

THE PENALTY IN HONEST PUBLIC SERVICE.

The exact performance of those in public, of the duties coming to their hand, is so often ignored or put aside with excuses, that the man in public office who unflinchingly adheres to strictness in the conduct of his office, is regarded as a freak.

Catering to demands which can keep a man in office, instead of conducting an office as a trust given to be faithfully administered, has brought public office holding into a discredit that causes the sincere and honest man to be kept from positions of public trust, which ought to be filled by men who fear no penalty for being true to the affairs given into their hands.

President Roosevelt is warned by parties on every side, that his fight against the Trusts, means for him, political retirement, that no re-nomination can be expected if he persists in this contest.

When the penalty of an honest public service, means the retirement of every such man who refuses to play into the hands of those can continue him in office, how shall the people decide?

It is more than a serious matter, this betrayal of those given positions of public trust, in the conduct of the affairs of their offices, in order to perpetuate their individual office holding.

Both the Trusts and the wealthy threaten to impair the stability of national affairs, through their financial strength, regardless of the laws, and the masses of the people are made to suffer in consequence.

In every branch of public office holding in this country, there is a demand for a reform, which shall remove the penalty of honest public service being a political stigma, and making the offender marked for retirement from positions of public trust.

Those in control of the political machinery which make or unmake nominations, may find that the voters have ideas of their own, and that these ideas will be put into action at the polls, when the public service is made to suffer through honest administration, be it Municipal, State or National.
