Official Paper of New Bern and Craven County."

IS IT A CONFESSION OF MUNICI-PAL SLACKNESS?

In a JOURNAL editorial not many weeks ago, in the discussion of Municipal affairs, the idea was advanced that men seeking nomination and election for city offices, should publicly declare their personal platforms, so that there might be no misunderstanding before election, or if elected, what their official policies were, or would be. The result of this suggestion can be noted on another page of this paper, where the candidates have their cards announcing themselves for nomination at the approaching city primaries.

In reading over these cards of the candidates, the majority make declarations, which indicate that they feel and belive that the people of New Bern just Money..... now demand to know which they stand | Amr. Copper.... 67 for-good municipal government, or a Texas Pacific.... 37 nomination based upon political consid-

Another important thing to be noted in the candidates cards, is the promise to make better some present existing municipal conditions.

Here is a public declaration by men seeking office in the City of New Bern, that the present municipal conditions are not as they should be, in other words, that municipal reform is both needed and promised. This acknowledgement is the most hopeful sign for New Bern's future.

The JOURNAL might unavailingly point out municipal deficiencies, and tax payers might have their complaints pass unheeded, but when men seeking offices, themselves declare for reforms, there cannot fail to come good results to the community, its interests and the people's interests.

The disposition, locally, is for improve ment in development in every line of trade, including new industries.

This development cannot be successful without city officials who are in thorough accord with this sentiment, and more, will work for the accomplishment of Am. Ice. 72 this development and advancement.

In seeking men to fill the several municipal offices for New Bern, every voter, tax payer and citizen, should measure the candidates with the thought | Pac Mid 35 can these men fill the positions, ably, honestly, conservatively, so that every interest which means a better and cleaner municipality shall be advanced?

This may seem to some too high a standard to attempt, but let the people try to name and elect men who will strive to come up as far as possible to such a standard, so that New Bern can really go forward, to better things, as it can and should, and as most of its citizens hope ft will.

In the old days, when the supply of unatics exceeded their accomat Bethlehem hospital, the difficulty was not met by the building of tempo rary annexes, but by the admission of patients, who went by the name of Tom o' Bediams. As an old chronicle tells us: "They had on their left arm an armilla of tin about four inches long. They were about their necks a great horn of an ox in a string or bawdry, which when they came to ouse for alms they did wind, and they did put the drink given them into this ern, whereto they did put a stopple It was found, however, "that several yagrant persons do wander about the city of London and countries, pretending themselves to be lumatics under cure in the hospital of Bethlehem, with brass plates about their arms and in-scriptions thereon," and these occasion-al patients had in consequence to be abolished in 1875.—London Chronicle.

Vampire Superstitions.

The prevailing belief in Europea countries was that vampires were the chosts of suicides or others who had died violent deaths and were forced by the devil to leave their graves at pich and feed on the blood of men and wo men, and any who died at the hands o these dreadful creatures also became rampires. In this way beautiful women became vampires and enticed young men and fed on their blood and flesh It was believed that they had power to issume any shape or form desired be tween sunset and sunrise and that they committed most of their awful deeds at midnight. They were powerless in the daytime and were generally in a torpld state. Garlic and wild rosebushes were guards against them, and cruci fixes were feared by them. To preven suicides from becoming vampires they were buried with a stake driven through their bearts, and the straw they had slept on was burned. All the dogs and cats in the village were locked up, for if a dog or cat jumped over s corpse it was sure to become the home of a vampire,—Chicago Tribune.
