Registration Returns For State Not All In.

Farmer Cuts Man Dangerously. Fortrait Presentation to the State Library. Increase in Sale of Fertilizer Tax Tags.

RALEIGH, Oct. 29.—The State today granted a charter to the Lucas Lumber Company of Wilson, capital $125,000, Elias Lucas and others stockholders.

There was but little going on at the State departments today, as the rush of visitors was so great. Tomorrow will be a holiday and all the departments will be closed.

Five thousand persons visited the State museum today. It is one of the city's greatest attractions.

Commissioner of Agricultural Patterson says there was an increase in the amount of the sales of fertilizer tax tags up to October 1. He has been away all the month and does not yet know what the sales have been since that date. He had expected a large increase in the acreage of small grain.

Inquiry was made today at Democratic State headquarters as to the registration. Secretary Field said: "All our returns are not yet in, but we now know that the white registration is very full, much more so than was generally expected. I can not say as to the negro registration total, but it is small. We ought to win by at least 60,000 majority."

A printer, George Holder, living here, was intoxicated and was being taken home. He staggered against a white farmer, John Hubbard, who returned and cut him dangerously and then fled. Pursuit was hot and after a long chase he was captured.

At noon today the portrait of the late Dr. Charles J. O'Hagan of Greenville was presented to the State library, senator Matt W. Ransom making the address of presentation in behalf of the State Medical Society, many of the members of which were present.

GREAT THROG

At State Fair. Attendance Breaks Record.

Every Exhibit of Interest to Visitors. Amusements in Plenty. A Clean Midway, Floral, Industrial and Military Parades.

Special to Journal.

RALEIGH, Oct. 29.—The prediction that this State Fair would be a record-breaker proved more than accurate. Last night President J. A. Long of the State Agricultural Society said he was sure this would result. There was never before so great a throng of people here on Wednesday of Fair week.

As early as 8 o'clock people began to go to the Fair grounds, by railway and electric cars and in all sorts of vehicles. People from the country in great numbers drove in. The crowd tomorrow, which is always the great day of the Fair, will no doubt literally over-run everything.

Not an exhibit was missed today by the sight-seers. Farmers inspected the long lines of agricultural products, the quality of which has never been equalled; poultry fanciers saw with delight the 600 specimens of poultry; cattle-lovers looked at some of the finest cattle ever shown here. The horses and the ponies, on view in large numbers, were surrounded by many interested people. L. Banks Holt of Alamance county has a remarkable exhibit of ponies, mainly Shetlands, are the smallest ever seen here.

There are plenty of amusements and good ones. The Midway has clean shows this time, and better attractions than heretofore, the Layton 15 shows being a feature. The clay pigeon shoot began today and continues tomorrow and Friday. The last day it will be for the championship of the State. There are various free amusements in the great oval of the race course.

The day was superb. It was a joy to be alive and in such a happy, well dressed and well behaved throng of people as that at the Fair and on the streets. It well represented the best element of North Carolina.

Commissioner of Agricultural Patterson said "You can say from me that it is a splendid fair; the best I have ever seen."

The floral parade, the industrial parade and the military parade was one of the great features of the day. It made the tour of the city, watched by thousands. The military of the State Guard, 9 companies, were under command of Col. J. F. Armfield of the 1st Regiment, the cadets of the Agricultural and Mechanical College being also in line. Miss Julia Howell was in charge of the floral parade, which was by far the finest ever seen here. Henry W. Miller and Sherwood Higgs were in charge of the industrial parade, which was really the finest since 1893, when Raleigh celebrated its centennial. There was also a handsome parade of decorated bicycles. All these features made an imposing picture when they reached the fair grounds, made the circuit of the track and then grouped in the oval. There was music by four bands, a bugle corps and a drum corps. The fire department and a number of wild animals were in the big parade, which was so handsome that it will long be remembered.

The orchestra and band of blind at the fair proved to be a decided attraction. The school for the blind has a fine exhibit of manual work. So have the school for deaf mutes and Agricultural and Mechanical College.
