WHAT'S THE MATTER?

It is for New Bernians to read and answer.

The Journal has received the following information and inquiry which deserves an answer.

The Journal - The citizens of Pamlico county are reporting the Foster road in Craven County.

No, New Bern will not always sleep. Some fine day she will awake to find a great accumulation of lost opportunities.

The people of Pamlico county are not the only people who desire to trade with New Bern.

The people of Jones county and Onslow county, especially in the section embracing Richlands, Gum Branch, Half Moon and Catherine Lake have the same preference and desire.

Four or five hundred dollars spent on the Queaker Bridge road last summer, would have brought thousands of dollars worth of tobacco to this city.

All of the approaches to New Bern are in a bad condition.

Yes, "W." New Bern is now asleep, very few business interests have any attraction for her people.

But the rumble of progress is heard in the distance.

Perhaps it is a bad awakening for some of our people.
