RALEIGH

Report of the State Public Schools.

Large Colored Registration in Wake County. Ex-Confederate Soldier Pardoned. Marriage. Non-Built in S. A. L. Caps.

RALEIGH, Oct. 28.—Chairman Armstrong Jones of the Democratic Committee of this county says: all the registration returns are in, and show 6,100 whites, 890 negroes. He says the negro registration here was larger than elsewhere, as the law was literally construed.

The independents in this county have decided to fill out their ticket, which at present is a skeleton one.

Maj. John M. Greenhaw of Forestville is here to attend the State Fair. In 50 years he has missed only one Fair.

Congressman E. W. Fox says the candidacy of John W. Atwater, Independent, is pitiful.

Governor Aycock today pardoned James L. Haver of Wilkes county, an ex-Confederate soldier 68 years old, who tore out part of the foundation of a dwelling occupied by some dissolute women in a few yards of his own home, after he had tried all other means to induce them to leave. No one was injured. He was sentenced to 4 months on the public roads in Forsyth county.

At the home of the bride's sister here this morning Mr. Sanford L. Rottor, city editor of the News and Observer, was united in marriage to Miss Hester Beasley, formerly of Granville county but for a year residing here. Mr. Rottor is a native of Petersburg.

In the Superior Court here today after the jury had been drawn and passed, one of the jurors in the damage case of Robert O. King against the Seaboard Air-Line for $40,000 notified the judge that he had been for 25 years an agent of that railway. King's side had overlooked this. A non-suit was taken by King.

There is almost no cotton in the fields now, and it is doubtful whether that crop was ever picked so clean and so early. The cotton is yet blooming and there are a number of young forms and bolls. There will be another gleaming in a week or ten days, and this will finish it.

The report on public schools in this State was made today. The census of children between the ages of six and twenty-one shows 454,685 whites, 231,288 negroes, 1794 Colpean Indians; total, 678,977. The enrollment in the schools is 214,671: whites, 149,979 negroes, 771 Colpean Indians. This shows an increase of 28,294 over 1900. The average attendance at school is 185,896 whites, 88,978 negroes, total 266,870, an increase of 11,900 over last year. The enrollment in city and town graded schools is 25,388. It is the first time the latter report was ever made. Thirty-three cities and towns reported.

TELEGRAPHIC BREVITIES.

Earthquakes and floods have worked serious damage in Italy.

Former Chinese Minister Wu Ting Fang has been called home to take charge of a government office in his country.

Mrs. Elizabeth Cady Stanton, the foremost advocate of Women's Rights died in New York City Sunday aged 86 years.

A nihilist plot has been discovered to kill the Dowager Empress, Marie Dagmar of Russia.

Telegraphers in Louisville, Ky., organized Saturday with John A. Halligan as president.

Registration in Cincinnati, O. has fallen off 5000, as compared with the State election.

An ordinance requiring trolley companies to clean the streets has been declared valid in Chicago, Ill.

The Trustees of the National McKinley Memorial Association will not start construction until $650,000 has been raised.

Thirty washed men took Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lawson from their cabin home, at Polk, Ind., and whipped them brutally.

Two cents an hour increase in wages has been granted shop employes of the Chicago & Alton Railroad, adding $10,000 to the monthly pay-roll.

The November Everybody's is really a well illustrated magazine. Several of the best illustrations are represented. Frederick Remondin contributes a splendid picture of a border fight. D. U. Wilson portrays types of Mississippi River pirates, and B. J. Johnson has done some capital pictures to illustrate Mr. Blodgett's story. G. A. Paterson, Earl J. Anderson, A. B. Frost and Orin Lowell are also represented.

THE STATE FAIR.

Splendid Weather and Large Attendance. Governor Opens Fair Exhibits.

Special to Journal.

RALEIGH, Oct. 28.—The weather today was glorious, the rain of yesterday and last night having laid the dust, while the air was crisp and a stirring breeze came from the northwest. It was exactly the weather for the State Fair.

All the trains since Sunday have brought numbers of visitors and today many extra cars were required. These are prosperous times in North Carolina and the people show that fact.

The formal opening of the Semi-Centennial State Fair occurred today at noon. One hour earlier a procession formed and left the city, headed by chief marshal John L. Patterson, escorting Governor Aycock, State, County and City officials, and President J. A. Long of the State Agricultural Society.

The opening exercises were held at the grand stand. There was music by several bands, the official band being that of the third regiment from Redville. There was also choral singing, by a large chorus.

President Long introduced Governor Aycock, who spoke half an hour, and who then inspected the very extensive exhibit. It is, as was predicted, the largest of all the State Fairs, having in fact almost the dimensions of a Stock exposition. The high quality of the exhibits, as well as their number and variety, attract special attention.

The show of stock is extensive, that of agricultural products has certainly never been surpassed in North Carolina, the apple show is one of the best ever made in the South, and is in fact a revelation, not only to the people of this State but to the experts who have come here from Washington and New York to judge it.

Supreme Court Opinions.

Special to Journal

RALEIGH, Oct. 28.—The Supreme Court filed the following opinions, today.

Williams vs Avery from Burke, new trial.

Springs vs Pharr from Mecklenburg, affirmed.

Morris vs Ins. Co, from Durham no error.

Pickett vs Garrard from Durham, new trial.

Gattis vs Kligo, from Granville, new trial.

State vs Freeman from Guilford per curiam, error.

State vs Blackley, from Granville, new trial.

Fowler vs McLaughlin from Union reversed.

Scott vs Greensboro from Guilford per curiam affirmed on authority of Peterson vs Wilmington 130 N. C. 76.

Byrd vs Greensboro from Guilford, per curiam, affirmed on the same authority.

Market Letter on Cotton.

By private wire, J. E. Latham & Co.

New York, Oct. 28.—March sold at 8.28 this a. m. bearing out the idea formed after yesterday's market, that the situation seemed weaker than heretofore. Fine weather in the belt and better crop accounts operated against the market. There was a lot of cotton sold early by commission houses and the only buying came from those long of January. The heavy short interest in March against the long January, leaves the clique in shape to take profits on short March in order to put out the cotton on any advance. Talk tends to drive shorts in when the buying starts. No amount of manipulation can prevent an advancing or declining market if the underlying factors are for a movement. For the present the fine weather, operators for a break. Haying has prevented a decline thus far, but on the decline he prevented much longer. In event of larger receipts next week, we are inclined to believe a break possible. If market holds without breaking it's a strong market and for this reason would be a strong market and for this reason would be a strong market and for this reason would be a strong market.

The November Everybody's is really a well illustrated magazine. Several of the best illustrations are represented. Frederick Remondin contributes a splendid picture of a border fight. D. U. Wilson portrays types of Mississippi River pirates, and B. J. Johnson has done some capital pictures to illustrate Mr. Blodgett's story. G. A. Paterson, Earl J. Anderson, A. B.
