ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.

Young Man Cuts His Wrist and Throat.

Increased Pay For United States Jurors. Case of Engineer Davis, Pilgrimage To Roanoke Island. Firemen's Tournament Political Aspirants.

RALEIGH, July 14.--The jurors in the Federal Court here up to this time been paid $2 a day, but hereafter will be paid $3. There will now be an even greater desire to "get on the jury."

Yesterday morning quite early a young man here, who is addicted to strong drink, cut his wrist and throat in a desperate attempt at suicide. For a week or more he had been watched, for fear of suicidal mania, and this morning he went up stairs in his house, his three little children going with him. They all sat down in one room for a moment and then he said as he stepped into another room that he would call them in a moment. In that moment he slashed himself with a knife. Then he called them. They entered and saw the always terrible sight of a madman, a knife and blood. A doctor was very near and was on hand in a minute. Later in the day there was a commission of lunacy and the would-be suicide was placed in the Hospital for the Insane.

It is learned that the Supreme Court of South Carolina has settled the case of Engineer Davis, of the Southern Railway. He was from Raleigh. Suit was brought and $10,000 damages awarded. There was an appeal and a new suit, and on a second trial the jury gave $11,000 damages.

July 24 stands as the date when the pilgrimage is to be made to Roanoke Island. There was some sort of an effort to defer it.

Ex-Congressman John W. Atwater will find his candidacy as an independent candidate for Congress in this district what the New Englanders graphically term "rough sledding." He wants a joint canvass with Congressman Pou. His main ground of opposition to the latter appears to be that he "wasn't in the war" and is not a farmer.

The Democratic congressional convention is called by Chairman James Richard Young to meet here July 15th. It is a foregone conclusion that Pou will be re-nominated.

The firemen here will give the visiting firemen all the fun and excitement they are looking for at the tournament. It is said that the hook and ladder competitors are to be treated to a real fire and a real rescue. In other words a house has been secured which will be set on fire. Inside it will be two boys. They will be on the second floor. The ladder men will rescue them. No possible danger can befall the boys, as they are both red-headed and freckled; so there need be no fear for them in any case.

The news from C. G. Latta, of Raleigh injured in New York, is that his left side is entirely paralyzed. There are kidney complications and the chances of recovery very small and are diminishing.
