Health

Thousands of women are kent in sickness for months and years owing to false treatment and the use of worthless medicines, and we are inclined to believe that Milton thought of this class of almost dving women when he said:-

"The angelic guards ascended, mute and sad." The common sense treatment of today for weak, rundown and suffering wom-en, is Paine's Celery Compound. This maryelous medicine is spoken of in every part of the civilized world, and men and women of all classes derive new life from its use. M. Elizabeth Messick, Marietta, Ohio, writes about her rescue from a low condition of physical weak-

ess; she says,—
"Eight years ago I was most success fully operated on for an ovarian tumor, weighing twenty-five pounds. After the operation tonics and foods were used in vain to bring back strength. In some way Paine's Celery Compound came to the rescue, and it really seemed that four doses produced a change. I was then sixten years old, and had three years more of school work. Your compound more of school work. Your compound is the only thing I have to thank for strength during the last three years a school. Now, I am eight months of each year in the South in the home missionary work among the freedmen. This but one bottle of Paine's Celer pound made me over again. BESTED THE PARSON.

A Case Where the Wedding Ring Went on the Right Hand. A ciercal correspondent of the London Express tells of a wedding cere-mony in which he officiated and in his seal for rubrical observances laid himself open to a comical and crushing

"I was then curate of a small country parish in Somersetshire, and one day a couple presented themselves inaries for marriage in the village church.

"All went well until the mo came when it is directed by the rubric that the man shall place the ring upon the fourth finger of the woman's left hand, but then trouble began. The yokel, apparently from nervousness or ignorance, laid hold of the right hand of his expectant bride and placed the ring there resolutely.

"'No,' I said, with quiet firmne you must put the ring on her left hand.' To this his only reply was a stolid stare. Thinking he had not understood me, I repeated my words, but with no better effect.

"With as much warmth and insistence as was justified by the occasion I now took firmer ground and said, 'If you do not put the ring on her left hand, I must stop the serv-

"And then the climax came. With a complacent smile, that seemed to show his satisfaction at having for the moment 'bested' the parson, the bride-groom settled the point for all time with the words, 'Please, str, she ain't got none!" "

How Billiards Were Invented. The English are very fond of the game of billiards, and a letter in the British museum gives the origin of the sport. It was invented by a London pawnbroker, whose name was William Kew. Kew not only lent money, but he sold cloth and for the latter nurpose had a yard measure, with which he used to compute the amounts. One day to distract himself he took the three round balls which are the emblems of his trade-they may still be seen in front of certain shops in London-and, placing them on his counter, began to hit them about with his yard

He found it made a pretty game. He got a kind of skill in making one ball glance off the other, and his friends who saw him thus employed called the game Bill's yard. It was soon short ened into billiards. But the yardstick was the instrument with which the balls were knocked about, and difficul ty arose as to what to call it. They called it after the name of the pawn broker-a Kew.-Paris Figuro.

Fighting Linards The ring necked lisard of the Arisona deserts is not a mere devourer of weak-lings. He is always ready to fight, whether he is challenged by another or cornered by a man. When brought to bay in some hole, lie opens his jaws and dashes bravely out, snapping at everything which opposes him, and so fierce and sudden is his rush that it is impossible to face it without flinching. By holding two of these itsards loosely by the small of the back and allowing their heads to clash as they struggle to escape, one may be able to induce combats such as must escar every day in the desperate lisard world.

Forgetting that they were captives, they would selac upon each other and your their thwarted rage to the atmost in a flight which, but for timely interference, would doubtless lead to the death of one or the other. Is an hereditary disease, and one for which a tainted ancestry or blood poison ed parentage is responsible. It is transmitted through the blood and shows itself in swelling and ulceration of the glands of the neck, catarrh of the head, guands or the neck, catarrh of the head, weak eyes, sores, abscesses and skin erup-tions, with a gradual wasting away of strength and vitality. It also attacks the bones and joints, resulting in white swel-ling, hip disease and deformities of every kind. We see the effects of this awful

READ THIS LETTER: ALMOST A MIRAGLE.

Gentlemen:—In September, 1809, I took rheumatism in a very bad form. In a month after the disease started I had to give up my work and go to bed. It continued to grow worse until my arms and hands were badly drawn, so much so that I could not use them. My legs were drawn back until my feet touched my hips. I was as helpless as a baby for nearly twelve months. The muscles of my arms and legs were hard and shriveled up. I suffered death many times over. Was treated by six different physicians in McCoil, Dillon and Marion, but none of them could do me any good, until Dr. J. P. Ewing, of Dillon, came to see me. He told me to try your "Hheumachen." He got me one bottle of the medicine and I began to take it and before the first bottle was used up I began to get better. I used five and a half bottles and was completely cured. That was two years ago, and my health has been excellent ever since. Have had no symptoms of rhoumatism. I regard "Rirkumacine" as by far the best remedy for rheumatism on the market. I cannot say too much for it. I have recommended it to others since and it has cured them.

Will say further, that I began to wait in about sty days after, I began to take DILLON, S. C., Aug. 18th, 1908.

Will say further, that I began to walk in about six days after I began to take HEDIMACDE," with the aid of crutches; in about three months after I began take it, I could walk as good as anybody, and went back to work again. JAMES WILKES Very truly,
