RALEIGH.

Trial of Parties Implicated in Henderson Murder.

Wilson Military Company Accepted. Marriage Necessarily Postponed. Primitive Baptists Meeting. Program North Carolina Day in Public Schools.

RALEIGH, Sept. 27.—Orders are issued from State Guard headquarters accepting a company of infantry at Wilson, to be known as Company K, 2nd Regiment. It takes the place of the company lately disbanded. The engagement is announced of Miss Charlotte Young, daughter of insurance commissioner James Richard Young, to Mr. Henry R. Thorpe of Rocky Mount. The wedding will be in December. Congressman Fox of this district will open his regular campaign at Rocky Mount, Oct. 2. A convict who was sent to the penitentiary from here; to serve 5 years, wupt and told the officers that what grieved him was that today was to have been his wedding day and that the marriage would have to be postponed for five years.

The attendance at the meeting of the Little River Primitive Baptist Association here became very large today. Seven counties are represented. There are elders present from three other States, Maryland, Virginia and South Carolina, these visitors being the guests of Gov. and Mrs. Aycock.

Ex-Senator and Mrs. Marion Butler arrived here yesterday evening and will remain until December. They will spend the winter in New York and Washington.

The demand for cotton seed here by the oil mills was never so great. The price paid is 85 cents a bushel. The mills have "runners" on the streets and these fairly beseege the farmers who bring in the seed.

The programme for "North Carolina Day" November 26—in the public schools is completed and is as follows: Subject "The Albemarle Section," Song "The Old State," Reading "The First Governor, William Drummond," Reading "The Roanoke Island of Today," by Charles R. Taylor, Reading "Albemarle Memorials" by R. B. Orey, Reading "Education," by W. E. Stone, Song "America," Reading "Hertford," by W. F. McMillan, Reading "A Distinguished Citizen of the Albemarle Section," by James Darr, Reading "Hatters and the Banks," Declaration "Hatters," poem by Joseph W. Holden. Selected Hymns.

Today the three negro prisoners, Joe Cole, Sr., Joe Cole, Jr. and Charles Ferguson, who killed Mr. Stevens and wounded train porter Mitchell on a train near Henderson were taken from the penitentiary to Henderson for trial, by sheriff Powell. The case will be trial for murder. All these prisoners are from Lynchburg, Va. They were on their way to Lenoir to work in tobacco. There were five of the negroes and all five would have been lynched but for the guarding of the Henderson jail by troops. The men who wanted to lynch them were railway employes it is said, and it is believed a few at least of the Henderson people would have aided the lynchers. The negroes were brought here and placed in the penitentiary for safe keeping. The negroes hate the older Cole, who worked there last year, it is said, won their money at "craps" and then reported 15 or 20 of them for gambling.

The trial of the Coles for murder and of Ferguson as an accessory will hardly take place before Wednesday. The other negroes were discharged upon the statements by Conductor Clements that they had nothing to do with the affair. Mitchell, the faithful negro porter was shot while saving the life of Conductor Clements.

One of the Best.

"Reaping the Harvest" scored a decided hit at the Grand last night. The performance in many respects was one of the best that has been in Asheville this season. All the parts were well played and the scenery was especially pretty.—The Citizen, Asheville, N. C., Feb. 24, 1902.

Received fresh today, a fine lot of Lemon, Orange, Lime, Hoochmond and Annesced Drops, at McSorley's.
