Important Controversy Over Oyster Bed Entry.

State Fair to Make Great Apple Exhibit. To Build Gravel Roads. Good Deal Small Fox. State Char-ter.

RALEIGH, September 16.—The Governor and Council of State had a long hearing of interesting cases involving the entry of oyster beds in the waters of Hyde county to a man named Hadly. The State permitted the entry and Hadly has spent much money there. Now it is claimed that the oyster beds were what are known as "natural beds," and hence not subject to entry. The Governor and Council have reached no conclusion as yet.

E. K. Practor, Jr., of Lumberton is critically ill with malarial fever. While delirious he got away from the nurse, rushed down stairs and fell with great violence. The death of State engineer Joseph H. McRee, his dear friend, greatly affected him.

There will be a great show of apples here at the State fair and the three ablest pomologists in the country will be the judges. These are chief pomologist Brockett and assistant pomologist Taylor of the United States department of agriculture and editor Bailey of Country Life. Secretary Bruner of the State department of agriculture leaves tomorrow for western North Carolina to collect apples for this show. He will look particularly after seedlings, so these experts can identify them. The experts will make talks to apple-growers October 29 in the auditorium of the agricultural building.

Secretary R. H. Lewis of the State Board of Health says there is more small pox than usual in the State at this time and he thinks there will be a great deal of it when cold weather comes. One doctor in a piedmont county who was very pronounced in his declaration that small pox was "herpes," was the second man to be attacked by it and will as a result carry a deeply pitted face the rest of his life.

A charter was granted today by the State to the Alamance Tobacco Warehouse Company of Burlington.

Two long-term convicts were brought to the penitentiary today. Both are white men and both killed negroes. Henry Cochran gets 15 years and Samuel Powell 21. Cochran fled the State and was recaptured in the Indian Territory.

The State Board of Education will not immediately elect a State engineer. There are at least a dozen applications for the place.

A Jury Coincidence.

A panel of jurors was summoned in a London court. Sixty-two of them answered to the name of Clark. A jury of twelve was drawn and eleven of them were named Clark. The twelfth man was G. H. Clarkson.

Purves Industrial Academy Opens.

Reported for Journal.

There was a very enthusiastic "Educational Rally" at the Fair Grounds on Monday night. The crowd that came out could not be accommodated. Mr. J. P. Stanley was Chairman of the meeting. He handled his large audience with tact and ability.

Among the speakers were Hon. E. R. Dudley, C. C. Cox, Revs. J. E. Lee, Wm Sutton, J. H. Love, Miles Sprull and W. A. Byrd.

Unqualified resolutions were adopted after the speeches endorsing the educational campaign going on in the Old North State, headed by his Excellency, Governor Aycock and the Purves Industrial Academy.

The other ministers present were, Revs. C. W. Cole and C. A. Willie.

The school opened under very favorable conditions.

The following resolutions were offered and adopted:

Whereas, The State of North Carolina has entered upon an educational campaign for the masses, and

Whereas, Industrial Education is the abtolutely and

Whereas, Industrial training is better suited for the masses of any people, and

Whereas, Skilled labor is required in every vocation. Therefore be it

Resolved First that we the citizens of New Bern do most heartily join in with and endorse the movement now being carried on the State.

Resolved Second that we do most heartily endorse the Purves Industrial Academy in its endeavor to establish and foster industrial education in Eastern Carolina.

Resolved Third that we pledge our support and ask the public to help us in making firm and secure this institution.

Resolved Fourth that these resolutions be published in the columns of the New Bern Daily Journal and the Raleigh Post.

A GIRL'S PROBLEM.

How to Feed Herself When Running Down.

"I am a stenographer!" That statement brings up a picture of long hours of tireless indoor confinement, close mental concentration and subsequent exhaustion and brain fog. Then comes up the food question.

A young lady in Dayton Ohio writes, "Some time ago I was a stenographer in a large city retail store and having the responsibility of the office work resting largely upon me my health began gradually to decline and I stood facing the difficult problem of finding relief of some kind or leaving my situation. Worry added to my troubles; I became dyspeptic and nervous and suffered with insomnia and restlessness at night.

I was speaking of my illness one day to a trained nurse, who recommended that I begin a systematic diet of Grape-Nuts at once as she had seen its beneficial effect upon several of her patients who had suffered as I did.

So I began to use the food conscientiously. It formed my entire breakfast with perhaps Postum Coffee or some other nourishing drink and a second dish was taken at the evening meal. In about two weeks time I began to feel stronger and more hopeful; my digestion and appetite were better; I was less nervous and could sleep. I continued the diet steadily and soon courage and vitality began to revive and once more I began to think success lay somewhere in this big world for me.

My work grew smoother and easier and after seven months of this diet I could do almost twice the amount of work in a day and do it easily and without feeling exhausted.

Today I am holding a much more responsible position and do the work easily and satisfactorily. I attribute it all to Grape-Nuts which I still continue to use. For a palatable and healthful diet, there is nothing on the market to equal it, and the fact should become of common knowledge. Menus given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.
