CHILD LABOR

Recommendations Not Thought Radical Enough.

Penitentiary Financial Exhibit Good. Governor's Coming Message. Summer Agricultural School. Money From Peabody Fund. State Charities.

RALPHIG, December 6.—There was ice this morning, but the roses continue to bloom; not, of course, so handsomely as they did a week ago.

The penitentiary directors are greatly pleased at the fine financial showing of their report for this year, which is in preparation, will show. They say that the profits of the year's work are large.

Application is made for a new lodge of Odd Fellows at Morgan Hill, Buncombe county.

Governor Aycock is at work collecting facts for his message to the legislature. He said today, "You know the fiscal year ends November 30. Well, it requires about a month for some of the departments, and institutions to get up their reports. The result is that I cannot get some reports before January 1. There are some 40 or 60 reports made, and as yet not half a dozen have come in. Of course it requires time for me to digest them. The result is I am greatly crowded in the few days in January before the legislature meets."

The legislative joint committee to investigate the books, etc., of the State Auditor and Treasurer will meet here next week for that purpose. Senator E. Y. Webb is the chairman of the committee.

A new headquarters flag for the Governor has been received from the war department. It is of blue silk, with the arms exquisitely embroidered.

The board of agriculture adjourned today. It has authorized President Winston of the Agricultural and Mechanical College to hold there during the vacation months next year a summer agricultural and nature study school for the benefit of public school teachers. The use of the dormitories will be free and the cost of living will be very small indeed. President Winston has for some months had this plan in view, and no doubt the school will be a great feature.

Today $1200 was received from the Peabody fund by State Superintendent Joyner. Of this $800 goes to the Normal and Industrial College for women, $300 to the negro normal school at Winston and $100 to the public schools.

A charter is granted the Ureka Trower Company of Lexington, capital $10,000, J. D. Grimes and others stockholders. A charter is also granted the Spray Woolen Mills, at Spray, Rockingham county, capital $105,000, with leave to increase to $200,000. Of the stock $50 $100 shares are prepared and 1600 of $50 each common. The preferred stock is to get an annual dividend of 12 per cent and when the earnings exceed this the excess is to be divided between the holders of the preferred and common stock. The company is authorized to manufacture wool, cotton, silk or other fabrics.

There is much public interest in the recommendations made as the labor of children in factories. It is felt that they are not radical recommendations that are conservative. Ten hours a day for children under 14; no night work for those under that age; that is no work before 5 p. m. and 6 a. m.; no employment of children under 12; no child under 14 to work unless it can read and write. This is a guard against ignorance. Then the recommendation that 11 hours be a day's work for an adult in a factory is felt to be a sound one. Such are the comments heard regarding the matter.

CUBAN TREATY READY

To Be Signed With United States Next Tuesday.

Special to Journal.

WASHINGTON, Dec 6.—President Palma of Cuba, sends word that the Cuban treaty with the United States will be signed next Tuesday.

That all impediments are removed. That the Cuban Senate is ready to ratify it. The new tariff bill between the countries will then be adopted.

The Next Attraction at the Opera House.

Manager Green received a telegram from Messrs. Cowan Bros., managers of the Wilmington theatre yesterday stating that the Great Marylone opened a three nights engagement at that city to the largest house of the season. It further stated that the show was excellent, and that it could not be boomed too much as it was the best attraction in Wilmington during the year.

The Company will play in New Bern for three nights commencing Monday, December 8th. It is an entirely different attraction than has ever before played here, and from reports from other cities where they have played, it is one of the strongest and best on the road. Embracing several well known and high salaried artists—all American and European novelties. The engagement here promises to be a big success financially, as well as artistically, as already there has been quite a demand for seats.

During the engagement popular prices will prevail, 10, 20, and 30c, and on Monday night only, ladies will be admitted free when accompanied with a paid $30c ticket.

Tickets will be on sale on Monday morning at 9 a. m. at the usual place, T. W. Waters, book store.
