Electric Storm of Yesterday Does No Great Harm But Creates Much Fear.

A thunder storm of very unusual violence visited this city yesterday afternoon accompanied by wind. For an hour the elements held people prisoners in their houses or stores and many trembled with fear because of the severity of the lightning. That the electricity did not cause serious damage is a wonder for rarely has there been such sharp lightning without disastrous effects as that of yesterday. The night was sure inspiring in the extreme. The continuous rain of electric fire out of a sky almost as dark as night and constant and terrible reports of thunder was enough to make the strongest heart fearful.

In spite of the fierceness of the storm the damage done to property was very light. A few limbs were blown down from trees. The barn in the rear of South era Express office where the company's horse and a team belonging to M. L. Jacobs is also kept, was a little "touched up" by the electrical freaks of lightning was plainly evident here, the peculiar force struck the stable and shivered the timbers under the eaves but there was no other evidence of other damage not even setting on fire as lightning so often does.

John Bowden, one of the operators at the Western Union telegraph office received a severe shock and was made quite sick for a time.

Steal a Sheep.

Clever and quick work was done by officers Lupton and Bryan yesterday. Shortly after the storm Marshal Harget at the City Hall received a telephone message from Mr. Wallace Whitehurst, living on the east side of the river that a sheep had been stolen from his place. The officers were dispatched to the draw bridge and they had not proceeded on the bridge very far before they found the man they were looking for, a colored man, who confessed to his guilt. He had tied the sheep in a house at the further end of the bridge. He said that he lived in Wilmington but didn't give his name.

AROUND AND ABOUT.

The pastor of St. Mary's Free Will Baptist church requests all the members to be present at the Conference meeting tonight.

A man from Oriental showed us yesterday a musk melon 21 inches long, and about 7 inches in circumference. It was a curious sight.

The residence building on Craven street, lately occupied by Mr. Geo. B. Waters, and which is the property of Mr. L. E. Cutler, is being moved to a better position on the lot, and will be entirely remodelled.

The A. G. Allen minstrels played here in their tent last night as advertised. A very large crowd attended, and seemed to heartily enjoy the fun. The dancing and some other features of the show were very good.

Mr. J. M. Howard who was the popular and successful manager of the Planters Tobacco warehouse last year will run the warehouse at the old Fair grounds this season. Mr. Howard has an announcement in today's paper which is of interest to tobacco growers.

The old shack on Middle street, said to be the property of the Griffin school fund which is occupied by Mr. Wm. Sullivan for a carriage house is being propped up again. Such old buildings are not only discreditable to the city, but are dangerous to life and injurious to health in any other city but this they would be condemned and torn down.

Mr. Thos. F. McCarthy received a slight shock during the thunder storm yesterday. He was standing in his store admiring the storm when a bolt which followed the electric wire into the house struck him on the shoulder and passed down his body burning him on the knee and foot. He was rendered unconscious for a short time, and though suffering a good deal of pain he is not seriously hurt. It was a narrow escape from death.

STILL IN LEAGUE.

Although Raleigh Newspapers Say Only Two Club League.

The New Bern Athletic Association, the New Bern base ball team and the New Bern people are entertained over the Raleigh reports, which say that the North Carolina base ball league now consists of only two clubs, Raleigh and Greensboro.

The fact that New Bern is not playing ball today, does not put the club out of the league. President Busbee's schedule called for Durham here Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, but that club having dropped out, leaves New Bern without anything to do until Greensboro comes tomorrow, as per schedule.

The Raleigh newspaper may think New Bern is out, the same as they have been publishing accounts of Devin and other players having joined the Newark N. J. club, when these players are still members of the New Bern team and are here.

New Bern is in the league, and will be until the end. The two club league is Raleigh fiction.

Card of Thanks.

I wish through the JOURNAL to thank the many friends who have been so kind to me during my accident and I desire them all to know that I deeply appreciate all their acts of sympathy. New Bern is the best place it has ever been my lot to play in and I sincerely hope for the highest success for you all.

Yours truly,
A. D. CRAWLEY.

