WHAT BIRDS TO KILL.

The new bird law, recently passed by the Legislature is important in many particulars, especially so to sportsmen and particularly so to boys who are in the habit of wantonly destroying birds and their eggs whenever they can.

This new bird law was secured by the incorporation of the Audubon Society, which was given power to provide for the preservation of the song and game birds of North Carolina.

The windom of the act which gave the ed by every one who has a love for birds and by all who know the value of many birds who destroy insects injurious and harmful to vegetation and crops.

Section four of this bird law is an im portant one, and should be carefully noted, it is as follows:

That from and after the passage of this act it shall be untawful for any person within the State of North Carolina to kill or catch any wild bird other than a game bird, or to purchase, offer or expose for sale, transport or sale without the State any such wild bird after it has been tilled or eaught except as permitthe State any such wild bird after it has been lillied or caught except as permit-ted by this act. For the purpose of this act the following only shall be consider-ed game birds: loons and grobes, swans, geese, brant, river, fish and see ducks, ralls, coots, marsh hess, and gallinuies, ployers, ahere and surf hirds, snipe, woodcock, sandpipers, yellow legs, chew-ink or towhee, and curiews; and the wild turkey, grouse, partridge, pheasant, quall, dove, robin and mession lark.

(a) It shall be unlawful for any person within the State of North Carolina to take or needlassly destroy the nests or within the State of North Carolina to take or needlessly destroy the nests or eggs of any wild non-rame birds except as permitted by this act.

(b) The English or European house sparrow, owls, hawks, crows, blackbirds jackdaws and rice-birds are not included among the birds protected by this act.

(c) Any purson violating any of the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall, apon conviction be fined one dellar for each egg, neet or birds thind or taken by him, or shall be imprisoned not less than five neet or our stilled of taken by him, or shall be imprisoned not less than five days and not more than thirty days for each offense. Provided, that the provisions of this section shall not apply to any person holding a certificate giving the right to take birds, their nests or eggs for scientific purposes as provided for in section 5 of this ect.

Duty of Grip Sufferers. It is now universally realized that grip is contagious. Many persons are still disposed to treat it lightly. Their becdlessness is liable to spread a maiady which too often develops into pneumonia, whose fatality this season is unprecedented. Grip sufferers should neither receive nor pay visits, and to whatever degree they are able to detach themselves from the rest of the community they should remain detached until their influenza symptoms have disappeared. Unfortunately, a large portion of the American people cannot follow such advice. Those who can are inexcusable for refusing to take it.-Chicago Chronicie.
