day, it is no wonder that our children, friends and relatives are so frequently taken from us by neglected colds, half the deaths resulting directly from this cause. A bottle of Beecher's German Syrup kept about your house for immediate use will prevent serious sickness, a large doctor's bill, and perhaps death, by the use of three or four doses. For curing Consumption, Hemorrhages, Pneumonia, Severe Coughs, Croup or any disease of the Throat or Lungs, its success is simply wonderful, as your druggist will tell you. DO NOT NEGLECT

THE LITTLE ILLS OF TODAY.

The Use of PAINE'S Celery Compound

Will Eradicate From the Blood and System the Seeds of Disease.

As grains of sand make our lofty mountains, drops of water the mighty ocean, and as our massive buildings are made of one brick piled upon another, so do the little ills of life contribute to the building up of deadly diseases in the body.

Experienced medical men claim that fully three fourths of our men, and women enter the summer season with little ills and symptoms of disease, which must develop into serious and fatal troubles if not banished at once.

We hear our friends complaining daily of rheumatic tendencies, sharp and darting neuralgic pains, dyspepsia, pains in the side and back, nervousness, and sleeplessness; and we see with our own eyes the effects of impure blood in facial blotches, eruptions, and more or less in condition to withstand the enervating effects of the coming hot weather.

In every community where Paine's Celery Compound has been used at this season to banish disease, it is regarded as a godsend. Workers in offices, shops, factories, and weary and run down wives and mothers in their homes have thanked Heaven for Dr. Paine's marvelous prescription, because it made them well. Try a bottle of two, and you are all right and sleek; it will give you what you most stand in need of—health and new life!

Wise and intelligent people who have looked into the claims of Paine's Celery Compound and followed its remarkable cures of relatives, friends, and neighbors see it themselves with faith and confidence, to banish their symptoms of coming troubles, to cleanse the blood, to re-establish their nerve force, energy, and bodily strength, and more or less in condition to withstand the enervating effects of the coming hot weather.

The Structure of Ferns. When flowering plants usually make seed, that is generally the last effort for plant life. The seed is the beginning of the life of the new plant. Ferns, however, only produce spores for reproductive purposes. These spores germinate and go through the same process subsequently that flowers go through in the production of seeds. The spores expand when the germinating time comes and form a flat, green membrane. What are then really the ferns appear on this membrane. As a general rule after these fern flowers have matured the membrane dries up and disappears. In one family of ferns, however, natives of New Holland, named platyterium, this green blade is permanent and continues to enlarge, becoming really a portion of the plant. Every year a new blade is formed, which spreads over the old one. The large plant is of a totally different character, having the fronds of ordinary ferns.

When They Were Boys.

In a recent speech Senator Dolliver told of an incident that occurred when President McKinley made his trip to the northwest to receive a returning regiment of volunteers who had been to the Philippines.

The special train was speeding across Iowa. All the members of the cabinet and a number of senators, representatives and governors were in the observation car. President McKinley looked out of the window and saw two boys warning their feet on a place where a cow had been lying all night. The president chuckled and said:

"Gentlemen, do you know that one of the most delightful recollections of my boyhood is the solid comfort of the experience those boys are now having warming frost-bitten feet in the place where cows have been lying down?"

"Turning to the company," Mr. Dolliver continued, "President McKinley said, 'I wonder how many of you here have had the same experience?'"

"Every member of the party, beginning with John Hay, who did his foot warming party in Ohio and partly in Indiana, to Secretary Wilson, who did his in the heather in Scotland, testified to the delights of the practice."

Like a Drowning Man. "Five years ago a disease the doctor called dyspepsia took such hold of me that I could scarcely go," writes Geo. S. Marsh, well-known attorney of Nocona, Tex. "I took quantities of pepto and medicines but nothing helped me. As a drowning man grabs at a straw I grabbed at Kodol. I felt an improvement at once and after a few bottles am sound and well." Kodol is the only preparation which exactly reproduces the natural digestive juices and consequently is the only one which digests any good food and cures any form of stomach trouble. F. S. Duffy.

The German Soldier. A Russian military expert in the Novoe Vremya says that the principal qualities of the German soldier are boundless arrogance and unlimited confidence in his own prowess. The German soldier is trained to regard himself as superior to any other soldier in the world, a system which produces a dangerous tendency to underestimate the strength of an enemy. He is not without good qualities, but his tenacity of purpose and staying power are weak. He is a fighting machine, utterly without initiative and would be helpless if required to act on his own judgment in a position of difficulty. He has to be fed and pampered in a comparatively luxurious way in order to be kept in fit condition, and it is more than doubtful that he would be able to stand the hardships of a long campaign.

The article states in conclusively overrated, and it expresses the opinion that Russia can contemplate the possibility of a war with Germany with perfect serenity.

Holds up a Congressman. "At the end of the campaign," writes Champ Clark, Missouri's brilliant congressman, "from overwork, nervous tension, loss of sleep and constant speaking I had about utterly collapsed. It seemed that all the organs in my body were out of order, but three bottles of Electric Bitters made me all right. It is the best all-around medicine ever sold over a druggist's counter." Over-worked run-down men and weak, sickly women gain splendid health and vitality from Electric Bitters. Try them. Only 50c. Guaranteed by C. D. Bradham.

Eye Strain Cause of Sore Eyes. Inflamed eyes, styes, and headache are symptoms which point conclusively to eye strain, and to cure yourself you must seek the cause, correct it and then your trouble will disappear. You can stimulate and help nature in curing the symptoms by various ways, but still the cause is there and liable at any moment to break out again; it seems like pouring water on the smoke to put out a fire, to pursue any other course than the proper adjusted glasses to correct the strain.

A normal eye is one which in response the rays entering it are brought to a focus on the retina, when they are not this way an extra amount of nerve force is demanded to make them focus correctly, the result, an overflow of blood causing congestion, styes, the leakage of nerve force, the headache; it is not hard to understand how a severe strain can soon exhaust enough nerve force to cause a general breaking down of the whole nervous system.

By the aid of the latest instruments we can adjust glasses to any one, children especially, letting them go about their studies without being seriously handicapped on account of eye trouble. J. O. BAXTER, Jr.

Beware of a Cough. A cough is not a disease but a symptom. Consumption and bronchitis, which are the most dangerous and fatal diseases, have for their first indication a persistent cough, and if properly treated as soon as the cough appears are easily cured. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has proven wonderfully successful, and gained its wide reputation and extensive sale by its success in curing the disease which causes coughing. If it is not been fatal it will not cost you a cent. For sale by F. S. Duffy & Co.