A DANCE.

There will be a dance given complimentary to the visiting young ladies. The dance will take place in Lowthrop hall Friday evening and will be a fine social event. A large number from Morehead and other towns is expected. New Bern string band will furnish the music.

ROANOKE ISLAND.

The Four Gateways to the Famous Resort Where a Celebration of an Historic Event is to Occur Soon.

The four gateways to Roanoke Island, where it is proposed to celebrate in appropriate form the historic events connected with Sir Walter Raleigh's efforts at colonization more than four hundred years ago are, Elizabeth City, Edenton, Washington and New Bern. From some one of these in our State each visitor must embark for the Island. And, fortunately these towns afford ample facilities, so that there need be no monopoly at any one of them—though it is said that already there is manifest a disposition to want to monopolize the "way," but happily there is no opportunity for such a plan, as each of these fine towns has advantages to offer, once the celebration is under way.

The enterprise of Elizabeth City will no doubt see to it that commodious steamers make daily trips to and from the island, and the hospitality of that goodly town will be equal to any demands made upon it. Col. Crocy, that dear old father in newspaperdom will vouch for his city.

Certainly no less will be expected of historic old Edenton; the town itself with its traditions, buildings and people all associated with the early history of the Old North State, will find that hundreds of visitors will make that delightful town a gateway to the celebration. They will provide jaunty, spick and span steamers to transport the throngs who will journey their way. Both towns will show to the world the beauties of the Albemarle Sound.

Those visitors who make Washington, Beaufort Co., their gateway, will explore Pamlico river and Pamlico sound. Such steamers as the wideawake Washingtonians will provide, will be sure to please the public. This promises to be one of the busiest of the "ways," as her railway facilities are good and her superb passenger steamers will have many landings to make down the river.

New Bern, that beautiful town at the confluence of the Neuse and Trent rivers will also be one of the popular "ways" for visitors to the Island. She already has a line of comfortable steamers which make regular landings at "Skyoo" the port of entry to our historic Island. But these will be added to and the old steamers painted and scrubbed and made as bright as a dollar for the great event.

These New Bern boats will explore the whole length of Pamlico sound in finding the mecca of its visitors; in fact, each of these interesting eastern towns has advantages peculiar to itself, and the enterprise of each may be depended upon for making the most of its special features, regardless of its neighbors.

Among the advantages which the sound region will reap from the celebration, will be in creating a stimulus to the building of the great inland waterway from Wilmington to New York, by the U. S. Government. This would afford an inland, or land protected waterway for moving either the navy of commerce between the points indicated, and would be of incalculable value to our country in time of war with any foreign power, or when storms rage in the open sea.

It might also bring about the finishing of some of the projected lines of railroad in that region, as well as stimulate the opening of other steamboat lines. It would bring to the attention of the world the great advantage of soil for profitable trucking; of the water for profitable fishing and of the forest for profitable lumbering. The cheapness and ease with which life may be sustained in that region will be sure to attract the attention of the home seeker, and the possibilities above enumerated will attract the investor, the farmer, the fisherman, the lumbermen and the canner of fruits, vegetables and fish. These are, briefly, some of the advantages to be gained by the residents of the sound region from the proposed celebration.

There is some confusion among our people in regard to the "exposition" feature. It will not be an exposition in the ordinary sense, at all. In the building called a museum will be shown historic objects, reprints of incidents and events in the history of the colonies planted there, and pageants of the same character will be shown in the open air. There will also be in the museum, costumes, arms, wares, etc. of the time; on the shores of Roanoke Island there will be a camp of Indians in tepees, engaged in the ordinary occupations of Indians making baskets, blankets, bows and arrows and the like, just as were found four hundred years ago by Amans and Barlowe. These will be studied and prepared to form that part of the celebration which will appeal to the eye; while a great literary feast will be spread daily before the visitor, consisting of lectures, orations, sketches, etc. These features should be glanced at the character of the celebration and will, by their novelty, prove of great interest to all visitors.

We are still selling meat, at 12 1/2c per pound, not 20c as reported. Oaks Market.
