SENSATIONAL NORTH CAROLINA POLITICS.

North Carolina politics are just entering upon a period which can be designated as "sensational."

It is a sensational political period, in that there is a breaking away from the cut and dried political methods which have prevailed for so long, and the individual, each voter, is having his own thoughts, and feeling that he can 'exerclse and direct his own vote, without being dictated to as to how he shall and

As a notable example of what may be called this sensational politics, is the card of Mr. E. R. MacKethan, published in the Fayetteville Observer of 26th inst. V C C ...... Mr. MacKethan being an honored citizen A. C. O ...... of Cumberland county, Secretary of the Amilco. ..... 124 124 124 county Democratic executive committee, and a member of the last Legislature both of these positions he has resigned since taking his course of announcing himself as an Independent Candidate for the Sixth Congressional District.

It will be remembered that quite a contest took place over the Democratic Congressional nomination in this district about a week ago.

In his card to the voters of the Sixth District, Mr. MacKethan says:

In a government by the people, it is natural, right and good for the people to divide. For more than thirty years unnatural conditions forbade a true and unhampered division, with safety, in North Carolina. In 1900 there was change, and it was proclaimed through out the State, that, hereafter, her electors should, and would, be FREE to divide, every man according to his view On Monday, April 30, 1900, this was proclaimed in Cumberland by our pres-ent honored and distinguished Governor and, in introducing him in this city on the evening of the same day, a privilege and honor accorded me as president of and nonor accorded me as president of the White Supremacy Olub, I called st-tention to, and especially emphasized this position. How he and others is-bored to bring this freedom to her right-ful electorate, the returns for Governor and the General Assembly in North Carolina are a lasting record. For cause there is now a division among the voters Congressional District. What strength it represents now, or will hereafter grow to represent, and what the final result will be, it is not now within human knowledge to tell. When I, therefore, respectfully announce, as I now do, my candidacy for this high honor, as your Representative in this District, no man can realize more than I do the importance of the step, no mat-ter what the result may be on the fourth day of November

Mr. MacKethan's action is sensational in that he has broken away from a submissive acceptance of a convention's vote, of course regarding him as a Democrat

It is hardly sensational if it be accept ed as he states in his card, that electors are free, and that there exists a cause for division among the voters of the Sixth District.

These two contentions being true, and his word has ever been held as good, then his candidacy is honorable, in seeking the suffrages of the voters of the Sixth district.

And this is only one incident of sensational politics, more of which are most likely to take place, as the new political epoch now beginning in North Carolina continues to develop.

A Most Wonderful Feat.

William Lyon, a London actor of the latter part of the eighteenth century, once offered to wager that he could repeat every word in a Daily Advertiser at the next morning's rehearsal. Accordingly, the next morning his opponent ridiculed him for bragging upon his feats of memory. Lyon forthwith handed the paper to a judge agreed upon, and, notwithstanding the want of connection between the news items, editorials, stories and advertisements, he repeated every word of the entire paper from beginning to end without the least besitation or mistake.

Mr. Stean as a Judge. No Orange Free State judge was ver more popular than Mr. Steyn in the days when he traversed the country in a two wheeled gig. There were no railways or bridges in the Free State then, and travelers, even with a Judge's salary, were compelled to live primitive lives. When mealtime came, the judge would stop his four mustangs and alight from his gig to make a fire by the wayside at which to cook his dinner. Having eaten his chop, he would resume his journey and at night would knock at the door of the nearest farmhouse, where he would be welcomed to the family supper table and offered a bed for the night. In this way Mr. Steyn traveled through the Free State from end to end, administering justice and making friendships at every place he visited.
